Donna (Younkin) Logan's Notebooks

In memory of Donna (Younkin) Logan
January 4, 2006

From the late 1980s until 1996, Donna (Younkin) Logan organized her research findings into three-ring binders devoted to many of the earliest Younkin pioneers of southwestern Pennsylvania: Henry, Jacob, Frederick, John, Herman as well as Rudolph of Ohio, and cousins in Northampton County, PA. After Donna's untimely death on January 4, 2006, Donna's sister Jean entrusted genealogist Mark A. Miner with Donna's three-ring binders. The expectation was that Younkin cousins would scan the binders in high resolution and share the binders electronically and widely.

Donna's sister Jean and her husband Jim Miller initially scanned the four volumes of Jacob Younkin books. From 2018 to 2020, many Younkin cousins helped with the scanning of thousands of pages in Donna's other three-ring binders. Linda Marker of Rockwood, PA placed the resulting folders of JPEG graphic image files in a OneDrive folder. She distributed links to the OneDrive folder online at the National Younkin Younken Youngkin Family Reunion page on Facebook.

In late 2024, Mark T. Youngkin combined hundreds of image files in each scanned book folder creating one PDF file for each of Donna's nine notebook binders or books. He added a cover page, links page, and index, if available, then compressed each PDF book file to a manageable size. He placed the nine reduced size PDF files in a OneDrive folder with the link to the folder distributed in a Facebook document and uploaded the PDF files to the Internet Archive.

These Younkin files were uploaded to Linda's one drive account, and will be available as long as the account is paid. This is a Microsoft account and will allow you to view, and download.

Remember, this is Donna's life work, her passion. Please respect that.

And, please remember the many hours of mind-numbing scanning went into the preservation of her work.

Jacob Younkin Books The Jacob files were lovingly scanned by Donna's sister Jean, and her husband, Jim Miller. There are four volumes, and 2 pages of explanations.

Dear Ken Sanner:

I had a marvelous time at the Hudson-Essex-Terraplane meeting in Reading. A marvelous time with my thesis professor (now retired) in Wilmington Delaware. A marvelous time looking at Rodman things in the Buck's County Court House (my mother's people). A big thrill to see "Old Bensalem" the methodist church for which my great great grandfather has given the land. And another wonderful time around Somerset County with your help.

I guess the real reason you were able to help me so fast, is that you had already done a lot of your own genealogy, you know every public and private cemetery in Somerset County, and you as well as are are descended from the Junghen's (Younkin's).

Again, thanks very much. Now when you come to the Chicago area I will be your host. I don't have a fancy place nor a housekeeper, but do have room for one guest, and am always good for a few free meals and a good drink. (I don't go to bars or with the country club set.)

The two pictures of the moo cows and ~~Sarah Younken King's~~ tombstone turned out real well. Thank you again for making this picture possible. Now I am ready to write a brief dissertation on "Mandy King Rodman", my grandmother, and her mother, Sarah Younken.

I loved the old barn. What can I do to get you to take a good picture of it? I will need a total of 5 pictures of the barn. Recall the afternoon sun when we were there - it is possible to get a good picture thru that door, showing the hewn timbers up above. Can you manage that? I will pay for your film and the developing and postage etc.

Am I correct in thinking that this barn was built around 1800, and belonged to Frederick Younkin Sr., my great great grandfather?

I got no help at Somerset County Historical Society. I saw a will at the Court House (4/28/1862) of ~~Thomas R. King~~, but ~~his children are not the right ones~~; ~~Tom King's children included Amanda Jane, Susan, Calista, also, etc.~~

My grandmother Rodman would be muttering to herself and my father said he would say "Who you talkin' to, Gram'ma?" and she would reply "Mandy King".

My ~~great grandfather Thomas King (mentioned several times in Fred Younken S~~ ~~ll) was first married to Rebecca somebody, and it is said here that~~ they both came from Philadelphia. They had a daughter ~~Susan~~ (and others) who married ~~Dr. Elden~~ of Somerset, and they came to Fisher Illinois to practice medicine. Uncle Doc went to Civil War from Illinois. I have his dress sword (the point end mostly is broken off). I did have his gun in my brother-in-law's game room, but they were robbed in '74 and there wen Uncle Doc Elder's gun. A Charles Elder is listed on your Somerset monument as having died in civil war "from disease".

~~Tom King's second wife was Sarah Younkin. She died when Mandy King was 17. Tom King made Amanda work in the field with the men. You said that was quite common. But then Missour Missoura came along (the third wife) and life was rugged. At age 20 in 1860, Mandy King and brother Alec took off for Sister Susan's in Illinois. I have her camel back trunk and a poplar chest from the 1860 trip. Alec's son Will King went back to Somerset or Kingwood, that's how my mother acquired the bleeding heart glass pitcher which I have on display, it belonged to Sarah Younken who died in 1854. When I went to Kansas in June, Cousin Ethel ~~Willis~~ (Alec's granddaughter) gave me the glass bleeding heart goblet to match, the only one left.~~

The 1908 McLean County Illinois history says of Mandy King Rodman, ^{Kingwood} that when she was a girl, the "famous jurist Judge Black" came along, and s^{he} prepared him a meal, for which he paid her; "the first money she ever made" I learned later that "the famous jurist Judge Black" became United States Attorney General. On my Disciples of Christ church magazine of June '76, I learned that the guy who started my church (Alexander Campbell) wanted to preach in the nation's capitol on one of his travels. He became friendly with United States Attorney General Judge Black, who arranged for him to speak at the capitol bldg.; but Congress was a lawless bunch, and but a few came.

My mother said that Mandy King would never talk about Pennsylvania much, that is why we know so little about Mandy King Rodman and the Younken's.

According to the administrator's report, my great grandfather Tom King repaid the estate about $600 he had borrowed from my great great grandfather, Fred. Younken Sr. AT THE SALE, Tom bought a pair of shoes for 62¢, first choice at a hog for $2.38, and a beef cow for $9.30; whereas, Sarah's kid brother Fred. Jr. bought 4th choice at a hog for 87¢. In the will, advancements had been made to most of the children, so Sarah Younkin was to receive $306.32¢. By the way, what are you paying for pork chops nowadays?????

Guess I have written too much. I surely enjoyed my trip, and the relatives are thrilled to hear me talk about it.

Thank you again for your help. Think you can get me pictures of the barn from the outside, as well as inside showing the rafters? I will repay.

Your house is very neat and you have a dandy setup with a good house-keeper. I was lucky too, in being able to rent my house to this school teacher who wanted to quit teaching. She lets me have the run of the joint, and most of the furniture is mine.

When I got home, I spent 2 days in garden getting ready for Carlock family reunion at my house. Got a snoot full of pollen or something and it went into my chest. I was miserable for over a week. Worst sinus attack I have ever had.

Best wishes to you, and thanks again.

Sincerely,
Don Carlock

Frederick Younkin, third son of Henry and Catherine Younkin, was born in Bucks County, Pa., in 1763. He first married Barbara Deiter, perhaps 3 or 4 children were born to them. Barbara died a few years after marriage, after his wife's death presumably about 1785, 1790, he came to Somerset County, he again married. ~~He was married the second time,~~ before or after coming to Somerset County, at least on account to his first marriage. Remained in Bucks County possibly being taken care of by his grandmother. A record of his accidental death is recorded in Bucks County Intelligencer, Nov. 6, 1838. Several children were born to wife of second marriage, will only mention one, Frederick F. Younkin, who was born in Somerset County, Pa., in 1801. Fred F. married and went West, four children were born to first marriage. He having gone West, his wife having died a few years later, after her death, he came back to Somerset County, where he again married, several children were born, all being dead, except Henry Younkin, who was born in 1853. He being 85 years of age, living near Rockwood, Pa.

DAVID CREMER
ELIZABETH YOUNG

RS. REBECCA J. CREMER, who is located on a fine farm in Washington township, Wapello county, Iowa, was born in Pennsylvania in 1842, and is a daughter of D. P. Cremer.

D. P. Cremer was born in Pennsylvania, where he lived until 1844. During his early life he was a blacksmith by trade, and later a farmer. He came to Wapello county, Iowa, with his family in 1844, and located in Washington township, where he died at the age of seventy-seven years. He was a Republican in politics, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He was first married to Elizabeth Yonkin, who was born in Pennsylvania, and died in 1845, at the age of twenty-six years. They were the parents of four children: Adela, deceased; Theodore, who died while serving in the army, as a member of Company I, 1st Reg., Iowa Vol. Cav.; Rebecca J.; and Eglinton. Mr. Cremer's second wife was Nancy McClara (deceased), by whom he had one child, Elizabeth. By his third marriage he had two children,—Lincoln R.; and J. Harry, of Eldon.

Rebecca J. Cremer has lived in Wapello county, Iowa, since 1844. On November 20, 1865, she was united in marriage with Richard Cremer, who was born in Cook county, Illinois, January 11, 1840. He was brought to Wapello county by his parents in 1840, and located in Washington township. He was a farmer by occupation, and was very successful. He served three years in Company M, 3rd Reg., Iowa Vol. Cav., during the Civil War, and was discharged at Davenport, Iowa. He returned to Washington township after the war and located on the farm now owned by Mrs. Cremer, where he resided until his death, in 1881. He was a Republican, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He and his wife reared four children, as follows: Charles A., who lives at home; Leonora, who married George W. Warren, a farmer of Washington township, and has three children,—David, Harold and Raymond; Blanche, who married W. Morrison; and Ethel, who married a Mr. Monroe, and lives in Washington township. Mrs. Cremer owns 200 acres of excellent farming land, and has met with much success in conducting it. Religiously, she is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Dear Donna:

Here is the laser copy of my photo of Moses & Frances Turner YOUNKIN and some of their children. Moses & Frances were my maternal great grandparents.

My maternal grandmother was Anna Jane (Younkin) BEEMAN (Mrs. Andrew Vivian Beeman).

I know my I.D. does not agree with Lonetta Adams Kelldorf's I.D. The man, 2d from right, agrees with my personal knowledge as Albert Tell YOUNKIN. The 3rd man from left may be in dispute - supposedly it's Charles W. Younkin. I can try to locate an old photo of John W. Younkin through his descendants but supposedly he drowned

However ^{many} people said they saw him after he supposedly died while on a boat voyage to France, or?.. He left a wife, & small daughter, who was partially raised by my grandmother & her sister, Anna Gene (Yunkin) Bernan. "Carrie" (Yunkin) Harris.

Can you return this ^{laser} photo copy when done. I'll mail you a check in a few days.

^{this weekend}
Lamel & I are going to Grover City (Pismo Beach area) CA to sarney area for a possible job relocation for her & new home for me
& 3 adults. (Hal is 65; I'm 60; Lamels 32)

Nice talking with you recently.

Lost trace of this John; W. probably for Wesley?; known to have married and had a child named Inez Tinsley. Inez grew up thinking her father died on a trip to France in which the ship sank but after growing up she learned that many people claimed to have seen her father in MO and other places in IA. It may well have been a case of desertion. Note that Lafayette, his brother, also left his wife with two small children while he wandered around Alaska for a couple of years.

Lost Trace of this John; W. probably for Wesley?; known to have married and had a child named Inez Tinsley. Inez grew up thinking her father died on a trip to France in which the ship sank but after growing up she learned that many people claimed to have seen her father in MO and other places in IA. It may well have been a case of desertion. Note that Lafayette, his brother, also left his wife with two small children while he wandered around Alaska for a couple of years.

Dear Anna,

My name is Mary Dixon.
I live in Oskaloosa, Iowa. My Aunt is working on our family tree.
We are trying to learn about a Alva L. Yountkin, born March 25, 1875. His girls names are Fay, Inez, Marie. He would be a half-brother to my maternal grandfather Amos Brooks. Any info you could give us such as births, marriage and obits.
There is a Yountkin that lives in Oskaloosa. She gave me your name. If you could please

With any information. It would be greatly appreciated.
I would be happy to send it on to my aunt. Any

DECATUR COUNTY

By SADA FORBES STOUT

ON June 12, 1838, President Martin Van Buren signed a congressional act establishing the Territory of Iowa, effective July 4, 1838, just 35 years after this land had been acquired by the Louisiana Purchase. Decatur County, one of southern Iowa's banner counties, was created a county by an act of the legislature and approved on January 13, 1846. It was organized as a county April 1, 1850. The first meeting of the board of supervisors was May 16 of the same year, the board being composed of Asa Burrell, Josiah Morgan, and William Hamilton, Henry B. Noston was the clerk.

Two months after this meeting the commissioners met again and divided the county into four townships, Burrell, Morgan, Hamilton and Garden Grove. Decatur County is in the southern tier of counties of Iowa, and nearly midway between the Mississippi and the Missouri Rivers, there are five counties to the east and four to the west. The whole area contains 329,986 acres and the assessed valuation of property in the county in 1939 is $13,756,545.00.

Earliest settlements were made in the southern part of the county between the years 1838 and 1840. Allen Scott was supposed to be the first white settler in the county and came as a government Indian paymaster. The settlements were miles apart and social intercourse was difficult. Log rollings, husking bees, barbecues, cabin buildings and other entertainments significant to the pioneers supplied the only opportunities for the people to congregate together. So the pioneer lived alone with his family in the silent and mighty forest and on the monotonous level of the prairie, sallying out before the dawn to shoot the game for the day's food or to cast a line in the nearby stream. The clothes were manufactured by the good housewife who sat for days before the loom and spinning wheel, patiently working; linsey-woolsey and homespun, adorned with the skins of wild animals, were the popular fabrics. Wild fruit grew on the prairie and in the timbers in abundance. Plums clustered thickly on the banks of creeks and were gathered in ample harvest nearly every year. Small wild grapes cluttered the brush and thickets with their fruit-darkened vines. The hills and bottoms were run over with gooseberries, blackberries, raspberries, and dewberries. The wild crab, which is a sour and bitter was cooked and seasoned in such a way by the pioneer housewives that it made a tasty dish.

No pastures were fenced during the first years of settlement. Cattle, sheep, horses and hogs grazed out on the prairie. Frequently livestock strayed away and could not be found for several days. Most of the farmers had only a few acres fenced the first year they were here. Fences were made of rails and stakes, and were called stake-and-rider fences. Rails ten feet long and stakes eight feet long were used. Four panels were required a fence a rod. Each panel required eight rails and four stakes.

Before the settlement of the boundary question, several slaves were held in the southern part of the county. Accordingly we read of the slaves who were kept and late of being granted their freedom. Among the early records we find:

"I, John McDaniel, of the County of Decatur, and State of Iowa, do hereby release, give up, and set at liberty a free man, George, a black, a colored man, who has resided in my family from boyhood. Said man is about forty-five years old at this time, about five feet, eleven inches high. Witness my hand and seal this 25th day of February, A. D., 1852. "John McDaniel." (L. S.)

LaVerne Younkin

LaVerne M. Younkin, 84, of Bloomfield died May 23, 1993, at his home. He was born July 20, 1908, in Davis County to Ernest and Stella Monroe Younkin.

He married Jennie C. Day on April 22, 1931, in Bloomfield. He was a resident of Davis and Wapello counties his lifetime. He graduated from Bloomfield High School in 1928. He was a member of the Bloomfield United Methodist Church. He owned a feed and produce business in south Ottumwa for several years, was a federal meat inspector at Morrell's during World War II and managed the Farson Elevator before returning to the family farm from which he retired and moved to Bloomfield in 1981.

He was preceded in death by his parents, one son, Roger, who died October 30, 1992, one granddaughter and two great-granddaughters.

Survivors include his wife; one daughter, Sandra Lanman of Batavia; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Wagler Funeral Home conducted by the Revs. Jon and Leila Disburg. Burial will be in the IOOF Cemetery. Visitation is open at the Wagler Funeral Home.

A memorial has been established to the Bloomfield United Methodist Church.

Main Street Faces 'Economic Triage'

Dying Rural Towns Resist Regionalization

By Barbara Vucelja
Washington Post Staff Writer

HEDRICK, Iowa—From a distance, this tiny town seems to dissolve into the countryside, only the two-story, red brick school building rises above a vast landscape of soil and stalks. The century-old school is one of a handful of institutions—the bank, the grocery, the coffee shop—that define and bind the community.

The residents of Hedrick were devastated last fall when the state ordered the town to close its only school and send its children to a neighboring district. After years of watching much of their Main Street shut down, they say that the school closing could finally unravel the town, accelerating its decline and leaving more than a collection of houses.

"In a town like ours, your school binds your community together," said Bill Madley, who is mayor of Hedrick, population 810. "When you lose the school, you lose social contacts you'll never regain."

Like other rural towns with falling populations, Hedrick has vowed to fight to save what remains of its three-block Main Street. But some demographic experts argue that towns like Hedrick should abandon such battles, not only because they probably will lose but because in the process they could hasten the decline of neighboring rural towns as well.

New figures from the 1990 census show that losses in this part of the Great Plains have been among the highest in the country. Those statistics give urgency to the arguments of many economists and government planners who contend that small towns, instead of struggling to remain self-sufficient and competing with neighboring villages for new business, must adopt a more regional identity.

Such towns are being advised to let go of some of their venerable institutions and tie their fate to that of their neighbors—merging schools, sharing health services, utilities and libraries and promoting themselves as multi-town communities. Survival, they are being told by planning experts, requires a kind of "economic triage"—the targeting of limited government resources in a way that allows some communities to survive while others are left to decline or die.

"It's logical," said Harley Johansen, chairman of the geography department at the University of Idaho. "We have too many small towns for today's rural economy. They simply can't all survive."

This kind of talk does not sit well with the residents of Hedrick, who feel they are losing control of their future to powerful, outside forces. They resist the notion that their best hope is to become a satellite of some brighter star, or that outside agents should determine where to bestow the benefits of centralized facilities.

"All this regionalization we're talking about," said Hedrick school Superintendent Roger Younkin, "they're going to resist it every step of the way. It's community pride."

Remembering Old Downtown

Hedrick, like hundreds of other farm villages in the Corn Belt and Great Plains, was established a century ago on a railroad site. People here remember when the now-diminutive downtown—with several bars and restaurants, grocery and drug stores, a doctor and two banks—was a vibrant social scene.

"Friday and Saturday nights, it was like Christmas at K mart," said Lee Spores, who runs the only grocery left in town.

But this cherished image of rural America is disappearing. All around Hedrick are small towns with boarded storefronts in the shadow of abandoned, ghostly grain elevators, villages with no more commercial life than a convenience store on a nearby highway.

Such scenes are the result of a massive population movement out of the vast central reaches of the country. Rural and small-town counties in the central Corn Belt lost nearly 7 percent of their population over the past decade, according to the 1990 census.

Among Iowa towns with populations of less than 500, 88 percent declined over the past decade, according to Agriculture Department demographer Calvin Beale. Keokuk County, where Hedrick is located, lost more than 2,300 people since 1970, nearly 17 percent of its population at a time when the nation as a whole has grown by 23 percent.

Most of this decline is caused by the departure of young people, heading out of state in search of better economic opportunity. But other factors have also hurt.

The severely weakened farm economy of the early 1980s reverberated through these small towns, where businesses exist primarily to serve the farmer. Over the past decade, farm consolidations became widespread, many rural manufacturing plants closed and young people increasingly drove long distances rather than patronize the local businesses.

Now, said Mosbey, who has been mayor for 10 years, "the thing to do on a weekend is jump in your car and go to Des Moines to the mall."

The fundamental changes brought by the last few decades crystallized in the school closing, an event that, although discussed for years, hit with unexpected emotion. In ordering the closing, state officials contended that the school failed to meet standards in the number and variety of courses it offered, among other things.

Many of those involved agree that the problems were largely a result of declining population. School officials said that, with only 200 students in kindergarten through senior high, it was impossible to offer and fill a full slate of courses, including advanced science and mathematics. Of 18 seniors, for instance, all but six opted for early graduation in December.

In the fall, Hedrick's students will attend the Pekin school, about eight miles to the east, where the combined new enrollment drawn from several neighboring towns will reach about 800.

While many in town can accept in principle the wisdom of merging schools, there is still a strong sense that, for Hedrick, the loss of the school will be painful, economically and psychologically. Some worry that the lack of children and parents coming through town every weekday could push other businesses over the threshold.

No longer will there be a rush of children into Spore's market every afternoon for candy and soda pop. And 40 school employees must now look for work elsewhere, exacerbating the population loss.

"It will hurt, you know it will," said Majorie Rouw, a resident of the town for 25 years, as she trimmed meat behind the grocery store counter.

Beyond the economic impact, the school closing has dealt a blow to the town's sense of confidence and character. The football program was abandoned two years ago, a victim of falling enrollment, but the boys' basketball team was still the pride of the community. Hundreds turned out for the team's last game a few weeks ago. The order to send the schoolchildren to the Pekin district, a traditional rival in school sports, left a bitter taste.

'We Need Each Other'

Such resistance is not unexpected, but those who promote regional solutions are convinced that small towns have no real alternatives.

"You have to break down those old feelings of sports competition," said Debra Flanders, coordinator of a nonprofit economic development group in the county. "We're all in the same boat. We need each other for all of us to survive."

Flanders' group is promoting a regional water system to replace the individual town wells and trying to attract a business to a vacant industrial park in Sigourney, the county seat, in hopes it would employ people from small towns in the county.

Across Iowa, as many as 90 regional organizations have sprung up in recent years—last-ditch efforts to promote business, tourism and shared services. And one-quarter of the state's 430 school districts have entered arrangements in which they merge schools or share programs, teachers or administrators.

But academics say such consolidation efforts often are not enough and governments must make painful choices about which towns to help and which to ignore. These choices, known in the academic world as triage, are already practiced—implicitly or explicitly—when housing grants, highway funds and economic development aid are directed to communities judged to be viable. They are "not about turning your back, but making investments in places where investments will work and multiply," said Mark Lapping, dean of the faculty of planning at Rutgers University.

The residents of Hedrick say they recognize that some fundamental changes are inevitable. When patrons of The Country Barn gather for coffee each afternoon—men sitting at one table, women at another—it is all too apparent that there are few young people in town.

Hedrick long ago gave up its street cleaner and marshal for lack of funds and now relies on a county sheriff. Mayor Mosbey estimates that as much as 70 percent of the town commutes to factory jobs in nearby cities.

Some here point with half-hearted optimism to a new cafe scheduled to open on Main Street any day. And everyone agrees that Hedrick has a well-organized core of town leaders, determined to force life back into the community.

But the leadership is aging and few in the next generation are available to take up the fight, acknowledged Mosbey, 59. The town cannot compete, he said, with the economic forces pushing young people to move elsewhere for work.

"I can't see any future here for them," said Mosbey, who moved to Hedrick 19 years ago from a nearby town. "I hate to say that, but I don't see what would hold them."

He doubted that either of his two grandchildren, age 9 and 11, will ultimately live in the town he has fought so hard to save.

Automobile Found Overturned at Kimball Corner Near Ansley Late Tuesday

WAS NO EYE WITNESS

Those Who Witnessed Scene, However, Hold Theory That Sharpness of Turn Was Underestimated—Medical Aid at Once Summoned.

Ansley, Neb., Oct. 18.—Special Dispatch.—Edward F. Younklin, 41, former Grand Island business man and resident and for the past three years, manager of the Hastings Produce company at Loup City, died here about 6 p.m., Tuesday, of injuries received in an automobile accident, three miles west of here.

Mr. Younklin had been found by Mr. Kimball about an hour previously, the right roadside in the ditch and resting on its top and Mr. Younklin beside it, his body badly crushed.

The unconscious produce man was carried into the house and medical aid summoned. He was taken to a hospital in an ambulance, but life became extinct soon after Dr. Amice, of Loup City, arrived, and before he could do anything. Mrs. Younklin came to the scene with the doctor and was at the bedside of her husband when he died.

Just what happened will probably never be known. The road is known as the Polack highway and at the place the car was found there is a sharp turn, while the south side of the road is heavily shaded with a grove of trees. By those who witnessed the scene after the accident, it is presumed that Mr. Younklin attempted to take the corner at too fast a rate of speed and that his car took the ditch. No eyewitness of the accident is known.

Mr. Kimball's attention was first attracted when he saw a car wheel protruding from the ditch. He investigated and found the car and Mr. Younklin. How long Mr. Younklin had been there is not known, but it is probable he had not been there long as the highway is quite extensively traveled.

Edward F. Younklin was born in Davis county, Iowa, December 30, 1888, and was one of twelve children born to Moses and Fannie Younklin. He attended country schools and assisted his father on the farm until he was twenty-one years of age. He then went to Kansas and shortly after became interested in the produce business as a buyer and shipper of poultry. He worked for several firms in this line for five or six years.

Realizing the possibilities in this business he went into the work for himself and from 1901 to 1903 was a transient shipper and buyer of carload lots throughout the states of Kansas and Nebraska. He came to Grand Island in 1903 and decided to make it his home. By 1904 he had built up a general produce plant, operating it as a wholesale firm.

He was married to Miss Gertrude Crawford, daughter of G. H. Crawford, in 1905, and to this union was born two children, a son, Thiel, and a daughter, Eoythe. He was a prominent citizen of Grand Island, affiliated with several organizations and took an active part in many enterprises of a civic nature.

EDWARD FRANCIS YOUNKIN.—The wholesale produce business is an essential part of a modern commercial life. To conduct it profitably, aside from the heavy initial investment, a dealer must possess a large amount of business wisdom, including a knowledge of the fluctuating markets of the world. An extensive enterprise of this kind is carried on in Grand Island by Edward F. Younkin, who is a heavy buyer of general produce which he ships both east and west. Like many another successful business man of today, Mr. Younkin has been the unassisted builder of his own fortune.

Edward F. Younkin was born in Davis County, Iowa, December 20, 1868. His parents were Moses and Fannie (Turner) Younkin, natives of the Keystone state, who in their youth came to Iowa where they met and were married. They had twelve children; three of the six survivors live in Grand Island; Edward F., William S. and Albert T. The parents were members of the Methodist Episcopal church. The father belonged to the Masonic fraternity and was a Republican in politics. He died on his farm in Iowa.

The country schools of Davis County, Iowa, provided Mr. Younkin with a fair working education, and he remained on the home farm until he was twenty-one years of age, when he went to Kansas and there became interested as buyer and shipper of poultry, working in this industry for different firms for five or six years. Realizing the profits to be made in this line, about 1901 Mr. Younkin embarked in the business for himself but prior to 1903 was a transient buyer of car load lots throughout Nebraska and Kansas. When Mr. Younkin came here in 1903, he determined to make this city his headquarters because of the excellent shipping facilities afforded. In 1904 he embarked in a general produce business as a wholesale operator. Since then he has built up an immense concern, regularly shipping car load lots to New York City and to San Francisco. As his interests expanded Mr. Younkin needed assistance and now has his two brothers associated with him in the wholesale house. They both live in Grand Island.

Mr. Younkin married in 1903, Miss Gertrude Crawford of Grand Island, a daughter of G. S. Crawford, one of the older residents of this city, who conducted a meat business here for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Younkin have two children: Edyth and Thael, both of whom attend the public schools. Mr. Younkin is a Republican in politics but has always found his business too engrossing to permit acceptance of any public responsibility beyond that carried by every loyal and public spirited citizen. He belongs to the order of Elks and to the Liederkreis, in Grand Island.

HOWARD AND HILDRED GILTNER FARM

Howard and Hildred Giltner in 1968

Howard A. Giltner & Hildred Warder Giltner were married October 19, 1929. Hildred was one of nine surviving children of Allen Dugan Warder and Adella Carson Warder living in the Bladensburg community. Sisters were Mabel, Ethel, Avis, Goldie and Gladys. Brothers were Claude, Rex and Allen. Howard was a son of George Robert Giltner, a grandson of William Alexander Giltner and a great-grandson of William Giltner, an early pioneer in Wapello County when it was opened for legal settlement in 1843.

William and wife Betsy settled an area with good farm land for living and timber for building material. Planning for the future made them realize a need for lodging and boarding people and livestock as they traveled the "Angling Road," a meandering trail from Keokuk to Des Moines. This place for overnight food and shelter came to be known as the "Hoosier House."

Howard and Hildred Giltner started farming approximately three-fourths of a mile south of the "Hoosier House." This century farm site had been chosen by Howard's maternal great-grandmother, Susan Murphy Reeve, who with her family left their home in Ohio and traveled by boat to Keokuk, Iowa. From Keokuk, Susan and daughter Minerva, with horse and buggy and side saddle for special needs, followed the "Angling Road" to a point two and one-half miles north and west of Agency, now section 23, Agency Township, where by inquiry of neighbors, found a satisfactory site available for settlement. Susan was later joined by her husband and older children, bringing the livestock and household provisions.

A log cabin was built on the farm site, followed by a one room brick house with walls of double thickness. Susan practiced mid-wife services and many related pioneer needs. Minerva Reeve married James Howard Jay. They raised three children of their own (Arthur, Josie and Anna) and provided a home for other children. They also provided room and board for construction workers of the "Chicago, Fort Madison and Des Moines Railroad," which passed through their farm, but operated only a few years after completion.

The one room home, with fireplace, now serves as a kitchen, after more rooms were added to make a six room brick home.

This farm has passed from Susan and William Reeve to J.H. Jay and wife Minerva, to Anna and Josie Jay Giltner to Howard and Hildred Warder Giltner, to their sons, Howard Jo and George Dugan Giltner. This registered Century Farm has been in the family for five generations.

George D. Giltner.

Howard Jo Giltner.

Howard and Hildred spent their farming years with routine farm habits and following the love of Howard's instincts devoted much time to dealing in livestock. They retired to Ottumwa in 1957 due to health problems. Howard died in 1972 and Hildred in 1984.

Jo is married to Maxine Proctor Giltner and lives on the above mentioned farm. George is married to Marjorie McDowell Giltner.

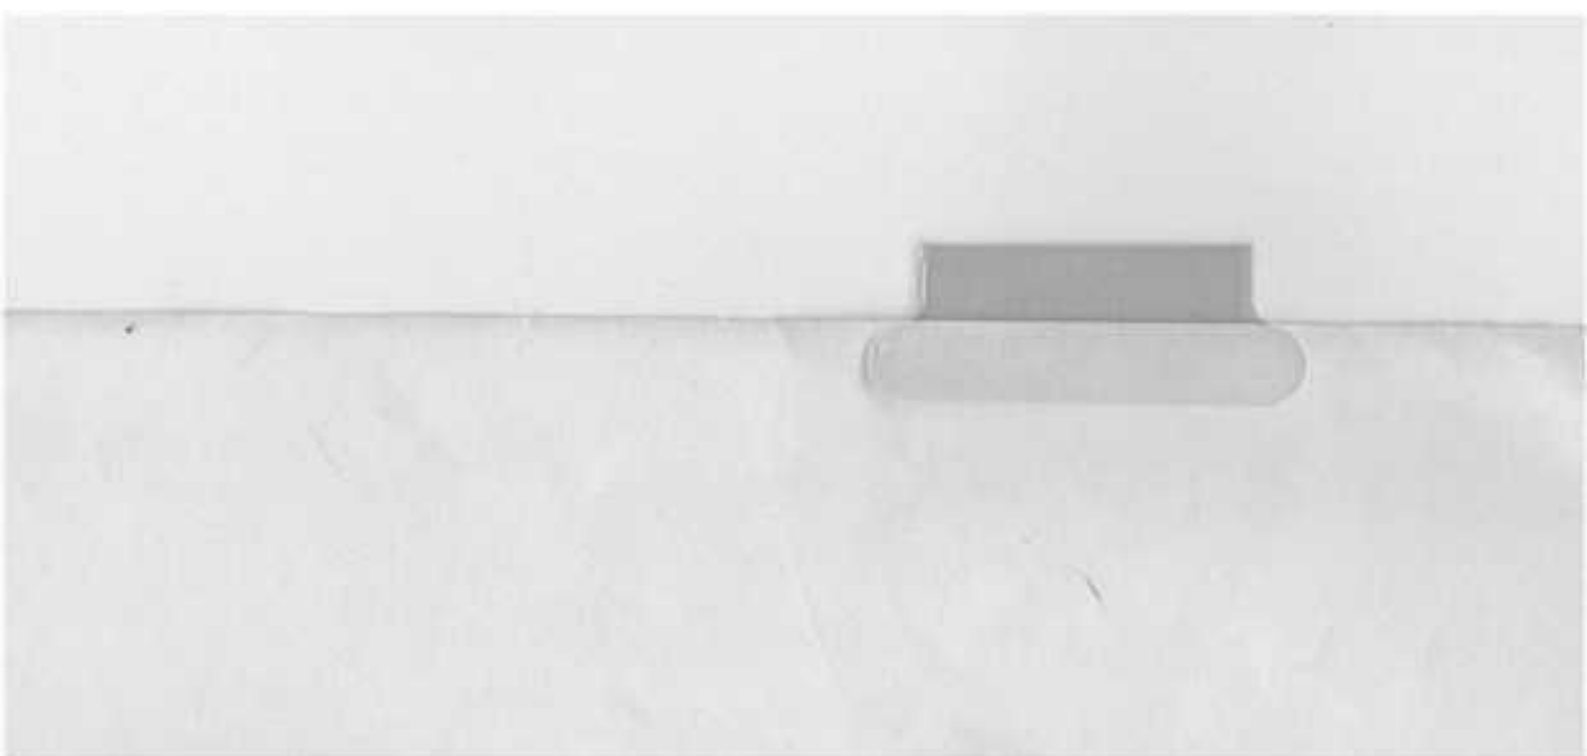

Settling the early Reeve farmstead was told to me with repeated regularity by my grandmother, Josie Jay Giltner, and more recently as family record, by my mother, Hildred Giltner.

Aged Resident Gone

Elizabeth Johnson Younklin died at the home of Mrs. Jane Ballew, southwest of Goshen, Dec. 9, 1915. Funeral services conducted by E. T. Cornelius, pastor of the Princeton Christian church on Saturday, Dec. 11, at the Goshen church, after which she was laid to rest in the nearby cemetery.

She was born in the state of Indiana, Dec. 4, 1835. Her mother died when she was but eleven years of age and she with her father cared for the family of nine children.

She was married to A. E. Younklin Dec. 14, 1856 near Ottumwa, Wapello County, Iowa. To this union nine children were born, of which three are still living. They are three oldest ones are living. They are Isaac, John and Mrs. Jane Ballew all of Mercer County, Missouri.

She is survived by the aged husband, one sister, Mrs. Rebecca Man- nough of Modera, three children, five grand children, six great grand children and three foster children, four of the grand children with two little friends were pallbearers. At the age of 80 years and 5 days as she lay shrouded in white, we think of the pure and sweet life she lived in our midst, leaving a character that will endure and is a heritage to her children and friends far more precious than silver or gold.

The community at large extends sympathy to the bereaved ones, and may the daughter, son and the orphan boy whom she loved so well be spared with health and strength to care for the aged father, whose days are few and whose life's work comes to a close will be ready and willing to go to a better and higher home not built by hands.

Death of Nellie Yonkers

Nellie M. Yonkers, daughter of Isaac and Florence Yonkers, was born December 30, 1895, and departed this life April 23, 1913, at the family residence 2 miles northwest of Modena, age 17 years, 3 months and 23 days.

Having been sick the greater part of her life she bore her sufferings patiently and comforted her father, who was stricken blind. She would set by his side and read to him in his dark hours, but all that loving hands and medical aid could do, they could not ward off the awful hand of death. Though cut down in the prime of life she has left the earthly home to dwell in the great beyond.

Those who mourn her death are the father, mother, one brother Roy, two sisters, Oelo and Mrs. Della Reeves, her aged grandparents, Alon Yonkers and wife, and David Thompson and wife, with many relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held at the Goeben Christian church, conducted by Rev. Padgett, of Spickard, on April 24th. Interment was made in the nearby cemetery. Six of her girl friends were pall bearers. As the casket was being lowered the choir sang "Somewhere the Sun is Shining."

Sleep sweetly Nellie this is not death, your toils are past, 'tis but a rest from earthly scenes, 'tho to us 'tis brings sorrow and a lonely home. May the family live to meet in heaven to unto the broken heart that has been severed on earth.

Obituary—Isaac Yonkin.

Isaac Yonkin was born in Waspolo county, Iowa, April 28, 1860; died March 13, 1916, at the age of 55 years 10 months and 14 days. Funeral services were conducted at the Goeben church, March 14, by Elder E. T. Cepheid. Interment was in the cemetery here.

He was a son of Alexander and Elizabeth Yonkin, and when seven years old moved with his parents to Mercer county. In the spring of 1885 he moved to Trege County, Kansas, staying there until the fall of 1888, when he came to seek here, and has since been a resident of this county.

He was married to Florence M. Thompson, Feb. 4, 1883. To this union four children were born—one son and three daughters. He is survived by the wife and three children—Wm. Ray, Della M. Reese and Osa Ellabell Yonkin—and four grandchildren. He also leaves an aged father, one sister—Mrs. Jane Baller—and one brother—John Yonkin, and a host of friends.

When a young man, he was converted and united with the Methodist church. Later he went into the Christian church, of which he was a member at the time of his death. He was also a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge of Modena.

A few years ago he lost his eyesight and since that time he sat in total darkness, but he was a patient sufferer. He kept his mind until the last and was ready when the master's call came. "All is right," he said, "leave me fear, follow in Father's footsteps."

Jacob J. Rush.

Jacob J. Rush, aged 81 years, 6 months and 25 days, died at his home in Ursina on Wednesday morning, October 25, after an illness of over a year's duration, from cancer. He had been taking treatment from a specialist at Pittsburg until about two months ago when the disease became so advanced that he was unable to leave his home and he kept getting worse until the end came.

Jacob J. Rush was born in Lower Turkeyfoot Township, March 30, 1841. He was a son of Jehn Rush, a direct descendant of William Rush, who emigrated from New Jersey in 1773 and settled in the vicinity of what is now known as the Jersey church. One of William Rush's sons, Jacob, was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and a number of his descendants took part in the Civil War.

Jacob J. Rush lived in Lower Turkeyfoot Township on the Rush farm until June, 1863, when President Lincoln issued a call for volunteers, when he enlisted in an independent organization of Somerset County soldiers, who were mustered in at New Centerville. This company was known as Capt. William M. Schrock's company.

On June 12, 1859, he married Miss Sarah Dull. On June 12, 1909, they celebrated their golden wedding and on November 5, 1909, Mrs. Rush preceded him to the grave. To their marriage were born 13 children of whom two died in infancy, and two sons, Harvey and Grant Rush, were killed on the D. & O. railroad where they were employed as trainmen. The surviving children are Mrs. Emma Younkin, Mrs. Leroy Farquer, L. Scott Rush, Ursina; Logan Rush, Connellsville; Mrs. S. J. Knos, Jersey Church; Mrs. Linus R. C. Kutz, Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. H. L. Sellers and Mrs. F. M. Parnell, Confluence, and Mrs. Benton Crow, Uniontown. Besides these nine children, there are 12 grandchildren, 27 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild, the latter being a son of Robert Swan of Connellsville. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Isaac Mitchell of Ohio.

In 1903 he married Mrs. Jennie Harshman of Connellsville, who survives him.

After the close of the Civil War Mr. Rush returned to Lower Turkeyfoot Township, where he followed the occupation of farmer for a number of years, when he received the appointment of gauger in the United States Internal Revenue Service and moved to Rockwood where he remained for ten years, until he severed his connection with the government service, and moved to Ursina where he resided for the last 30 years, having built a fine home in which he died.

He was for many years a member of the Church of God and a sincere Christian. He was a devoted husband and father, honest and reliable in all his dealings, a good neighbor,

A jolly party from here serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conn at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. David Hyatt. After several pieces of music were rendered the bride and groom put in their appearance, and after promising to set them up, the merry makers departed. They met again on Thursday evening and enjoyed the set up. We wish the young couple a happy voyage through life. John and Geo seem to enjoy the company of young ladies, and we don't blame them. Don't get discouraged, boys, but persevere onward to the mark of your high calling, which is here and there and somewhere else.

FREDERICK F - SARAH

Grandfather F. F. Younkin Of The Year 1825

Father Of Michael Younkin, Born In Somerset Co.

LETTER BY F. F. YOUNKIN

February 17, 1932.

J. H. Younkin,
R. D. No. 2, Box 49,
Carbondale, Ill.

My dear Mr. Younkin:

I have yours of the 15th, and in reply will say that my father was born near Kingwood, Somerset County, Pennsylvania, along about 1825, and my grandfather was Frederick F. Younkin, who lived and died at the birthplace of my father, Michael Younkin. Somerset County is the next county to the east of Fayette County, in which the City of Connellsville is located.

When my father was, say eight or ten years old, grandfather, Frederick F. Younkin, aforesaid, took him to Terre Haute, Indiana, and upon the death of my grandmother, grandfather moved back to Pennsylvania, and my father, Michael Younkin, started wandering left Terre Haute, and went to Kankakee, Illinois, and then wandered over into Iowa, Dubuque, Peia, Oskaloosa, Ottumwa, etc., and joined the Western Stage Company, which then ran relay of Concord Stages from there westward, my father driving a Concord Stage for this company for more than eighteen years.

At one time father was married at Chillicothe, Missouri, and his first wife died, and after he left Iowa, after working for the Stage Company, he wandered into Kansas, Nebraska, Indian Territory, now Oklahoma, Texas, and went up to Arkansas. Then had the notion to go to Washington Territory on the Pacific Coast, now the State of Washington, and thought that he would come back and see his father near Kingwood, Pennsylvania, before he finally went to the West coast, he being a man of forty-nine years of age, having wandered and been away from home thirty-five years, being about fourteen years old when he separated from his father at Terre Haute, having refused to go back with grandfather, and hid in a cornfield of a nearby farm until he saw his father turning Eastward.

Grandfather, Frederick F. Younkin, was married twice, and had four children by the first wife, my father, Michael, being the oldest, then Uncle Jake, Aunt Mary and Aunt Agnes. Uncle Jake lived and died about a mile from the old homestead, where Grandfather Younkin lived, and Mary married a man by the name of Griffiths, and became Mary Griffiths, and went to Murphysboro, Jackson County, Illinois, not far from Carbondale, and died there some years ago.

Stanley Scott, the son of Edgar Scott, the brother of my wife, who lives in Carbondale, Illinois, went to see Aunt Mary Griffiths at my instance some years ago, and found that she had just died at Murphysboro and he talked with some of the sons and daughters, and other relatives of Aunt Mary. Aunt Mary sent me a picture of herself and Mr. Griffiths, and I saw her once when I was eight or ten years old.

at her old home in Somerset County, where my father lived and died, and she was on a visit from Illinois to Pennsylvania.

The enclosed clipping will show you I went to school at Valparaiso, Indiana, from 1896 to 1900, and thereafter during part of the year of 1902, and took an A. B. and B. S. Degree. In 1900, I went to Lake Villa, Illinois, the Northwestern County of your State, and became principal of what we call here in Pennsylvania a Township High School at Lake Villa, Illinois, for two years, and then in 1902, I went ten miles East from Lake Villa to Gurnee, and became principal of the High School there, and was there one year teaching ten months in the year. Gurnee is four miles West of Waukegan. While I was at Gurnee, County Superintendent Gagnin and I went during the Christmas vacation of 1902 to Springfield, Illinois, to a State Teachers' Convention, and had presented Aunt Mary Griffiths at Murphysboro that I would continue on down from Springfield and not take back to Gurnee, and did not see her, and finally came from Gurnee to Connellsville, Pennsylvania, where I became principal of the Third Ward School, studied law and was admitted to the Bar of Pennsylvania in 1909, and have been in the general practice since that time in the same office.

At one time, when I was sitting at a table in East Hall, Valparaiso, Indiana, where I was taking meals, there came a young man from Southern Indiana to our table, and he was introduced to me, and when he heard my name, he said, "That is a very familiar name in my home in the Southern part of Indiana, as there is a whole colony of Younkins down there."

Frank Younkin lived and died in Bullskin Township, this county, and was a prosperous farmer and cattle raiser at Pennsylvania, about four miles out of Connellsville. Connellsville has many Younkins. There are twenty-two Younkins named in the City Directory of Connellsville, as I just now counted them, and I have no doubt that your grandfather, John Harrison Younkin, came from Somerset County, or Fayette County, or Westmoreland County, as there are Younkins all through these counties. They are Pennsylvania Dutch, and my mother told me at one time that my father could not speak a word of English, as he had been brought up to speak Pennsylvania Dutch, but after he wandered through the West for thirty-five years, and I first learned to know him, I never heard him speak Dutch, but my mother, whose mother was a Younkin too, could talk Pennsylvania Dutch up to the time of her death, although her father was a native son of Ireland, McClintock, and her mother's name was Mary Younkin, the sister of Dorcas Jake Younkin, there being so many Jake Younkins that they identified each one of them by putting the given name of their wife before their surname. One of the sons of Dorcas Jake Younkin is the County Surveyor of Somerset County, is about seventy-nine years old, and can go over the hills yet like a greyhound. His name is Colwell Younkin. Of course, he is the first cousin of my mother.

My wife was Maud Scott, a sister of Edgar Scott of Carbondale, Illinois. You should go and see him, and he could tell you about the Younkins in Pennsylvania, as he was born in Lower Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania, where my wife was also born, and I was born in Upper Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania. Edgar can tell you much about the Younkins.

Mrs. W. E. Lawson of Homestead, Pa., is a sister of my wife, and she got by error the letter she was sending my wife into an envelope that was addressed, Carbondale, Illinois, and should have been addressed to her sister, my wife, in Connellsville, Pennsylvania, as she was in the habit of writing to her brother in Carbondale, Illinois.

Reverend James A. Younkins, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Pittsburgh Conference for thirty years, was born in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, and he told me at one time that there were many Younkins in that county.

I notice that the Younkins are dying out in your community. They are a pretty hearty race of people, and have been mostly farmers through the years. One of them, Attorney Garfield Younkin, graduated at Ohio Northern University at Ada, practiced law for a while, lost his health, and is now principal of schools at Phoenix, Arizona, or near there. His cousin, Ira D. Younkin, is a prominent wholesale man of this city, and is now on the Council of the city.

Blair and Ralph Younkin have executive positions with the Capitan Glass Company of South Connellsville. They are the sons of Milton R. Younkin, who came here from Draketown, Lower Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania.

Over Somerset County there are a good many Stoners, also in Westmoreland County, as that is a common name there.

Frank Younkin never lived in Connellsville, but in Pennaville, aforesaid, although there are several persons by that name. Frank Younkin, Sr., whose brother, Elmer, was killed the fall of 1929, just outside of Connellsville, and they tried Captain R. C. Blodow of the B. & O. police for murdering him. Also, J. Frank Younkin, a brother of Ira David Younkin, comes to my office frequently as we have had business with him through the years. John F. Younkin lived and died at Paddytown, below Kingwood, and he was the son of Herman Younkin, who was the brother of my maternal grandmother, Mary Younkin, as you have noticed. I am related to one branch of the Younkins on my father's side, and another branch on my mother's side. There are Younkins in the Jersey Settlement, near Draketown aforesaid, there being several of them there.

When you are in Carbondale, see Edgar Scott, who lived on Maple Street, and talk to his son, Stanley, who is a druggist, and perhaps, his wife, who comes from Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, and maybe the two daughters, who were born in Pennsylvania, and I am sure they can give you much information about the Younkins here.

Ross Younkin worked for years for my father-in-law, Noah Scott, and one of his daughters lives in Connellsville.

I hope I have answered your questions, at least some of them, and I forgot to say that my grandfather, Frederick F. Younkin, was married twice, and had six or eight children by the second wife. One of them is Uncle Henry Younkin, who had a bunch of boys, and they are around Somerset County.

sons of Dorcas Jake Younkin is the County Surveyor of Somerset County, is about seventy-nine years old, and can go over the hills yet like a greyhound. His name is Colwell Younkin. Of course, he is the first cousin of my mother.

My wife was Maud Scott, a sister of Edgar Scott of Carbondale, Illinois. You should go and see him, and he could tell you about the Younkins in Pennsylvania, as he was born in Lower Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania, where my wife was also born, and I was born in Upper Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania. Edgar can tell you much about the Younkins.

Mrs. W. E. Lawson of Homestead, Pa., is a sister of my wife, and she got by error the letter she was sending my wife into an envelope that was addressed, Carbondale, Illinois, and should have been addressed to her sister, my wife, in Connellsville, Pennsylvania, as she was in the habit of writing to her brother in Carbondale, Illinois.

Reverend James A. Younkin, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Pittsburgh Conference for thirty years, was born in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, and he told me at one time

I notice that the Younkins are dying out in your community. They are a pretty hearty race of people, and have been mostly farmers through the years. One of them, Attorney Garfield Younkin, graduated at Ohio Northern University at Ada, practiced law for a while, lost his health, and is now principal of schools at Phoenix, Arizona, or near there. His cousin, Ira D. Younkin, is a prominent wholesale man of this city, and is now on the Council of the city.

Hair and Ralph Younkin have executive positions with the Capstan Glass Company of South Connellsville. They are the sons of Milton R. Younkin, who came here from Draketown, Lower Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania.

Over Somerset County there are a good many Stoners, also in Westmoreland County, as that is a common name there.

Frank Younkin never lived in Connellsville, but in Pennsville, aforesaid, although there are several persons by that name. Frank Younkin, Sr., whose brother, Elmer, was killed the fall of 1929, just outside of Connellsville, and they tried Captain R. C. Bledsoe of the B. & O. police for murdering him. Also, J. Younkin lived and died at Paddytown, below Kingwood, and he was the son of Herman Younkin, who was the brother of my maternal grandmother, Mary Younkin, as you have noticed. Frederick Younkin, third son of Henry and Catherine Younkin, was born in Bucks County, Pa., in 1763. He first married Barbara Deiter, perhaps 3 or 4 children were born to them. Barbara died a few years after marriage, after his wife's death presumably about 1785, 1790, he came to Somerset County, he again married. His second wife was Catharine. He was married the second time, before or after coming to Somerset County, at least on even to his first marriage. Remained in Bucks County possibly being taken care of by his grandmother. A record of his accidental death is recorded in Bucks County Intelligencer, Nov. 6, 1838. Several children were born to wife of second marriage, will only mention one, Frederick F. Younkin, who was born in Somerset County, Pa., in 1801. Fred F. married and went West, four children were born to first marriage. COMPANY'S ANSWER IMPLIES FORGERY

The Somerset Telephone Company has filed its answer in the equity proceedings started by the Commonwealth Trust Company, of Pittsburg, to recover the value of certain shares of stock pledged by Harvey M. Berkley, the absconding secretary-treasurer of the Somerset Telephone Company and late Hull Moose candidate for Congress, as collateral for a loan.

The Telephone company says that it is not informed as to whether Berkley was indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $8,500, and denies knowledge of any collateral note given by Berkley to the plaintiff, dated June 16, 1913, and of the deposit as collateral security for the payment of said note of 700 shares of the capital stock of the Somerset Telephone Co., evidenced by certificate No. 368, dated June 18, 1911; however, it avers that it never issued or delivered to Berkley or to any other person a certificate of its capital stock dated June 18, 1911, and numbered 248, for 300 shares of said stock.

Plaintiff avers that if defendant made a loan to Berkley it was dealing with him as an individual and not as a representative, officer, or member of the Somerset Telephone company. Plaintiff admits that when plaintiff presented alleged certificates of stock of the Somerset Telephone company to the proper officers and demanded that a transfer be made on the books of the company that said demand was refused because it had never issued and delivered such certificates, evidenced by Nos. 248 and 259, and dated June 18, 1911, aggregating 540 shares, to Harvey M. Berkley, and there was no liability on it to make the transfer.

Defendant avers that the books of the company show that certificate No. 248 is dated October 15, 1911, calling for three shares of stock, and certificate No. 259 is dated January 25, 1912, calling for eight shares of stock both issued to M. Emma Berkley, and the certificates presented by plaintiff for transfer were not issued by the company or by its authority, and it is not in any way liable for the same.

Although the answer of the telephone company to the Commonwealth Trust Company's suit virtually charges Berkley with raising one certificate of stock from three to 500 shares and another from eight to 500 shares, such act, if committed, constituting the crime of forgery. Though it is nearly one year since Berkley levanted, no criminal action has yet been instituted against him, nor any effort been made to locate and bring him back to answer for his alleged crime.

FARMER SHOT BY NEIGHBOR

Road Dispute Results in Bloodshed.

William Trimpey Perhaps Mortally Wounded By Henry C. Cramer.

William C. Trimpey, a prominent farmer of Upper Turkeyfoot township, was perhaps fatally shot at 7 o'clock this morning, by one of his neighbors as the result of a dispute over the closing of a private road.

Henry C. Cramer, the blacksmith at Kingwood, is in the county jail charged with the shooting.

Bad blood had existed for some time between the two men over the closing of a private road to Trimpey's farm by Cramer in opening a private road for himself.

Trimpey, acting on legal advice that he was within his rights, proceeded to tear down the fence that Cramer had erected, and was shot while doing so.

Sheriff Hochard arrived at the scene of the shooting at noon, and arrested Cramer while the latter was calmly eating his dinner at his home. He was taken before Trimpey and identified by the latter as the man who shot him.

The Sheriff procured the shotgun with which Cramer is alleged to have done the shooting. The gun was borrowed by a neighbor, for the purpose of shooting Trimpey.

Dr. J. C. Hemminger of Rockwood was called to attend the wounded man and found him in a very serious condition. His bladder was punctured in three places and altogether 22 BB shot entered his body. The doctor gave the victim little hope of being able to save his life. Accordingly he prepared for the end, by making his will and his peace with God.

Trimpey is about 44 years old and has a wife and four or five children. He is one of the best known farmers of the region. The dastardly attempt on his life has roused the indignation of the entire community.

CRAMER HELD FOR TRIMPEY MURDER

Coroner's Jury Places Crime on Kingwood Blacksmith Who Denies Guilt.

William Trimpey, the Kingwood farmer who was shot last Thursday morning by his neighbor, Henry C. Cramer, as reported in last week's Republican, died in the Markleton hospital at 5 o'clock Friday morning, following an operation performed by Dr. George Hays of Pittsburg, Dr. C. J. Hunsinger of Rockwood and Dr. H. A. Smetts of Markleton. An inquest was conducted by Dr. H. K. Kimmell of Macdonaldton, the County coroner; the jury, composed of Harry Weyand, Arthur Drougher, George Smith, Willis Mills, Frank Yost and Roy Fletcher, rendered a verdict to the effect that Trimpey died from a gunshot wound inflicted by Henry C. Cramer, with homicidal intent, and holding him to answer for the crime of murder.

County Detective Testifies.

One of the important witnesses was County Detective Wagner, who testified that he went to the Cramer home in company with Sheriff Hoehard to make the arrest, at which time Cramer denied that he ever had a gun. Later he told him the gun was in an unoccupied out-house, where the weapon was found. Detective Wagner stated that the right barrel of the weapon had been discharged, but that the exploded shell could not be found. On the window of the building stood two loaded shells. On the way to Somerset, Detective Wagner testified, Cramer told Sheriff Hoehard and the detective that he did not do any shooting that day, but that later he made the admission he had fired twice at a groundhog, mistaking the animal both times.

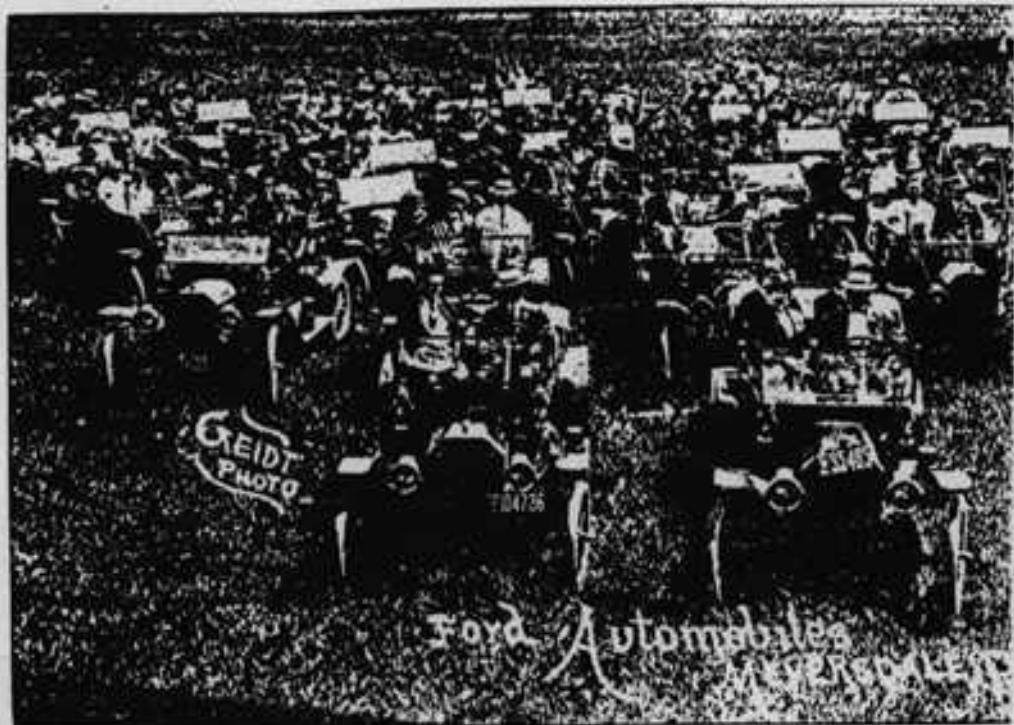

Daughter's Damaging Testimony.

Lola Trimpey, 14 years of age and daughter of the murdered man, testified that she and her mother heard her father scream and that they ran to the spot, where they found Trimpey badly wounded. She remained with her father while her mother ran to the Trimpey home for assistance, the latter summoning neighbors and telephoning for a doctor. Lola Trimpey also testified that she saw Cramer crawling through some bushes while making his way to a corn field, in which he was afterward seen plowing and at which work he continued while the wounded man was carried past the field on a plank.

Parade of Ford Cars and Their Passengers

Ford Cars Massed at Fair Grounds Saturday

The biggest automobile parade ever seen in Meyersdale and vicinity was pulled off last Saturday by Manager H. E. Wedgley of the local Ford agency, who had invited owners of Ford cars from far and near to be his guests for the day. Those who accepted the invitation were entertained right royally, and they in turn furnished entertainment for the public by parading in their gaily decorated vehicles over a course embracing the towns of Meyersdale, Vin, Boynton, Salisbury, West Salisbury, Kelm (St. Paul), and Summit Mills.

Thirty-four automobiles were in line and they formed a procession about a mile long. A great many other Ford car owners could not be present for various reasons, but those who accepted the invitation had no reason to regret their attendance. Everything passed off very pleasantly, without any breaks or accidents of any kind to mar the parade or proceedings.

First of all Mr. Wedgley distributed free dinner tickets to his guests and 103 of them were fed at the Colonial, Elmer, Central and Union hotels. The parade took place in the afternoon, but the streets were alive with flag-bedecked Ford cars after 10 o'clock. The crowds were entertained until noon with music by the Citizens' Band.

After dinner, the band and guests were loaded into the automobiles and the procession began. All the cars were decorated with American flags and Lincoln Chautauqua banners. Hundreds of citizens lined the sidewalks as the parade moved through the streets of Meyersdale to the Fair grounds where Gold took a photograph of the massed cars and their occupants. The parade was then resumed, returning to Meyersdale and on to Salisbury via the Hunderick route. A stop was made at Salisbury where a band concert was given, almost the entire population turning out to bid the visitors welcome.

At St. Paul church another large crowd was assembled to see the parade pass by, and a stop was here while the band played inspiring tunes. The third and last stop and concert was at Summit Mills, where the people also turned out in large numbers. All along the line the cheering crowds.

Upon their return to Meyersdale, Mr. Wedgley set up the ice-cream soda for the entire party at Collins drug store. Everybody pleased with the hospitality shown by the hustling Ford agent all voted the first Ford contest big success.

Among those who took part in the procession were the following: Lewis Berkley, E. L. Knepper, Knepper, C. M. Knepper, Mrs. Day, Walter Day, Homer Berlin, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Stah, and Mrs. M. W. Hanger, Mr. and W. W. Rock, Somerset; John M. Rockwood; Mr. and Mrs. Knepp, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mank, Sand Patch; Mr. and Mrs. I.

Cramer Denies Guilt.

Cramer steadfastly denies that he is the man who shot Trimpey. He claims he was working in his blacksmith shop that morning and will endeavor to prove an alibi. He has retained Charles F. Uhl, Esq., as his counsel.

Meantime Hoehard had abandoned his car and joined in the chase, and succeeded in heading the negro's flight off by opening fire on him from a different direction. The chase brought Killa to a halt, but he refused to throw up his hands until Bittner drew a bead on him at close range and threatened to shoot to Told Boy Not to Tell.

Dwight Shelly, 10 years of age, testified that he worked for Cramer and yesterday morning rode the horse while Cramer was plowing corn in the field, as testified by the Trimpey girl. The evening before, the Shelly lad testified, Cramer told him that he need not come to work before 10 o'clock. The boy testified that Cramer also told him he would not allow Trimpey to cross the private road, the dispute over which led to the tragedy, but that Cramer had cautioned him (Shelly) not to say anything about this to any person.

Saw Cramer With Gun.

Mrs. Susan Sechler testified that early in the morning she had seen Cramer pass in the direction of the scene of the murder and at that time he was carrying a shotgun. Miss Ella Trimpey, sister of the victim, testified that Trimpey told her that Cramer was the man who shot him.

Trimpey's Funeral.

Between 500 and 600 people attended the funeral of Trimpey last Sunday. The Lutheran church at Kingwood where the funeral services were conducted, was not large enough to accommodate all who gathered for the obsequies and after the services had been conducted by Rev. P. H. Knapp the edifice was cleared and the assemblage was permitted to file in and out of the church in taking a last view of the corpse. Interment was in the Lutheran cemetery.

The Bereaved Family.

Mr. Trimpey is survived by his aged father, John R. Trimpey; his widow, whose maiden name was Ella Sechler; three children—Lola, Minnie and Irma, the latter two being twins three years old, and the following brothers and sisters: Harab, wife of John A. Cunningham of Connelville; Mary, wife of Charles Sechler of Upper Turkeyfoot township; Etta, wife of John Phillips of Seaside; John of Somerset, Ephraim of Haraboo, Wis., and Ford cars from far and near to his guests for the day. Those who accepted the invitation were entertained right royally, and they in turn furnished entertainment for the public by parading in their gaily decorated vehicles over a course embracing the towns of Meyersdale, Vint, Layton, Salisbury, West Salisbury, Keim (St. Paul), and Summit Mills.

Thirty-four automobiles were in line and they formed a procession about a mile long. A great many other Ford car owners could not be present for various reasons, but those who accepted the invitation had no reason to regret their attendance. Everything passed off very pleasantly, without any breaks or accidents of any kind to mar the parade or proceedings.

First of all Mr. Welgley displayed at home. He is also survived by one half-brother, George Trimpey, also at home.

Cramer Denies Guilt.

Cramer steadfastly denies that he is the man who shot Trimpey. He claims he was working in his blacksmith shop that morning and will endeavor to prove an alibi. He has retained Charles F. Uhl, Esq., as his counsel.

HAD NEGRO MADE OFFICERS

DO A MARATHON STUNT.

Sheriff Hochard and Constable Hittner Compelled to Use Guns in APPROX EX-CONVICT.

Constable Harvey Hittner and Sheriff Hochard did a Marathon and Uncle Tom's Cabin stunt Tuesday afternoon in arresting a desperate negro with a prison record, and did not get their man without recourse to shooting irons. The culprit is a burly negro named Isaac Ellis, who was implicated in the torture and murder of Mrs. Ash in Jenner township some years ago and sentenced to the penitentiary from which he was released over a year ago on parole. Ellis has since been living at Shaw Mines where he was digging coal. Several days ago a colored woman, Frances Young, made information against Ellis, charging him with the paternity of her unborn child and a warrant was issued for his arrest. The negro boasted that he would never be taken alive, but Constable Hittner set out to get him and Sheriff Hochard who happened to be in Meyersdale at the time with his automobile joined in the "coon" hunt.

In the Sheriff's car the two officers went to Shaw Mines Tuesday afternoon, but found that their intended prisoner had fled in company with a colored woman. The officers trailed them through the country some distance then discovered they were headed for Garrett. The officers returned to Meyersdale, and were apprised by telephone that Ellis and the woman were at the fair grounds waiting for a car to Garrett. The Sheriff immediately headed his car toward the fair grounds and arriving there ran in through the gate. Ellis was inside and as soon as he saw the car and the officers in it, he seized the fence like a squirrel and dashed through the creek to the slope of Bayler Hill opposite. Without waiting for the car to stop, Constable Hittner leaped from the automobile, but his coat pocket caught on the side of the car and threw him headforemost to the ground, giving him a very severe bump. The plucky constable was dazed by the fall, but regained his feet soon and started in pursuit of the fleeing negro on foot. Outside the fair grounds he stepped into a ditch full of weeds and received another severe tumble, his progress after the fleeing culprit being somewhat after the Ford cars after 10 o'clock. The crowds were entertained until noon with music by the "Citizens' Band."

After dinner, the band and guests were loaded into the automobiles and the procession began. All the cars were decorated with American flags and Lincoln Chautauqua banners. Hundreds of citizens lined the sidewalks as the parade moved through the streets of Meyersdale to the fair grounds where Gold took a photograph of the massed cars and their occupants. The parade was then resumed, returning to Meyersdale and on to Salisbury via the Hunderick route. A stop was made at Salisbury where a band concert was given, almost the entire population turning out to bid the visitors welcome.

At St. Paul church another large large numbers. All along the line in the swing around the circle, cheering crowds.

Upon their return to Meyersdale Mr. Welgley set up the ice-cream soda for the entire party at Collins drug store. Everybody pleased with the hospitality at them by the hustling Ford agent all voted the first Ford convention big success.

Among those who took part in procession were the following: Lewis Herkley, E. L. Knapp, J. Knapp, E. M. Knapp, H. H. Knapp, Walter Hay, Homer Herlin; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Stahl and Mrs. M. W. Hanger, Mr. and W. W. Rock, Somerset; John M. Rockwood; Mr. and Mrs. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mark; Sand Patch; Mr. and Mrs. J.

manner of the policemen in the Keystone comedies. Picking himself up again, Hittner resumed the chase across the creek and up the hill. A barb wire fence underneath which the negro slipped further impeded his progress, then he drew his gun and began to shoot in the air to bring Ellis to a halt, but the latter kept on running.

Meantime Hochard had abandoned his car and joined in the chase, and succeeded in heading the negro's flight off by opening fire on him from a different direction. The cross fire brought Ellis to a halt, but he refused to throw up his hands until Hittner drew a bead on him at close range and threatened to shoot to kill if he did not surrender. Reluctantly he did so, because he was unarmed, except with a knife, and he could not very well use that against two determined officers armed with revolvers.

Ellis was arraigned before Justice Hay Wednesday evening and held for court, Hittner taking him to Somerset today. Hittner fired three shots and Hochard two before the negro halted.

ADAM WARNER KILLED

BY FALL OF SLATE.

Adam Warner, a well known citizen of Garrett county, Md., living near Finsell, was fatally injured by a fall of slate while working in the Freckley mines of the Union Mining Co. of Mt. Savage. The accident occurred about 2:30 p. m. Tuesday he died at 12:10 p. m. Wednesday, after severe suffering. His hips were torn loose from his spine. He was removed to his home after the accident and surgical aid summoned, but his injuries were too severe for surgical skill to remedy. Mr. Warner was about 56 years of age, and is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Jonas Layman, of Finsell. He was a brother of Simon Warner who lives near Meyersdale. His only son was accidentally shot and killed while hunting rabbits several years ago.

Mrs. Mary Dietle, one of our good Greenville subscribers, renewed her subscription to The Republican for another year last Friday and also took advantage of our popular clubbing offer.

Brakebeam Tourist Killed.

He was aged 29 years 4 months and 25 days. The body was taken charge of by Undertaker Hetch and buried in the potter's field at Union Cemetery. Two brothers of the deceased came here from Fayette county on Tuesday to investigate the circumstances of his death.

MERCY OF THE COURT INVOKED FOR CRAMER

Slayer of Trimpey Found Guilty of Voluntary Manslaughter with Recommendation for Clemency. Oct. 1, 1914

Pleading self-defense Henry C. Cramer and his able counsel succeeded in convincing twelve good men and true that he did not murder William H. Trimpey in cold blood, but that he was simply guilty of voluntary manslaughter for which the court should have mercy upon him in imposing sentence.

Not since the conviction of the Nicely brothers 24 years ago has any murder trial in Somerset county excited greater interest. At every session of court during the trial, which lasted from one Monday morning until Tuesday morning of the week following, the court-room was crowded with spectators interested in one way or another in Cramer's fate. Owing to the fact that there was no eye-witness to the killing and that it was well known that bad blood had existed between Trimpey and Cramer for which the former was as much to blame as the slayer, there were few who anticipated a verdict of first degree murder. The consensus of opinion, however, seemed to be that Cramer would be lucky if he escaped conviction for murder in the second degree.

The Result a Surprise.

The verdict of manslaughter with a recommendation for mercy, therefore, came as a surprise to many, although some of the friends of the defendant had hoped that he might be acquitted altogether on the grounds of justifiable homicide on account of his fear of Trimpey and the latter's alleged threats against him.

Up to the time that the evidence for the prosecution was all in no one but the defendant and his counsel knew what his line of defense would be. In their cross-examination of witnesses of the prosecution the attorneys for the defense were very careful not to betray their line of defense. Somewhat of a sensation was created, therefore, when the defendant at the opening of the de-

Verdict Returned.

The case was submitted to the jury at 6 o'clock. No verdict having been reached by 10 o'clock, the jurors were locked up for the night. When court reconvened at 9 o'clock Monday morning the jury was ready to report, having agreed on a verdict of voluntary manslaughter with a recommendation for clemency after a number of ballots were taken, the majority from the first having been in favor of a manslaughter verdict.

The defendant received the verdict in silence without seeming to comprehend it. After it was explained to him by one of his attorneys he was led back to the county jail, while the case was adjourned until next Monday morning to give counsel time to formulate bills of exceptions, etc., if any, and any motions that may be made to stay sentence of the convicted man.

An abstract of the trial up to Wednesday evening was given in last week's Republican. Following is the substance of the remaining testimony.

"Hen Cramer Shot Me."

W. D. Younklin, one of the earliest arrivals at the scene of the shooting testified that Trimpey said: "Hen Cramer shot me," and pointed out the tree behind which Cramer had stood when he fired the shot. Witness assisted in raising Trimpey to a sitting posture in order that he could designate the tree, a big maple, and when a lad named Ray Umstead stood beneath a tree in order to assist in the identification Trimpey said: "That is the wrong tree." When Umstead stood beneath the maple Trimpey exclaimed: "That's the tree Cramer was under, when he shot me."

Counsel for the defense objected strenuously to the admission of declarations made by Trimpey, before his dying declaration was offered in evidence, and insisted that the death of Trimpey must first be established. Judge Ruppel overruled the objection. A. J. King, John Wright, John S.

to the time that the evidence for the prosecution was all in no one but the defendant and his counsel knew what his line of defense would be. In their cross-examination of witnesses of the prosecution the attorneys for the defense were very careful not to betray their line of defense. Somewhat of a sensation was created, therefore, when the defendant at the opening of the defense went on the witness stand and boldly admitted that he was Trimpey's slayer (an admission he had never before publicly made) but that the bloody deed was committed in self-defense and because of fear that Trimpey meant to kill him.

Able Arguments by Counsel.

The first two days of the trial, Monday and Tuesday of last week, were taken up with the empanelling of the jury and visit by the jury and officers of the court to the scene of the tragedy to view the bloody ground. The taking of testimony was commenced on Wednesday morning and continued until 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when the court took a recess until 9 o'clock Monday morning in order to give the opposing attorneys time to prepare their arguments. Thirty-two witnesses were examined for the prosecution and 16 for the defense.

On Monday morning Norman T. Boone, Esq., opened the argument for the Commonwealth and was followed by Charles F. Uhl and J. A. Berkey for the defense, after which District Attorney Saylor summed up the argument for the Commonwealth. Seldom if ever have more carefully prepared, or more able arguments been heard in the Somerset county court house. These arguments on both sides were a fitting conclusion to one of the most ably conducted trials in the annals of the Somerset county bar.

The arguments were concluded at 4:30 P. M. and Judge Ruppel then delivered his charge to the jury.

The Jury Charged.

Judge Ruppel in his charge to the jury reviewed the facts in the case, taking up the testimony given by the different witnesses and explaining the weight that should be given to it.

The Court explained that the Commonwealth was asking for a verdict of first degree murder and the defense for acquittal, but between these were two other verdicts the jury could render, second degree murder and voluntary manslaughter. The Court explained that a man can not claim self-defense if he was the aggressor, and that to claim self-defense even if attacked, he must have made every reasonable effort to escape and could take life justifiably only when he believed his life in danger, or in danger of great bodily harm, the only exception being where a man is attacked in his own home, where he does not need to retreat.

The Court took occasion to call at-the maple Trimpey exclaimed: "That's the tree Cramer was under, when he shot me."

Counsel for the defense objected strenuously to the admission of declarations made by Trimpey, before his dying declaration was offered in evidence, and insisted that the death of Trimpey must first be established. Judge Ruppel overruled the objection.

A. J. King, John Wright, John S. Trimpey, and J. J. Stoner were examined in the order named and testified substantially to the same facts. They all reached the scene of the shooting shortly after it occurred and all heard Trimpey say that Cramer had shot him from behind a tree. The wounded man pointed out the tree as testified to by W. D. Younkin. While on the way to the house the wounded man called the attention of those carrying him to two clubs lying under a tree, saying "he (meaning the prisoner) had them for me last evening."

Aged Father's Testimony.

John S. Trimpey, aged 73, father of the deceased, was present when his son identified Cramer as the man who had shot him for County Detective Wagner and Sheriff C. F. Hochard. The witness said that when he reached the scene he found his son lying on the ground in a pool of blood. "I asked: 'Will, what happened?' He answered, 'I'm shot.' 'Are you hurt bad?' I asked, and he replied 'Yes.' Will then took my hand and said, 'Pap, you are an older man than I, but I'll die first.'"

Charles H. Sechler, a brother-in-law of Trimpey, related practically the same facts as testified to by witnesses who preceded him.

Shot from Behind Tree.

Ray Umstead, aged 15, was at the store in Kingwood when he learned of the shooting and hastened to the scene. When he walked to the chestnut tree he heard Trimpey say, "That is not the tree." Witness then turned towards a maple and when within fifteen feet of it heard Trimpey exclaim: "That's the tree."

Roy Stoner, another early arrival at the scene, heard Trimpey say that Cramer shot him. Witness was returning home for his motorcycle, when he met Cramer and Dwight Shelley. He said to Cramer, "What has happened back here?" and when the latter pretended not to know witness told him that Trimpey had been shot. "Is that what all that procession is for?" witness testified Cramer asked. Securing his motorcycle young Stoner rode to New Lexington and telephoned for Dr. Hemmlinger.

J. C. McMillen testified that he reached the Trimpey home about 10:30 o'clock following the tragedy. He entered the room and saw Dr. Hemmlinger dressing the wounds. Trimpey extended his hand and said: "I will die." Trimpey requested witness to write his will, which he did. After the will was identified, witness continued, stating that he was present when Detective Wagner entered the room. Wagner asked Trimpey if he knew him

William Gerhard, a brother Trimpey, saw the wounded between 1 and 2 o'clock on the shooting. Witness asked T. he quarreled with Cramer latter answered in the negative hard's testimony did not do others who preceded him.

Saw Cramer With Gun.

Mrs. Susan Sechler, a mothering old lady, was next examined. She is a resident of Kingwood, mother-in-law of the murdered Kreger's store is between her and Henry Cramer's blacksmith she said. About 6 A. M. on the shooting she saw Cramer a gun, pass through the store onto the Casselman road. She was in her garden between 11 o'clock the same morning saw Cramer and Dwight Shell riding the same horse. Witness Cramer: "I think you felt going too far, and she said answered: "I didn't do it."

Mrs. Minnie Straucher, who few rods from Kingwood, testified she had seen Cramer pass the road about 6 A. M. on the shooting and saw him return A. M. She politely exchanged of day with him on both occasions.

Damaging Evidence.

The Commonwealth's star witness little Dwight Shelley, 11 years as bright as a new penny, was on the stand at 2 o'clock Thursday noon, and throughout his examination a pin-drop could have been heard any part of the densely crowded courtroom. He had proceeded but a few minutes with his damaging evidence, "prisoner" exchanged chairs closer to his attorneys. Cramer visibly affected by the lad's testimony and nervously drummed his fingers on the arms of his chair.

Dwight said that he had watched Cramer from time to time. On the preceding day the shooting he was with Cramer plowing corn on his farm. He joined Trimpey's. Before starting home about 5 o'clock in the afternoon Dwight went with Cramer to where the two private roads crossed for the purpose of looking for tracks. Cramer said: "Trimpey went this way and I don't want to go back. I will return and watch him this evening. Don't you worry about me. I am watching for him."

Dwight assisted in rebuilding the fence and about 6:30 o'clock he went to the Cramer blacksmith shop to his employer. Amos Harbaugh the shop with two horses to him. Cramer said he didn't want both animals at it would interfere with his returning to the Trimpey self-defense and because of fear that Trimpey meant to kill him.

The Court took occasion to call attention to the fact that much of this trouble had been engendered by the profanity used by both men, and deplored the growing tendency of people to be profane. He called attention to the fact that each man had cursed the other upon numerous occasions and the words of each had been repeated to the other, kindling the fires of hatred which were kept burning in the bosom of each.

William Gerhard, a brother-in-law of Trimpey, saw the wounded man between 1 and 2 o'clock on the day of the shooting. Witness asked Trimpey if he quarreled with Cramer and the latter answered in the negative. Gerhard's testimony did not differ from others who preceded him.

Witness said to Cramer: "I think you fellows are going too far, and she said Cramer answered: "I didn't do it."

Mrs. Minnie Braucher, who lives a few rods from Kingwood, testified that she had seen Cramer pass down the road about 6 A. M. on the day of the shooting and saw him return about 10 A. M. She politely exchanged the time of day with him on both occasions.

Damaging Evidence.

The Commonwealth's star witness, little Dwight Shelley, 11 years old and as bright as a new penny, was called to the stand at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and throughout his examination a pin drop could have been heard in any part of the densely crowded room. He had proceeded but a few minutes with his damaging evidence when the prisoner exchanged chairs for one closer to his attorneys. Cramer was visibly affected by the lad's evidence and nervously drummed his fingers on the arms of his chair.

Dwight said that he had worked for Cramer from time to time. On the day preceding the shooting he was helping Cramer plow corn on his place adjoining Trimpey's. Before starting for home about 5 o'clock in the afternoon Dwight went with Cramer to the point where the two private roads intersect for the purpose of looking for wagon tracks. Cramer said: "Trimpey went out this way and I don't want him to go back, I will return and watch for him this evening. Don't you tell anybody that I am watching for Trimpey."

Dwight assisted in rebuilding the fence and about 5:30 o'clock returned to the Cramer blacksmith shop with his employer. Amos Harbaugh was at the shop with two horses to be shod.

Cramer said he didn't want to shoe both animals as it would interfere with his returning to the Trimpey road. About this time Mrs. Cramer told her husband that the Trimpeys had returned home, having seen them pass through Kingwood.

The Gay Side of Li

On Thursday of last week Mes. Johnston and McCartney entertained Dorcas Club and a number of friends at a Pilgrimage luncheon at Riverside Park. Although the weather was threatening about 25 ventured forth on the trolley, and met at the park entrance by hostesses and escorted to the pavilion where electric lights and music away the cloudy aspects.

The Dorcas Club has been in interrupted existence for six years. It is composed of the best people in town. The good spirit, geniality, cordiality of its members is felt immediately by visitors.

The special friends invited on occasion were Mesdames W. T. K. F. Hemminger, Coughenour, Rutter, Smith, Clyde Rowe and Misses Sarah and Nellie Th. A table the length of the pavilion was set and decorated with autumn flowers and fancy baskets containing waffles. Tiny missives at each indicated the initial procedure. guests were invited to eat at sandwiches, then repair to an adjacent building and hunt. As the sandwiches were bountiful it was necessary to dispose of some of them surreptitiously. The hunt revealed ribbon-tied sacks containing delectables. hunters feasted on those, and appetites were still further whetted. A notice on the wall to go to ravine and search for a locust. The tree was found and on it a large basket containing candy, and other dainties, with an invitation to return to the pavilion for further eating, and there a large and merry crowd found at their usual places fancy icecream and orangeade.

The rest of the afternoon was in playing games. A very merry was had by all.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Collins entered twenty young people at their home on North Street, Friday, Sept. 2 in honor of the birthday of their daughter, Lenore. The guests came to represent the titles of books, was a novel idea and afforded for amusement. Games, singing, dancing were the enjoyment of evening, and a delicious lunch served. Those present were Flor Just, Hazel Miller, Mary June Wilk, Edna Baker, Nellie Hady, Henri Horning, Mary Conrad, Grace W. the deceased, was present when his son identified Cramer as the man who had shot him for County Detective Wagner and Sheriff C. F. Hochard. The witness said that when he reached the scene he found his son lying on the ground in a pool of blood. "I asked: 'Will, what happened?' He answered, 'I'm shot.' 'Are you hurt bad?' I asked, and he replied 'Yes.' Will then took my hand and said, 'Pap, you are an older man than I, but I'll die first.'"

Charles H. Sechler, a brother-in-law of Trimpey, related practically the same facts as testified to by witnesses who preceded him.

Shot from Behind Tree.

Ray Umstead, aged 15, was at the store in Kingwood when he learned of the shooting and hastened to the scene. When he walked to the chestnut tree he heard Trimpey say, "That is not the tree." Witness then turned towards a maple and when within fifteen feet of it heard Trimpey exclaim: "That's the tree."

Roy Stoner, another early arrival at the scene, heard Trimpey say that Cramer shot him. Witness was returning home for his motorcycle, when he met Cramer and Dwight Shelley. He said to Cramer, "What has happened back here?" and when the latter pretended not to know witness told him that Trimpey had been shot. "Is that what all that procession is for?" witness testified Cramer asked. Securing his motorcycle young Stoner rode to New Lexington and telephoned for Dr. Hemminger.

J. C. McMillen testified that he reached the Trimpey home about 10:30 o'clock following the tragedy. He entered the room and saw Dr. Hemminger dressing the wounds. Trimpey extended his hand and said: "I will die." Trimpey requested witness to write his will, which he did. After the will was identified, witness continued, stating that he was present when Detective Wagner entered the room. Wagner asked Trimpey if he knew him and told him who he was before he inquired who had shot him. Wagner then asked Trimpey if he could identify the man. Trimpey said he could. Wagner returned to the room with Cramer and Sheriff Hochard and asked, "Which of these is the man who shot you?" Trimpey pointed towards Cramer. Hochard pointing towards himself asked, "Do you mean me?" "No," Trimpey answered, "Hen-

PER INVOKED FOR CRAMER

Trimpey road he heard loud swearing and believing that men were fighting he dismounted and after tying the horse ran to the top of the hill, a distance of about 30 rods, where he saw Trimpey standing on the Trimpey side of the fence. He did not know who was doing the cussing but as it continued and he believed it was directed at himself he returned to the horse and when within 15 feet of the animal heard a shot ring out. Two or three minutes afterwards Cramer came running towards him through the woods, from the direction of the Braucher road. Dwight remounted the horse and rode to the water trough and then to the corn field where he told Cramer that he had passed Trimpey, who was lying in blood and groaning. "Some one must have shot him" was Cramer's disinterested rejoinder, as testified to by the youthful witness. Continuing Dwight said that at 9:30 o'clock several gunshot reports were heard. Cramer took out his watch and remarking: "Some one must have been shot," impressed on his little companion that he should remember the exact time "as you might have to swear to it some time." Cramer and Dwight left the corn-field earlier than usual, returning to Kingwood before 11 o'clock. County Detective Wagner and Sheriff Hochard arrived at the Cramer home about noon.

Cramer Was Nervous.

Cross-examination of the young witness developed additional strong evidence against Cramer. The boy said that following the shooting of Trimpey he had seen the wounded man, his wife and children and other persons at the scene of the tragedy and that Cramer had referred to their presence as "a procession." When Dwight reached the field Cramer said "It is too wet to plow corn and we'll build fence this morning." While working on the fence the boy caught a splinter in his hand and borrowed Cramer's knife. Unable to extract the splinter himself he said Cramer had undertaken to remove it, but was so nervous and shaky that he only succeeded in cutting the little witness' hand. Dwight said that he had seen Cramer go to the vacant house and reach through a broken window. He testified, also, that on the evening before the shooting Cramer had cut two clubs and picked up a third, heavier than either of the other two, remarking that the first one he had cut was too light. Witness did not know what had become of the clubs, but identified them when they were shown to him by Attorney Boone there that this thing happened" and heard Trimpey answer: "I was tearing down a fence when Cramer stepped from behind a tree with a gun, aimed and fired."

Miss Ella Trimpey, a sister of the deceased, testified that her brother had made a similar declaration in her presence concerning the incidents immediately preceding the shooting. Trimpey told his sister that when he found the fence was up it made him mad and that he had sworn a little bit. In response to a question by his sister Ella as to why he did not run when he saw Cramer was armed the sufferer replied: "I did not have time to, as Cramer fired before I could remove the second rail."

Mrs. William Gerhard, another sister of the deceased, stated that she was in the bedside of her brother some time after dinner on the day of the shooting and heard him say that he was going to die. She also heard her brother assert that it was Cramer who had shot him, and was present when Cramer was conducted into the presence of her brother by the officers for identification.

Dying Statement Excluded.

Willis O. Mills, the Kingwood merchant and Justice of the Peace, was called to the witness stand at 3 o'clock Thursday night, and after stating that he was summoned to the Markleton Sanatorium between 9 and 10 o'clock on the night of the shooting and had been conducted to Trimpey's room, where he found the patient, Dr. Hemminger, of Rockwood, Dr. Hays, of Pittsburg, and the house physician, he was withdrawn, pending argument on the admissibility of Trimpey's dying declaration, to which he had been sworn as witness.

Amos Harbaugh testified that he went to Cramer's blacksmith shop on the afternoon of the shooting and finding Cramer absent "drove three shoes" himself. In about an hour Cramer returned and on learning that witness wanted three more shoes placed on one of his horses, Cramer said that he did not care to do the work as it would spoil his calculations. Continuing witness said Cramer told him that Trimpey had torn down his fence and that he would like to meet him when he returned that evening.

Physicians' Testimony.

Dr. G. W. Smeltz, a member of the Markleton Free Hospital surgical staff, was the first witness called Friday morning. He described the operation performed on Trimpey and stated that Trimpey's death was caused by inflammation of the peritoneum.

Dr. C. J. Hemminger, of Rockwood, testified that he had been summoned to the Trimpey bedside on the morning of the shooting. He found the patient suffering from shock and on making a superficial examination rendered first aid treatment. In his opinion the case was one requiring a major operation

He testified, also, that on the evening before the shooting Cramer had cut two clubs and picked up a third, heavier than either of the other two, remarking that the first one he had cut was too light. Witness did not know what had become of the clubs, but identified them when they were shown to him by Attorney Boone as the same ones Cramer had in his possession.

Trimpey Identified Slayer.

County Detective Wagner stated that in company with Sheriff Hochard he had placed Cramer under arrest on a charge of assault with intent to kill. They escorted the prisoner to the scene of the shooting and thence to the Trimpey home. Upon learning that Trimpey could identify the man who had shot him Cramer was taken into his presence.

"Do you know who shot you," Wagner said he asked.

"I do," the wounded man answered.

"Who was it?" said the detective.

"Henry Cramer," Trimpey replied.

"Is he in this room?" continued Wagner.

"That's the man," Trimpey said, indicating Cramer with his finger.

It was at this point that Sheriff Hochard asked if Trimpey meant him.

Wagner stated that a double-barreled shot gun was recovered at the vacant house on the Cramer place, along with two loaded shells. The gun and shells were recovered through a broken window from the front porch. One barrel of the gun was dirty, showing burnt particles of powder. The other barrel was clean.

Sheriff Hochard's evidence was substantially the same as Detective Wagner's. The Sheriff testified that Cramer told him where they would find the gun.

Cramer Made Threats.

Following the testimony of Sheriff Hochard a long line of witnesses was examined to prove threats made by Cramer against Trimpey. William Barkman stated that Cramer had boasted that he would "get the s--- of a b---h yet," meaning the murdered man. Charles Braucher said he had overheard Cramer say: "If Trimpey don't let that fence alone I'll kill him."

Mrs. Charles Braucher testified that on the 21st day of June she had heard Cramer make threats against Trimpey.

L. W. Sullivan testified that he would not know Cramer now, as he understood he had grown much heavier since he has been in the custody of the Sheriff. He told of hearing Cramer boast that he "would make it hot" for Trimpey.

Aaron Phillippi testified that Cramer had said to him last May: "I don't know what I will do with my neighbor (Trimpey) the d---d s---. I have no gun but if I have to get one I'll use it."

Mrs. Susan Seehler, recalled, stated that she heard Cramer say: "I would have shot Trimpey dead if I would have had a gun when he crossed my front this evening as he was coming Trimpey's death was caused by inflammation of the peritoneum.

Dr. C. J. Hemminger, of Rockwood, testified that he had been summoned to the Trimpey bedside on the morning of the shooting. He found the patient suffering from shock, and on making a superficial examination rendered first aid treatment. In his opinion the case was one requiring a major operation and he urged that Dr. Hays, a prominent Pittsburg surgeon, should be called, which was done. Continuing the doctor said that he found seven openings in the victim's abdomen, six on the left and one on the right side; 17 shot entered the victim's left leg and six entered the right leg; another was found to have entered the right arm. The doctor told Trimpey that he might live for 70 hours and that his only hope of recovery rested in an operation, and even then the patient would have but one chance in a thousand of recovery. Dr. Hemminger corroborated the evidence of witnesses who preceded him on the stand regarding statements made by Trimpey in his presence as to who had shot him.

Dr. H. S. Kimmel, County Coroner, testified as to the inquest held on the body of Trimpey and of the post mortem examination made by him. He was not asked for an opinion as to what had caused Trimpey's death.

Dr. George L. Hays, of Pittsburg, stated that he had been called to the Trimpey residence by Dr. Hemminger, arriving about 6 o'clock or earlier, on the afternoon of the shooting. He Cramer said he sent the boy ahead and that when he reached house Trimpey appeared at the with a hatchet in his hand and manding to know where they going, ordered them away with oath. Cramer said that Trimpey driven the pin, holding the through which he desired to drive cow so tight it would have tal sledge to remove it. Mrs. Stella Sanner testified that Cramer had said in her presence that he "would fight Will Trimpey if he had to go to Trimpey's house to do it." Continuing she said that Cramer had borrowed a shotgun and four loaded shells from her husband on the 11th of April last. This statement was corroborated by her husband, Elmer Sanner, who identified the gun shown to him by Attorney House as his property. Cramer when borrowing the gun said that he wanted to shoot a pine squirrel.

Willis O. Dr. C. J. Hemminger, of Rockwood, testified that he had been summoned to the Trimpey bedside on the morning of the shooting. He found the patient made a superficial examination of the wounds, discovering that there were a number of them, 31 or 32 in all, and that symptoms of peritonitis had already developed. He recommended an operation and suggested that it be performed at the Markleton Free Hospital, where proper accessories and conveniences could be obtained. "I told Trimpey that he was a desperately sick man and that his only hope of living rested in an operation," Dr. Hays testified.

Witness operated on Trimpey at 10 o'clock that night, the operation lasting for 45 minutes. Sixteen holes found in the bowels were closed. The bowels and peritoneum were inflamed. Dr. Hays said that Trimpey had died of peritonitis.

At this point the Commonwealth called and Attorney John A. Berkey called the case to the jury for the prisoner.

Cramer's Own Story.

The defendant Henry C. Cramer, was called to the witness stand at 2:15 o'clock Friday afternoon. The prisoner seemed anxious for the opportunity to tell his side of the dispute, which terminated with the death of William H. Trimpey. He stepped forward to the clerk's desk with all the lthiness of an athlete. After he had solemnly affirmed to tell the truth he made himself comfortable in the raised chair by the side of the bench, and when directed by Attorney Berkey to proceed, spoke out in a tone that reached easily to the farthest corner of the room, jammed with people, all breathlessly anxious to hear him testify.

The defendant said, "I was 56 years old yesterday; have 5 living children, 4 daughters and 1 son. My youngest daughter, Sadie, lives at home. I am a blacksmith, farmer, and a veterinarian of medicine; have blacksmithed at Kingwood for 32 years, and have followed blacksmithing for 38 years altogether." Cramer stated that after he had purchased the old Romeburg farm, adjoining William H. Trimpey's farm, he had spoken to Trimpey about the private road and asked if he would be permitted to use it the same as former occupants of the place. Trimpey's answer was "Not a d—d bit of it," the witness said. On another occasion when the defendant suggested to Trimpey that he would like to get along peaceably with him, he said Trimpey answered: "I don't want a d—d thing to do with you." Another incident of the unfriendliness of Trimpey towards the witness occurred when the latter and a boy named Roy Hochsettler were driving a cow through the Trimpey road to Cramer's farm. Cramer said he sent the boy on ahead and that when he reached the

Dr. G. W. Smeltz, a member of the Markleton Free Hospital surgical staff, was the first witness called Friday morning. He described the operation performed on Trimpey and stated that Trimpey's death was caused by inflammation of the peritoneum.

The doctor told Trimpey that he might live for 72 hours and that his only hope of recovery rested in an operation, and even then the patient would have but one chance in a thousand of recovery. Dr. Hemminger corroborated the evidence of witnesses who preceded him on the stand regarding statements made by Trimpey in his presence as to who had shot him.

Dr. H. S. Kimmel, County Coroner, testified as to the inquest held on the body of Trimpey and of the post mortem examination made by him. He was not asked for an opinion as to what had caused Trimpey's death.

Dr. George L. Hays, of Pittsburgh, stated that he had been called to the Trimpey residence by Dr. Hemminger, arriving about 6 o'clock or earlier on the afternoon of the shooting. He Trimpey's answer was "Not a d—d bit of it," the witness said. On another occasion when the defendant suggested to Trimpey that he would like to get along peaceably with him, he said Trimpey answered: "I don't want a d—d thing to do with you." Another incident of the unfriendliness of Trimpey towards the witness occurred when the latter and a boy named Roy Hochstetler were driving a cow through the Trimpey road to Cramer's farm. Cramer said he sent the boy on ahead and that when he reached the house Trimpey appeared at the gate with a hatchet in his hand and demanding to know where they were going, ordered them away with an oath. Cramer said that Trimpey had driven the pin, holding the gate through which he desired to drive the cow so tight it would have taken a sledge to remove it. Continuing the defendant enumerated many alleged unfriendly acts on the part of Trimpey.

Quarrels with Trimpey.

Cramer next told of his unsuccessful effort to buy a strip of land which would have given him a private road to his farm, and of his consulting with attorneys as to what steps he should take in order to secure a road. He was advised by counsel to petition the court for a road, which he did with the result that the road was ordered. He described minutely the fences, one wire and the other rail, which he had erected on opposite sides of his private road, and how he discovered one day that a strip about 8 feet wide had been removed from the wire fence, and how from time to time he found the rail fence torn down at the intersection of the Trimpey and Cramer private roads and of his having rebuilt it. Cramer next described several quarrels he had with Trimpey, who according to his statement, was always the aggressor, and of his finally having made an information against Trimpey for assault. On the day Trimpey was arrested, Cramer said he heard Trimpey declare that "he could cut the heart out of Cramer, and would cut it out." Witness said that he was so terrified at the time that he went from his blacksmith shop to his house and hid. Coming down to the day preceding the murder Cramer testified that he was plowing corn with little Dwight Shelley. Some time in the afternoon he heard a wagon pass through the Braucher woods, and about 4:30 o'clock he stopped plowing and cut two clubs, which he said were to be used to defend himself in case he was attacked. With the Shelley boy he went to the road crossing where he found the rail fence down. He built the fence and returned home, where Amos Harbaugh was waiting at his shop with some work he wanted done. Witness told Amos that he had interfered with his calculations, which, he said on the witness stand included getting two or three men to go with him to watch who had been tearing down the fence, in order that he could have the person brought into court. When his wife told him that Trimpey had returned to his home, Cramer abandoned watching.

Groundhog Hunt Ends in Homicide.

Cramer said that he arose at 6 o'clock on the morning of the shooting and about 6 o'clock took the shot gun he had borrowed from Elmer Sanner and started for his farm, passing Mrs. Sechler, as testified to by that lady. He had planned to shoot a ground hog or two, he said, and had shot at one while he was in sight of Trimpey's house, and while Trimpey was standing in front of his hog pen. After this he went to another part of the farm looking for groundhogs, finally arriving at the spot where the fence was torn down. Placing the gun against the fence, in his private road about two and a half rods from the scene of the shooting, he started to rebuild the fence. In the course of six or seven minutes he heard Trimpey approaching, swearing at the top of his voice and applying all sorts of opprobrious epithets to witness.

"When Trimpey was within two or three rods of me," Cramer testified, "carrying his right hand behind his back and shaking his left hand at me, shouting, 'I've got you now.' I ran down the road, picked up the gun and without taking aim fired. I saw Trimpey fall forward on his hands and knees, but I was so scared that I kept through a broken window. After this he joined the Shelley boy and as it was too damp, owing to the heavy dew of the night before, to plow corn, he decided to build some fence.

Cramer declared with as much positiveness as he was capable of mustering that he had shot Trimpey when he believed his own life to be in danger, and believing that Trimpey had a weapon of some kind in his right hand he ran away from him in terror. He excused himself for not having gone to the Trimpey house when he saw people collecting there on the ground that he was not feeling well and was afraid to do so. He recalled having spoken to Mrs. Susan Sechler while on his way home to dinner, but insisted that he had not said, as testified by her, "I didn't do it," but on the other hand had said to Mrs. Sechler, "I'm going to dinner."

Weak Memory.

On cross-examination Cramer developed a weak memory and failed to recall many of the statements he was alleged by witnesses for the Commonwealth to have made in their presence. He stated that he had not told the Shelley boy on the evening before the shooting that he (Cramer) would return to watch who was tearing down the fence and declared that he did not recall of the Shelley boy telling him of his having passed Trimpey lying in blood, and of saying "some one must have shot him." He denied the Shelley boy's statement concerning the gun report heard at 9:15 o'clock and of telling him to remember the incident as he might have to swear to it sometime. He denied having spoken to young Shelley of "the parade" at the Trimpey place, or of asking Roy Stoner, who was going to summon a doctor, "what happened back there?" or of referring to the people at the Trimpey place as a "procession." He said that he was afraid to go to Trimpey's house, and that he was unable to demonstrate the position in which he had held the gun at the time he shot Trimpey. He acknowledged having made evasive answers to the officers when they inquired about the gun, but had told them that they would find it at his farm house. Cramer said that he had fired two loads from the same barrel of the gun, one at a groundhog and the other at Trimpey, and that he had thrown the first shell away in the woods. He identified the clubs offered in evidence as the ones he had cut to "protect" himself while rebuilding the fence. He denied having ever made any of the threats testified to by witnesses for the Commonwealth. He said that he told no one of his having shot Trimpey until after he was placed in jail, when he told his attorney C. F. Uhl. When the defendant left the stand a recess was taken until 7:30 P. M.

When his wife told him that Trimpey had returned to his home, Cramer abandoned watching.

I saw Trimpey fall forward on his hands and knees, but I was so scared that I kept on running through the woods, finally stopping at a chestnut tree, where I rested the gun against the tree."

Cramer said that he continued on until he came up with young Shelley and told him to ride the horse around to the corn field. Cramer then went back for the gun and taking it to the unoccupied farm house placed it inside the fence and declared that he had no recall of the Shelley boy telling him of his having passed Trimpey lying in blood, and of saying "some one must have shot him." He denied the Shelley boy's statement concerning the gun report heard at 9:15 o'clock and of telling him to remember the incident as he might have to swear to it sometime. Other Defense Witnesses.

When court reconvened Roy Hostetler, aged 14, was called to corroborate Cramer concerning the cow incident as testified by the defendant.

Elmer Braucher and his father, Harrison Braucher, were next called and both told of having heard Trimpey say on the day before the shooting that he would wade in blood up to his ears before he would let Hen Cramer get

CRAMER ON TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Case Will Hardly Reach the Jury before End of the Present Week.

The trial of Henry C. Cramer of Kingwood on the charge of having murdered William Trimpey on May 9th has attracted many persons to Somerset this week. The case was taken up at 9 o'clock Monday morning when the work of empanelling a jury was begun and not concluded before 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the regular and several special venirees having been exhausted before the twelfth man was accepted. The twelve men who will decide Cramer's fate are:

George H. Bowman, Boxwell.
James E. Corbett, Quemahoning.
George A. Will, Allegheny Twp.
Edward Figgie, Jenner Twp.
William Hrubaker, Somerset Twp.
William F. Shaulis, Jenner Twp.
Alex Launtz, Somerset Twp.
Richard Glatfelter, Elk Lick.
Harry L. Spangler, Stonycreek Twp.
William F. Glessner, Jenner Twp.
Edward L. Spangler, Somerset Twp.
Lee Emerick, Shanksville.

The prosecution is being conducted by District Attorney Saylor, assisted by Norman T. Hooper, Esq., who represents the Trimpey family. Berkey & Shaver and Charles F. Uhl are counsel for the defense.

The widow and father of the murdered man are in court and were frequently consulted by the district attorney and counsel for the prosecution in the selection of the jury. Cramer occupies a seat at a table with his counsel and frequently consults with them. His wife sits by his side. He looks well and is bearing up well considering the jeopardy he is in.

After the jurors were sworn in counsel for the defense made a motion that they be taken to view the ground where the murder occurred. The motion was allowed and the jurors were taken to the scene of the crime, accompanied by Judge Ruppel, Sheriff Hochard, District Attorney Saylor, and Attorney Charles F. Uhl. Important locations that will be brought out by material evidence in the case were pointed out for the guidance of the jury and the party then returned to Somerset.

The trial commenced Wednesday morning. About 120 witnesses have been subpoenaed, and if all of these are called the trial will not be concluded before the end of the present

HARTLEY RETURNED FROM WAR ZONE

Pioneer Meyersdale Merchant Back from Blooddrenched Europe.

S. C. HARTLEY.

No, gentle reader, this is not a picture of a German or Russian spy. The whiskers are not a disguise, but natural facial foliage not grown while the subject of this sketch was in Europe. They were grown right here in Meyersdale when hirsute adornments of the male physiognomy were yet much in vogue and when Mr. Hartley's locks were not yet streaked with gray. He had no whiskers when he left for Europe three months ago, and none when he came back, except a mustache.

Mr. Hartley arrived home on Duquesne Tuesday morning. His wife, son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hohlitzell, and his son, Earl Hartley, and business associates, W. H. Baldwin and P. D. Clutton, some of his employees and a Republican representative were at the H. & O. station to give him the glad hand and congratulate him on his safe return from abroad where travel is now hazardous.

Mr. Hartley left here the latter part of June for a three months' tour of Europe, in company with two of his brothers, J. M. Hartley of Fairmont, W. Va., and H. P. Hartley of Beaver, Pa., Rev. John Langdale of Cincinnati, former pastor of the M. E. church of Meyersdale, and a number of other friends. They sailed from New York, June 25, on the steamer Pennsylvania for Hamburg, Germany, and toured a good part of that country, Italy and Switzerland before the war broke out. for the defense.

The widow and father of the murdered man are in court and were frequently consulted by the district attorney and counsel for the prosecution in the selection of the jury. Cramer occupies a seat at a table with his counsel and frequently consults with them. His wife sits by his side. He looks well and is hearing up well considering the jeopardy he is in.

After the jurors were sworn in counsel for the defense made a motion that they be taken to view the ground where the murder occurred. The motion was allowed and the jurors were taken to the scene of the crime, accompanied by Judge Ruppel, Sheriff Huchard, District Attorney Saylor, and Attorney Charles F. Uhl. Important locations that will be brought out by material evidence in the case were pointed out for the guidance of the jury and the party then returned to Somerset.

The trial commenced Wednesday morning. About 120 witnesses have been subpoenaed, and if all of these are called the trial will not be concluded before the end of the present week.

Both Cramer and his alleged victim, Trimpey, resided only a short distance from Kingwood for many years and they were equally well known to the people of that place. It is little wonder, therefore, that almost the entire adult population is attending the trial. The courthouse is so crowded that all who desire are unable to gain admission. Kingwood and vicinity are represented at the trial by more than 100 people.

Trimpey had a private road through his farm. Cramer wanted a private road to his home and secured the right of way through court proceedings. Later he built a fence along his road and this cut off the private road of Trimpey. The latter opened the fence at his road on several occasions. Stones were piled by Cramer to block any entrance to or exit from the Trimpey road and these stones Trimpey broke up with a sledge hammer and removed in order that his road would not be blockaded. Then came the murder and Cramer is accused of having committed it.

The first witness called was Capt. W. M. Schrock, a surveyor, who had prepared a map of the scene of the murder. As soon as he took the stand the defense began filing objections to almost all the evidence offered by the prosecution and this led at once to the belief that the case will be bitterly fought.

The only witnesses of the day were the wife and daughter of the murdered man, Mrs. Ella Nechler Trimpey and Miss Lola Trimpey, the latter 14 years of age. Although the defense showed its intention to do all in its power to exclude from the testimony the death-bed statement of with gray. He had no whiskers when he left for Europe three months ago, and none when he came back, except a mustache.

Mr. Hartley arrived home on Duquesne Tuesday morning. His wife, son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hobbittell, and his son, Earl Hartley, and business associates, W. H. Baldwin and P. D. Clutton, some of his employees and a Republican representative were at the B. & O. station to give him the glad hand and congratulate him on his safe return from abroad where travel is now hazardous.

Mr. Hartley left here the latter part of June for a three months' tour of Europe, in company with two of his brothers, J. M. Hartley of Fairmont, W. Va., and H. P. Hartley of Beaver, Pa., Rev. John Langdale of Cincinnati, former pastor of the M. E. church of Meyersdale, and a number of other friends. They sailed from New York, June 25, on the steamer Pennsylvania for Hamburg, Germany, and toured a good part of that country, Italy and Switzerland before the war broke out. They were at Luzerne, Switzerland, at the outbreak of hostilities, and had intended to go thence down the Rhine and tour Holland, Belgium, France and Great Britain, before returning home in September. But the war compelled them to change their plans.

They were detained at Luzerne two weeks before they could get transportation out of Switzerland. Finally they got a train to Paris, but it took four days to make the trip which is ordinarily only about a good day's journey. They spent several days in Paris which was then already in great dread of the invading Germans. All the places of amusement, many of the business houses and public buildings were closed up and there was not the least sign of the gaiety for which Paris is noted the world over. Instead, the Parisians went about with blanched faces and doleful countenances as though everyone was mourning the death of a dear friend or relative. They had no trouble in getting from Paris to Havre by train and by ship from the French port to London. While waiting for passage home on the S. S. St. Paul they made a hasty tour of England, Scotland and Wales, which they enjoyed very much as they found the country very beautiful.

They boarded the St. Paul on Saturday, Sept. 12, but it was 24 hours later before the great liner got under way, and they consequently arrived at New York one day later than they expected. The Hartley Bros. all returned together and went directly to their several homes. Rev. Langdale remained in England for a later sailing as he intended to stop at Halifax for a visit with friends in Nova Scotia before returning to the United States.

The homeward voyage was very rough, but Mr. Hartley stood it very well and returned home in good health.

After the first song, "Fair Amity," the pastor called on various persons for short addresses, of a congratulatory nature, beginning with the chairman of the building committee, Mrs. W. Truxal. Others who spoke were Rev. A. S. Glessner, W. Habel, Barney J. Smith, Miss Baer, Miss Edith Wilhelm, and the editors of the two Meyersdale newspapers, W. S. Livengood and Kimber Cleaver. All expressed their joy and satisfaction over the completion of the church improvements, and congratulated the pastor, the building committee and the congregation on now having probably the most complete establishment for church work in Somerset county, as well as one of the most attractive and commodious sanctuaries, the interior arrangement and decoration of which seem to inspire all who enter the holy place with sincere adoration of the Most High God.

After the speaking and more singing, the congregation repaired in response to the dining hall where refreshments were served, the ladies of the church having provided an abundance of cakes and coffee, and the pastor an inexhaustible supply of ice cream. 22½ gallons of the ozen sweet being consumed. Singing with the Amity congregation were members of other churches and specially invited guests, all of whom entered into the spirit of the occasion and lingered until a late hour in social intercourse, with frequent bursts of song from the jubilee Men's Class. Taken all in all was the most auspicious church convention yet held in Amity Hall.

Friday and Saturday Services.

On Friday evening Rev. D. W. Michael of the Lutheran church of own preached an acceptable sermon on the text, "Except the Lord build the house they labor in vain that build it." The speaker emphasized the fact that any proper and good work undertaken without any consideration of God's relation to it and without reliance upon him could prove a failure. Therefore rest and all the time trust in the help of the Lord.

At the Saturday evening services Prof. J. C. Bowman, D. D., of the theological Seminary at Lancaster, Pa., preached the sermon on the words, "Know ye not that your bodies are the temples of the Holy Ghost?" He developed from this text the theme of the relation of the outward and inward in all things, and especially in religious affairs. "Two, go together, and are vital to each other, yet the most important is the inward." The out-successful conclusion of the work undertaken by them a year or two ago and expresses the wish and hope that they may accomplish much good religiously and morally for the benefit of the people of this town and community, which they have already done in a large measure.

Trimpey, evidence of that nature reached the jury through the testimony of Mrs. Trimpey and her daughter, which was unshaken after a most rigid cross-examination.

They testified that when Trimpey was found on the private road of his farm, mortally wounded, he had stated that Cramer stepped from behind a maple tree and shot him. They also testified that shortly after Trimpey left his home they heard the report of a gun and a scream which they recognized as his voice. They ran to the place where they heard him and there found him lying on the ground, with a large hole in his abdomen and engaged in prayer. Trimpey told them that he was about to die and that a doctor would be of no use to him in that condition.

Mrs. Trimpey testified that she at once left the place and ran to her home, telephoning to neighbors and to Kingwood for assistance. The daughter testified that she remained with her father and a short time later saw Cramer making away with a shotgun in one hand. She made the identification very positive, declaring that she knew Cramer as long as she had known anyone and that she recognized him plainly. She also testified to the removal of her father to the Markleton sanatorium where he died the following morning.

Beware of Fire.

The prevailing dry weather has caused the leaves to wither and fall rapidly during the past week. The ground is covered with dry leaves wherever there are trees around houses, and Chief of Police Hare cautions everybody to be careful about fire as there is great danger of flames being communicated to buildings from burning leaves. Owing to the present water shortage, an outbreak of fire would be disastrous. There is an ordinance against burning dry leaves in the streets and it is equally dangerous to burn them on grounds surrounding houses.

NO INSINUATION AGAINST WINNERS OF AUTO RACE.

The item in last week's Republican in connection with the automobile race at the Fair between cars representing the local garages, stating that the Overland and Ford cars had been tampered with, was not intended in anywise to reflect on the proprietors of the Meyersdale Auto Co., O. C. Gurley and F. W. Block, whose car won the race. Mr. Itelch, driver of the Overland, and Mr. Benny, driver of the Ford, both openly declared after the race that their cars had been tampered with but they did not charge their rival with being the author of the mischief, nor has The Republican heard any intimation to that effect. The editor of The Republican does not believe, and never has believed, that Mr. Gurley or Mr. Block would resort to any trickery to win a race, as he has always regarded them as honorable men. In justice to them it must be said that they simply went into the race to oblige the Fair association, and Mr. Gurley did not take his car to the race track until called by telephone 10 minutes before the race. He did not consider either of the smaller cars a match for his 60-horsepower racer, "Lizzie," and therefore did not practice for the race. The little Ford racer, the "Wasp" made some very fast laps during practice, but failed in the race, the driver, Mr. Benny, alleging mischief to his car as the cause. Messrs. Gurley and Block say that if Mr. Benny is not satisfied that he was beaten fairly, they will wager $1,000 that old "Lizzie" can outrun the "Wasp" any old time that will suit Mr. Benny, or his backers, when the "Wasp's" engine is working perfectly.

HORSETHIEF CAUGHT ADMITS HIS GUILT

Wm. J. Deener of Garrett Culprit Who "Borrowed" Boose's Nags.

The thief who stole Walter Boose's fine team of blacks and buggy a month or two ago and abandoned them at the E. Lichty schoolhouse, has been apprehended and admits his guilt. Wm. J. Deener, a young coal miner of Garrett is the miscreant who pleads guilty to the charge.

Deener was arrested by Constable Harvey Bittner Wednesday, after having been under suspicion for some time. On the night that the team was stolen from the Shipley hitching rack in Dale street, a young man answering his description was seen driving away with the team by Henry Gumbert and a man named Domer, both from near Pine Hill.

A bandage was found at the place where the team was abandoned, with blood spots on it indicating that the man who had worn it had two wounds close together on one of his limbs. Deener was seen at the Slicer hotel with such a bandage around his forearm shortly before the team was stolen. Constable Bittner had been watching him for some time, and on Wednesday when he was in town he had his sleeves rolled up. Bittner noticed two scars on his arm that corresponded with the blood spots on the bandage that had been picked up on the night that the horses were stolen.

Putting two and two together, Bittner deemed that he had enough circumstantial evidence to warrant Deener's arrest, so he took him in custody and locked him up in the borough jail. When told of the charge against him, Deener at first denied his guilt. Gumbert and Domer were brought in and identified him as the man they saw taking the team. After being confronted with other evidence, the culprit threw up his hands and admitted that he took the team, but alleged that he was intoxicated at the time and did not know what he was doing.

He was arraigned before Squire Hay and pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny to-wit: horse-stealing. He

TRIAL OF CRAMER EXCITES INTEREST

Friends Believe Him to Be Innocent of the Murder of Trimpey.

Interest in the September term of the Court of Quarter Sessions which convened at Somerset Monday morning, centers in the trial of Henry C. Cramer of Upper Turkeyfoot Township, on the charge of murdering William Trimpey on June 11th. The grand jury of which Edward Smith of Stoyestown is foreman, returned a true bill against Cramer and it is probable that the selection of petit jurors for his trial will begin about Saturday. Circumstantial evidence against Cramer is strong, and Trimpey made an ante-mortem statement charging him with the crime, but there was no eye-witness to the shooting, and there are persons who believe Cramer to be innocent of the shedding of Trimpey's blood. One of these, a woman of Meyersdale, who requests her name to be withheld, has addressed a letter to The Republican on the subject, reading as follows:

"The trial of Henry C. Cramer, accused of the murder of Wm. Trimpey, who was shot on the morning of June 11th, has been set for September 17th. The shooting occurred about a half-mile from Kingwood on Cramer's private road leading to his farm which the court previously granted Cramer.

"Cramer is a son of the late Chas. R. Cramer, and is one of Somerset County's leading and most highly respected citizens. He was born and raised at Kingwood and has followed the blacksmith trade for more than 30 years, and is considered one of the best mechanics in the country. He also held the position as postmaster in Kingwood during President Cleveland's administration.

"Mr. Cramer is well and favorably known in and about Meyersdale and his many friends are in deep sympathy and miss him even as much as his family as he was a man ever willing and ready to lend a helping hand in time of need.

"While he is the accused murderer of Wm. Trimpey, he is known to be a superior citizen. Cramer is an active member of the Brethren church."

PRISON SENTENCE FOR HENRY CRAMER

Slayer of Trimpey Taken to Penitentiary in a Very Penitent Mood.

Henry C. Cramer, convicted of manslaughter for the killing of William Trimpey on May 9, last, near Kingwood, was taken to the Western Penitentiary by Sheriff Hochard this (Thursday) morning, to undergo solitary confinement and hard labor, for a period of not less than five years and not more than eight years, which was the sentence imposed upon him by Judge Ruppel on Monday morning. In addition to the above sentence, the condemned man must pay all the costs of prosecution, amounting to about one thousand dollars.

Cramer was in a repentant mood as he started on his term of penance.

A number of years ago he united with the Church of the Brethren, but honored the tenets of the church more in the breach than in the observance. His name remained on the membership roll of the Middlecreek congregation, however.

Thoroughly Penitent.

His conviction of manslaughter put in jeopardy his right to have his name continued on the church roll, and when the question was brought to the attention of officers of the Middlecreek district of that denomination, Elder Silas Hoover and Peter Speicher, both of Somerset Township, were appointed to call upon the convicted man and ascertain from him his position; to learn whether he still undertook to justify his act in taking the life of William C. Trimpey, and whether he desired to continue his church membership. These gentlemen called at the jail shortly after sentence had been pronounced, and they report that Mr. Cramer is thoroughly penitent; that he expressed the deepest sorrow for what he had done; that he admitted that he should not have gone down to that road that morning, and that he was deeply sorry for having committed an

SMALL CYCLONE IN PECK CORNER

Oct 8, 1914

Queer Meteorological Freak Cuts Stange Capers in a Corn Field.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peck and Miss Cora Peck of Maple Glen (Peck Corner) who were Meyersdale visitors last Saturday brought news of a peculiar meteorological freak in that vicinity last Thursday, in the form of a miniature cyclone. It happened in Lewis Peck's cornfield where Mr. Peck's farm-hands were husking corn.

Without any preliminary signs of aerial disturbance a whirlwind suddenly cavorted through the field, first hitting Dan Burkholder, whisking his hat off his head and almost pulling his hair out by the roots. The wind did not envelop his body at all, but simply snatched the hat off his head and made every hair stand on end straight upward. The hat went whirling off into the upper atmosphere.

The twister dropped to the ground a short distance beyond Burkholder and caught up two shocks of unhusked corn and two shocks of fodder which were lifted bodily from the earth and whirled up into the air above the tops of tall sugar trees. After being thrashed around above the tree-tops for a short period, the heavy corn stalks and ears of corn fell back to the ground, stripped of all the dry blades of corn-fodder which were carried off across Negro Mountain. The uncut corn stalks to which the shocks of corn were anchored were torn up by the roots and carried up into the air with the shocks.

The little cyclone did not strike anywhere else than Peck's corn-field; so far as has been learned.

pressed the deepest sorrow for what he had done; that he admitted that he should not have gone down to that road that morning, and that he was deeply sorry for having committed an unlawful and unchristian act. Above all, Mr. Cramer said that he did not want to have his name dropped from the church roll. The three men knelt in prayer, while Elder Hoover asked a divine blessing and forgiveness of the defendant's sin.

Counsel Spoke for Him.

In directing the defendant to stand up for sentence, Judge Ruppel asked Cramer if he had anything to say.

He arose promptly, and nervously kept twitching his hands back of him. He said: "Your Honor, my counsel have spoken for me."

Attorneys C. F. Uhl and J. A. Berkey, who put up a strong legal fight for their client throughout the trial of the last week, took up the threads of any arguments overlooked in their pleas to the jury, and pressed them upon the Court. Because of the action of the jury in recommending mercy, Mr. Uhl contended, the Court should be governed by that recommendation, and especially so because of the reported fact that at one period of the balloting, six of the jurors voted for the acquittal of Mr. Cramer. The defendant had suffered for his crime, and would suffer until his dying day, Mr. Uhl said, and for that reason the court should not give him a long term of imprisonment and thus prevent him from earning a livelihood, and of becoming a better citizen, and of use to society.

Mr. Berkey's Plea.

Mr. Berkey said that before the trial of Henry C. Cramer, the sentiment throughout the county was very much against him, and that it was reflected in the public press, but that since the trial—since the public had had an opportunity to hear the defendant's story of his trouble with William C. Trimpey—there had been a marked change in the sentiment, according to the reports he had received. He too, thought that the recommendation of the jury for mercy should have weight with the Court in the imposition of a sentence.

Another feature of the case discussed by Attorney Berkey was the allegation that the Commonwealth produced none of the shot that entered Trimpey's body. The defense, he smallest shot used. It was argued to the Court such small shot, from a smooth-bore gun which caused them to spread, would not have entered a man's body when fired from the maple tree Trimpey pointed out at a distance of 70 feet. Attorney Berkey argued that in the opinion of anybody who ever used a shotgun the size of the shot corroborated Cramer's story that he fired at close range in defense of his life.

The defendant's attorneys concluded their appeals for mercy under the recommendation of the jury by declaring that the ends of justice would be met if the Court were to impose no more severe penalty than a jail sentence.

Sentiment Against Slayer.

District Attorney Saylor took issue with Mr. Berkey as to the trend of public sentiment. The reports that he had received since the trial, he stated, did not coincide with the reports that Mr. Berkey had spoken of.
The District Attorney said that since the trial, more than one hundred persons had spoken to him concerning the verdict; that it had become a source of annoyance to him, and of that number only one person, a resident of this borough, had said that the verdict was a just one.

Mr. Saylor stated that the three jurors had called at his office to learn what the minimum sentences could be for convictions of murder of the second degree, and of manslaughter, informing him that they had been told in the jury room that the minimum sentence for the former was twenty years, and for manslaughter, ten years. When he read the law to them showing that the maximum penalty for manslaughter was twelve years, the jurors seemed to be amazed. Therefore, Mr. Saylor argued, that if the Court imposed a minimum sentence of ten years upon Cramer, the prisoner would be receiving the mercy of the jurors were asking for. The evidence in the case warranted a severe sentence, Mr.
Saylor argued.

Jury too Lenient.

hoped that such a verdict would be rendered as to make it necessary for him to say anything further. He argued that the Court should not be governed by the recommendation of mercy, and called attention to the fact that upon occasion Courts have severely rebuked jurors for making such recommendations, which are nothing more or less than encroachments upon the prerogatives of the Court. In this case, Mr. Boose stated, the jurors did not have the moral courage to do their duty to the Commonwealth or to the defendant.
If they believed the defendant's story, that he killed in defense of his own life, they should have acquitted him.
Mr. Boose said, and if they believed that he did not shoot in self-defense, as the Commonwealth contended, they should have returned a verdict of guilty of murder of the first degree. Mr. Boose said that he had learned that a number of persons living at Kingwood and vicinity had been in fear of Mr. Cramer, and that they would not be content with a light sentence.

Court Calls It Murder.

Directing his remarks to Cramer, Judge Ruppel said: "The verdict of the jury establishes the fact that you did not fire the shot in self defense, but the jury probably believed that all the facts of the trouble that morning between you and William Trimpey had not been developed by the testimony; that something happened that neither Trimpey nor you have mentioned." The Court said that while the jury had the right to fix the verdict, this was a case which on its face called for a first degree verdict or acquittal. "It was a cold-blooded, deliberate murder, and the Court is not persuaded that you were bound to fire in self defense," said Judge Ruppel.

Judge Ruppel then read the Act of 1913, under which sentence was imposed, and he said that he would not at this time require Mr. Cramer to give a bond to keep the peace for life, expressing the hope that the defendant would so conduct himself in prison as to make that requirement unnecessary.

The small court-room, in which sentence was imposed, was filled with persons who had followed the trial of this case, among the number being members of Mr. Cramer's family.

Jury too Lenient.

Attorney Norman T. Reese said that when he had finished his duty in his argument to the jury, he had as the Commonwealth contended, they should have returned a verdict of guilty of murder of the first degree. Mr. Reese said that he had learned that a number of persons living at Kingwood and vicinity had been in fear of Mr. Cramer, and that they would not be content with a light sentence.

Court Calls It Murder.

Directing his remarks to Cramer, Judge Ruppel said: "The verdict of the jury establishes the fact that you did not fire the shot in self defense, but the jury probably believed that all the facts of the trouble that morning between you and William Trimpey had not been developed by the testimony; that something happened that neither Trimpey nor you have mentioned." The Court said that while the jury had the right to fix the verdict, this was a case which on its face called for a first degree verdict or acquittal. "It was a cold-blooded, deliberate murder, and the Court is not persuaded that you were bound to fire in self defense," said Judge Ruppel.

Judge Ruppel then read the Act of 1913, under which sentence was imposed, and he said that he would not at this time require Mr. Cramer to give a bond to keep the peace for life, expressing the hope that the defendant would so conduct himself in prison as to make that requirement unnecessary.

The small court-room, in which sentence was imposed, was filled with persons who had followed the trial of this case, among the number being members of Mr. Cramer's family. However, none of them went inside the bar rail to greet him. No one spoke to him except his attorneys.

Guerrillas Kill Missionary

He was killed in the Congo since independence in 1960. Her death brings to four the number of victims of guerrilla gangs led by former education minister Pierre Mulele with Communist Chinese support.

Buller told how he had helped bury three Roman Catholic priests slaughtered by Mulele's guerrillas and local villagers at Kilemba mission last Tuesday night.

"It was horrible," he said with a shudder. The priests were hacked to death with machetes and their bodies mutilated.

Mukedi Not Attacked

The Baptist missionary said Mukedi mission, a few miles north of Kilemba, had not been attacked.

"Mulele's men gave us permission to leave," he said. "The local chief took our side." He said all villagers either sided actively with Mulele or followed him for fear of being killed by his partisans.

Latest reports indicated Mulele's forces were growing rapidly since he unleashed wholesale attacks on mission stations last week. Refugees said he was apparently trying to wipe out all traces of law and order in the region.

Buller who reached Leopoldville from Mukedi with his wife and two children, Jeannette, 8, and Charles, 4, said he saw Miss Farrell signalling desperately for help when he flew over the mission last Wednesday.

Out On Lawn

"She and her friends were out on the lawn," he said. The mission can only be reached from the air by helicopter because there is no landing strip.

"Then we got a letter telling us she was dead—killed by an arrow," he said. Buller and his family come from Mountain Lake, Minn.

Miss Bertha Miller from Glendale, Calif., who reached Leopoldville Sunday from the Congo inland mission's station at Kamayala, said she had been forced to flee because Mulele's men had set fire to the savannah (grass prairie) and the flames were sweeping down into the mission.

The 34-year-old rebel leader began his revolt in Kwilu last summer. Mulele began by fermenting war among his own Babunda tribe and separatist leader Antoine Gizenga's hapende tribe.

So far, in accordance with Chinese precepts, Mulele's men have been armed only with spears, bows and poisoned arrows, smoothbore muskets and homemade Molotov cocktails.

Mulele now has a small quantity of modern arms captured from Congolese soldiers and police. Diplomats in Leopoldville fear the Chinese will make a real effort to supply him with guns to exploit his current success.

Protestant Opens

MOSCOW (AP) — A 300-old Soviet promise was carried out fully Sunday with the opening of the first Protestant church for westerners in Moscow to open in Russia since the Bolshevik revolution of 1917. The chapel wasn't even found. U.S. Ambassador Philip H. Kohler said that westerners used maps to make way to the church set up in a large building in the city.

It was an important step for the Rev. Donald M. Roberts, a Presbyterian, and he copied out maps to his flock find his two tiny homes in the shadow of the University.

Kremlin Promised

When the United States seized the Soviet regime in the Kremlin promised a solution for the religious foreigners. Although Catholic priests from America have been admitted since World War II, it was not until July 1962 that the Soviet government approved entry of Protestant ministers.

Roberts, 36, then past the First Presbyterian in Tonawanda, N.Y., got a pointment to the new international post from the U.S. National Council of Churches.

He and his family arrived in November 1962 and until a few weeks ago lived in a house because of Moscow's housing shortage. During the last months he held service at the U.S. Embassy.

Finally granted the two months by the government, Roberts set about combining and making them ready as a church.

Moscow's western Protestants were not completely served all those years, he said. The Anglican bishop Activity should be throughout the year, the statement said, but the rate of growth will peak out in the quarter.

RAILROAD SOLD TO REORGANIZERS

Western Maryland, Part of Wabash, Knocked Down to Highest Bidder.

One railroad, with its nearly 600 miles of track, including sidings, switches, etc., scores of station buildings, a great number of cars—freight and passenger—and enough locomotives, if strapped together, to pull down Mount McKinley, was put up on the auction block at Hillen Station, Baltimore, Friday morning and knocked down to the sole bidder, representing the reorganization committee of the bondholders of the road—a road was the Western Maryland, which extends from Baltimore to Beltington, W. Va., via Cumberland. Meyersdale is living in hopes of seeing this road built from Cumberland to Pittsburg, via this city. The price offered by the bondholders' committee and accepted was $1,500,000, which was the minimum fixed by the United States Circuit Court. There was no other bid. The bidders representing the committee were Henry B. Cooper and Frank C. Nicodemus, Jr. of New York.

When 10 o'clock, the hour of the sale arrived, there were 100 persons, representative of the business, financial and railroad interests of Baltimore and adjacent cities, gathered at the depot.

The John C. Ross, counsel for R. W. Rabard, receiver of Walton, Purcell, Moorman & Co., formally served a printed notice upon Mr. Hunkley and those contemplating the purchase of the property, that his client holds a claim against the Coal and Iron Railway, a part of the Western Maryland system, for $250,000 and interest from March, 1904, for work and labor done by the former firm of Walton, Purcell, Moorman & Co., and that the sale in no wise would affect the right of the claimant to establish a suit which is now pending in the United States Circuit Court for the Northern District of West Virginia.

as foreclosure was one of the last steps in the reorganization of the property. As soon as the legal details are completed with a new company will be organized under the laws of Maryland and take over the road and franchises.

This company will have an authorized capital stock of $50,000,000 com-

Recent Deaths.

The entire community was shocked at the sad news of the sudden death of this amiable woman, at her home in Kingwood, Pa., at the age of 27 years, 1 month and 10 days, on Wednesday morning, November 17, 1909, of apoplexy. She was the daughter of Mr. John B. Trimpey and the beloved wife of P. A. Kreger. She was loved by all who knew her because of her lovable disposition.

Four brothers and five sisters with her father and husband and two little daughters, Bertha and Gladys, are left to mourn their sad loss. Her mother preceded her to the land of rest almost twenty-five years ago. Her brothers are William H. J. W., E. B. and George Trimpey. Her sisters, Mrs. J. A. Cunningham, Mrs. Charles Sechler, Miss Elmina Trimpey, Mrs. Ella Phillips and Miss Ella Trimpey. These sorrowing friends have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

Funeral services were conducted in the Bethel Church of God, Kingwood, Pa., assisted by the writer. In the presence of a large and weeping audience, after which we laid her to rest in the Lutheran cemetery to await the resurrection of the Just.

Oh sister can the awful truth be true, That thou art sleeping now beneath the sod.

Where flowers weep their pearly tears of dew,
And mourn the precious dust so dear to God?

Oh yes, Too true, no more shall we behold.

Thy radiant smiles like sunbeams on the way.

While at the thought we mourn with grief untold,

Thy sun goes down while yet 'twas scarce mid-day.

Frederick Younkin, third son of Henry and Catherine Younkin, was born in Bucks County, Pa., in 1763. He first married Barbara Deiter, perhaps 3 or 4 children were born to them. Barbara died a few years after marriage, after his wife's death presumably about 1785, 1790, he came to Somerset County, he again married. His second wife was Catherine. He was married the second time, before or after coming to Somerset County, at least on even to his first marriage. Remained in Bucks County possibly being taken care of by his grandmother. A record of his accidental death is recorded in Bucks County Intelligencer, Nov. 6, 1838. Several children were born to wife of second marriage, will only mention one, Frederick F. Younkin, who was born in Somerset County, Pa., in 1801. Fred F. married and went West, four children were born to first marriage. He having gone West, his wife having died a few years later, after her death, he came back to Somerset County, where he again married, several children were born, all being dead, except Henry Younkin, who was born in 1853. He being 85 years of age, living near Rockwood, Pa.

foot township. He was a Democrat and a member of the United Brethren church.

John Liphart married Elizabeth Snyder, of New Lexington, and five children were born to them, among them a son, Moses, of whom later. John Liphart died June, 1899, and the death of his wife occurred 18—.

Moses Liphart, son of John and Elizabeth (Snyder) Liphart, was born November 17, 1848, and, like his father, was a farmer of Upper Turkeyfoot township as a young man, and has always continued to follow the same calling in the same place. He votes with the Democrats and is a member of the United Brethren church. Mr. Liphart married, 1873, Johanna, daughter of Daniel and Susan Swarner, of Middle Creek township, and their children were: 1. John Calvin, of whom later. 2. Daniel, died 1884. 3. Annie, wife of William Wertz, of Summit township; three children, Florence, Harry and —. 4. William, married Edith, daughter of J. J. Kimmell, of Berlin. 5. Susan, wife of Simon Enos, of Upper Turkeyfoot township. 6. Ross.

John Calvin Liphart, son of Moses and Johanna (Swarner) Liphart, received his education in the common schools of his native township, and after completing his course of study taught in those schools for five terms. During several years he was engaged in farming, and has now for eight years successfully conducted a general store at Casselman, and at the same time devoting part of his time and attention to the lumber business. He has filled the offices of Burgess, assessor and school director of Casselman. In politics and religion he maintains the traditions of his family, adhering to the Democratic party and holding membership in the United Brethren church.

Mr. Liphart married, November 28, 1898, Mary, daughter of Samuel and Ellen (Dull) Brougher, of Upper Turkeyfoot township, and they are the parents of one child, Olive, born February 15, 1904.

CHARLES R. McMILLAN.

During the many years that Mr. McMillan has been a resident of Listonburg, he has not only witnessed its progress, but he has also aided in its development, being a promoter of nearly every industry in the community. His life has been a busy and useful one; he has rightly valued every moment given him, and has thus gained a reputation for promptness in originating plans and dispatch in executing them.

John McMillan, great-grandfather of Charles R. McMillan, came to Somerset county from Dauphin county at an early date, and engaged in the tanning business on what is known now as the A. J. Chase farm, at Fort Hill. He had no vats or leaches, and took large chestnut logs and made troughs in which to lime bait and tan his hides. He was probably the first tanner in Somerset county, and his great-grandson, Charles R. McMillan, whose name heads this sketch, is tanning at the present time (1906) on the old methods, being the last one to conduct business along those lines. John Kilpatrick McMillan, grandfather of Charles R. McMillan, married Mary Rush, and their son, John McMillan, father of Charles R. McMillan, married Mary Ann Ream, daughter of Samuel and Mary Ream. John McMillan was the first postmaster at Listonburg, appointed May 28, 1877.

Charles R. McMillan, born January 16, 1866, received a common school education, and his first occupation was that of school teacher, in which capacity he served for ten consecutive winters. Since then he has been engaged in various pursuits, in which he has achieved a well-merited degree of success. He has been a tanner, merchant, manufacturer of woolen goods with Jesse Liston, and through his instrumentality many business industries have been established along White's Creek, a beautiful mountain stream flowing rapidly; its headwaters are at the western base of Negro mountain, and it empties into the Castleman river near Harnedsville. In 1850 it was known as Jones' Mill Run, but between that year and 1856 the name was changed to White's Creek, the reason for this being that the Jones family, who resided where the town of Unamus now is, sold out to the White family. The first settlement at Listonburg was made about the year 1756, or near the time that General Braddock made his famous trip through this region.

Mr. McMillan has always taken an active interest in matters pertaining to the public welfare, especially along educational lines, and served one term of three years as school director. He was elected township clerk at the age of twenty-one, later was elected tax collector, and subsequently served as justice of the peace three terms, in all a period of fifteen years, discharging his duties to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Mr. McMillan married Ida M. Augustine, who died several years ago, leaving two sons: Arthur Columbus and Paul Kilpatrick, both of whom are attending public school and progressing rapidly in their studies.

JESSE LISTON.

Jesse Liston, of Listonburg, was born August 3, 1839, in Addison township, son of Thomas Liston, who was born 1809 at Selbysport, Garrett county, Maryland, and came to Somerset county in order to take charge of the Cantner woolen factory, Somerset. Later he took charge of the Listonburg woolen mill, which he conducted for many years. His political principles were those indorsed by the Democratic party. He was in early life a member of the Presbyterian church, but subsequently united with the Methodist Episcopal church.

Thomas Liston married Elizabeth, daughter of Henry Keller, of Somerset, and their children were: 1. Ellazana, died 1903, wife of George Wass, lumberman of Addison township; twelve children, all deceased, with the exception of Amanda and Laura; the former is the wife of Luther Lininger, of near Confluence, Fayette county; they have twelve children. 2. Juliana, wife of Alfred Mitchell, of Listonburg; seven children: John; Felicia; Bruce; Wallace; Edwin; Laura; and Albert. 3. Jeremiah, of Braddock, married Mary Coburn, who died, leaving three children, Milton, Frank and Emma; second wife, Emma Windner; five children: Albert; Mayne; Camille; Sadie (drowned when a child in the creek at Listonburg); and one who died unnamed. 4. Mary, wife of Alexander Van Horn; two children, Thomas and Adelia; Mr. Van Horn served during the Civil war in the Eleventh Regiment, Pennsylvania Reserves, and was killed in the Peninsula; his widow married Otto Speelman; two children, Norval and Ellen. 5. Rachel, wife of Eli Burnworth, of Illinois; four children: Thomas; Jennie; Atha; and John. 6. Jesse, of whom later. 7. Simon, died 1901, married Salome Younkin; three children, Alice, Edward and Jennie. 8. Died unnamed. 9. Sarah Ellen, drowned at three years of age in the millpond at Listonburg. 10. Thomas, died at the age of one year. Mr. Liston, the father, died 1875.

Jesse Liston, son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Keller) Liston, received his education in the common schools of his native township and at the old Somerset Academy. For forty-three years he conducted the woolen mills at Listonburg, being at the same time engaged in mercantile business. He has recently retired. During the Civil war he enlisted, September 22, 1862, in Company B, Fifty-fourth Regiment, Pennsylvania Reserves, under Captain Hight, and participated in the following battles: Cherry Run; Williamsport, Maryland; Hedgesville, and many others, being wounded at the battle of Newmarket, Virginia. He was honorably discharged June 7, 1865. He is a Democrat and a member of the Southern Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. Liston married, September, 1870, Susan, daughter of John and Mary Ann (Ream) McMillan, of Addison township, and they have been the parents of two sons, Harry and Thomas, both deceased.

JEROME H. JUDY.

Jerome H. Judy, a prominent merchant of Garrett, Pennsylvania, was born on the home farm, two miles north of Garrett, May 14, 1853, son of Jonathan and Eve (Chressner) Judy, and grandson of Cornelius Judy, one of the early settlers of Brothers Valley township.

Jonathan Judy (father) was born in Brothers Valley township, and in connection with farming operated a sawmill, making from the trees of that region farm and house lumber. He was a member of the German Baptist church and a Republican in politics. The children of Jonathan and Eve (Chressner) Judy were: Jacob; Jerome H., of whom later; William; John; Cornelius, a sketch of whom appears elsewhere in this work; Polly; Malinda; and Caroline. Jonathan Judy (father) died in 1899 and his wife in 1902.

Jerome H. Judy was reared on the farm and attended the township schools. He assisted with the labors of the farm and sawmill until attaining his majority, and in the meantime attended the Berlin Normal School and thus became qualified to teach, which occupation he followed for one term in the Brothers Valley school. The four years following his coming of age he worked around among the different farmers, and at the expiration of this period of time, 1879, served as clerk in the store of Frank Enos at Garrett. The following year he formed a partnership with his cousin, Samuel Judy, bought out the Enos store and business, and for four years conducted a general store under the firm name of J. H. & S. Judy. In 1884 Jerome H. Judy retired from the firm, selling out his interest. The firm owned timber land and a sawmill, and for the following year he was employed in that department. His next business move was the erection of a store building and residence in Garrett adjoining his former place of business, and in 1886 he opened there a general store. In 1890 he bought out the older store of Samuel Judy and combined the two stores under his own name, J. H. Judy. The store occupies the first floor of the whole block and is well stocked with all that is necessary in a general country store. The business is managed by his son, Frank E. In addition to this property, Mr. Judy is the owner of a farm near Garrett, which is in charge of his son, Albert B. Mr. Judy is treasurer of the Garrett Water Company and a director in the First National Bank of Garrett. He is interested in western mines and in the Somerset Pump Company, of Somerset, Pennsylvania. Mr. Judy was formerly a Democrat, but for the past four years has worked and voted with the Prohibitionists. He served the borough of Garrett in the capacity of councilman.

Mr. Judy married, July 1, 1880, Barbara, a native of Somerset county, daughter of William Burkholder, of Somerset county, and their children are: Frank E., manager of his father's store in Garrett; he married Missouri Peterman; Charles, who met a sad death in Garrett, April 14, 1891, by being crushed by a moving train on the Berlin branch, at six

Mrs. Salome Liston Expires At Home Of Her Daughter Mrs. G. A. Miller

Mrs. Salome (Younkin) Liston passed peacefully from life early Tuesday morning at the residence of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Miller, of Rockwood, aged 84 years and 10 months.

She was a daughter of Frederick F. and Sarah (Faidley) Younkin, early and respected residents of the Kingwood community in Upper Turkeyfoot Township.

Mrs. Liston and her husband, Simon Liston, who preceded her to the grave thirty-four years ago, began their domestic life on the former's parental homestead, where Mrs. Liston continued to reside for a number of years after her husband's death, and where her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Henry, now live.

Mrs. Liston was a life-long and faithful member of the Lutheran Church, first at Kingwood and in later years at Rockwood. Devoted to her family and always accounted a good neighbor, she was esteemed by all who knew her.

It is worthy of special mention that Mrs. Liston descended from Revolutionary War ancestry, since her great-grand father, David Kridler, who reposes in a cemetery at Salisbury, Pa., was a soldier in that memorable, nation-founding conflict.

Surviving Mrs. Liston are the following children: Mr. E. C. Liston, of White City, Kansas; Mrs. H. F. Henry, of Upper Turkeyfoot Township, and Mrs. G. A. Miller, of Rockwood. Two children died in childhood.

She leaves eight grand children and five great-grand children.

One brother, Mr. Henry Younkin, of Milford Township, also survives. He is the last member remaining of the Frederick F. and Sarah (Faidley) Younkin family.

The funeral was held yesterday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Liston's brother-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Miller, of Rockwood, conducted by her pastor, the Rev. V. N. Miller, of St. Luke's Lutheran Church at Rockwood.

Interment was subsequently made in the Lutheran Cemetery at Kingwood by Funeral Directors Mills & Mickey of Rockwood.

Groundbreaking held at Kingwood

KINGWOOD - A few years ago, there were rumors that the elementary school here might be closed, but on Tuesday an official groundbreaking ceremony declared its survival.

Kingwood Elementary School will be renovated and classrooms added at a cost of more than $1 million. It is part of a $10 million school renovation and construction project in the Rockwood Area School District.

In conjunction with the groundbreaking ceremony, the 40th anniversary of Kingwood School was celebrated. It opened in 1953 as Middlecreek Upper Turkeyfoot Jointure (MUTJ) and later merged with Rockwood School District.

"Today we are all part of history," said Clair Saylor, board president and a 1954 graduate of Kingwood Elementary. "We are helping to prepare our students for the future."

Saylor explained that Kingwood Elementary was a very important consideration in the building project. One of the problems the board faced at Kingwood was that the district owned the building but not the land.

In order for the project to continue, Charles and Dolly Wilcox donated 4.6 acres of land that the school is on. And Wilbur Henry donated the land in front of the school that has been in his family for 100 years, allowing better access to the school, a driveway and a parking area.

"Many people were against building this school in the beginning and there were pros and cons to getting construction started here," said Wilcox, who allowed his farmland to be used for the building in 1953. "Today, I'm happy to be able to contribute to a small degree."

Jack Illar, a teacher at Kingwood and also master of ceremonies, praised both families for their generosity and discussed the benefits of a rural school.

Fourth-grade student Kendra Albright read a poem during the ceremony and student presentations were made by each grade.

Kristine Kreger, a school board member, compared Kingwood to the schools she attended while growing up.

"You can take all 10 schools I went to and they couldn't compare to the heartfelt and true concern for education in this building," said Kreger.

Jeff O'Brien, a Somerset businessman whose two children were graduated from Kingwood Elementary, addressed the audience about the unity found in small communities like Kingwood.

"A few years ago when there was talk of closing this school, we wanted to show people in larger communities that we were proud of this school and didn't want to see it close," said O'Brien. "Smaller communities are getting absorbed nowadays, and we need a sense of community."

Robert Reese, the first principal at Kingwood, also spoke during the ceremony. He was instrumental in establishing a kindergarten class in Kingwood and a school library. He also worked to bring a music director and art teacher to Kingwood.

Dr. Mary Ann Nobers, district superintendent, commended the board for working as a team to benefit the entire district.

She also praised the Wilcox and Henry families for making the building project possible.

"I've learned one thing in 35 years of education," said Nobers. "No one person does anything or succeeds alone."

Father Of Michael Younkin, Born In Somerset Co.

LETTER BY F. E. YOUNKIN

February 17, 1932.

J. H. Younkin,
R. D. No. 3, Box 49,
Carbondale, Ill.

My dear Mr. Younkin:

I have yours of the 15th, and in reply will say that my father was born near Kingwood, Somerset County, Pennsylvania, along about 1825, and my grandfather was Frederick F. Younkin, who lived and died at the birthplace of my father, Michael Younkin. Somerset County is the next county to the east of Fayette County, in which the City of Connellsville is located.

When my father was, say eight or ten years old, grandfather, Frederick F. Younkin, aforesaid, took him to Terre Haute, Indiana, and upon the death of my grandmother, grandfather moved back to Pennsylvania, and my father, Michael Younkin, started wandering left Terre Haute, and went to Kankakee Illinois, and then wandered over into Iowa, Dubuque, Pella, Oskaloosa, Ottumwa, etc., and began to work for the Western Stage Company, which then ran relays of Concord Stages from there westward, my father driving a Concord Stage for this company for more than eighteen years.

At one time father was married at Chillicothe, Missouri, and his first wife died, and after he left Iowa, after working for the Stage Company, he wandered into Kansas, Nebraska, Indian Territory, now Oklahoma, Texas, and went up to Arkansas. Then had the notion to go to Washington Territory on the Pacific Coast, now the State of Washington, and thought that he would come back and see his father near Kingwood, Pennsylvania, before he finally went to the West coast, he being a man of forty-nine years of age, having wandered and been away from home thirty-five years, being about fourteen years old when he separated from his father at Terre Haute, having refused to go back with grandfather, and hid in a cornfield of a nearby farm until he saw his father turning Eastward.

Grandfather, Frederick F. Younkin, was married twice, and had four children by the first wife, my father, Michael, being the oldest, then Uncle Jake, Aunt Mary and Aunt Agnes. Uncle Jake lived and died about a mile from the old homestead, where Grandfather Younkin lived and Mary married a man by the name of Griffiths, and became Mary Griffiths, and went to Murphysboro, Jackson County, Illinois, not far from Carbondale, and died there some years ago.

Stanley Scott, the son of Edgar Scott, the brother of my wife, who lives in Carbondale, Illinois, went to see Aunt Mary Griffiths at my instance some years ago, and found that she had just died at Murphysboro and he talked with some of the sons and daughters, and other relatives of Aunt Mary. Aunt Mary sent me a picture of herself and Mr. Griffiths, and I saw her once when I was eight or ten years old.

at our old home in Somerset County, where my father lived and died, and she was on a visit from Illinois to Pennsylvania.

The enclosed clipping will show you I went to school at Valparaiso, Indiana, from 1896 to 1900, and thereafter during part of the year of 1902, and took an A. B. and B. S. Degree. In 1900, I went to Lake Villa, Illinois, the Northwestern County of your State, and became principal of what we call here in Pennsylvania a Township High School at Lake Villa, Illinois, for two years, and then in 1902, I went ten miles East from Lake Villa to Gurnee, and became principal of the High School there, and was there one year teaching ten months in the year. Gurnee is four miles West of Waukegan. While I was at Gurnee, County Superintendent Gaggin and I went during the Christmas vacation of 1902 to Springfield, Illinois, to a State Teachers Convention, and had promised Aunt Mary Griffiths at Murphysboro that I would continue on down from Springfield and visit her, but I changed my plans and came back to Gurnee, and did not see her, and finally came from Gurnee to Connellsville, Pennsylvania, where I became principal of the Third Ward School, studied law and was admitted to the Bar of Pennsylvania in 1909, and have been in the general practice since that time in the same offices.

At one time, when I was sitting at a table in East Hall, Valparaiso, Indiana, where I was taking meals, there came a young man from Southern Indiana to our table, and he was introduced to me, and when he heard my name, he said, "That is a very familiar name in my home in the Southern part of Indiana, as there is a whole colony of Younkins down there."

Frank Younkin lived and died in Bullshead Township, this county, and was a prosperous farmer and cattle raiser at Pennsville, about four miles out of Connellsville. Connellsville has many Younkins. There are twenty-two Younkins named in the City Directory of Connellsville, as I just now counted them, and I have no doubt that your grandfather, John Harrison Younkin, came from Somerset County, or Fayette County, or Westmoreland County, as there are Younkins all through these counties. They are Pennsylvania Dutch, and my mother told me at one time that my father could not speak a word of English, as he had been brought up to speak Pennsylvania Dutch, but after he wandered through the West for thirty-five years, and I first learned to know him, I never heard him speak Dutch, but my mother, whose mother was a Younkin too, could talk Pennsylvania Dutch up to the time of her death, although her father was a native son of Ireland, McClintock, and her mother's name was Mary Younkin, the sister of Dorcas Jake Younkin, there being so many Jake Younkins that they identified each one of them by putting the given name of their wife before their surname. One of the sons of Dorcas Jake Younkin in the County Surveyor of Somerset County, is about seventy-nine years old, and can go over the hills yet like a greyhound. His name is Colwell Younkin. Of course, he is the first cousin of my mother.

My wife was Maud Scott, a sister of Edgar Scott of Carbondale, Illinois. You should go and see him, and he could tell you about the Younkins in Pennsylvania, as he was born in Lower Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania, where my wife was also born, and I was born in Upper Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania. Edgar can tell you much about the Younkins.

Mrs. W. E. Lawson of Homestead, Pa., is a sister of my wife, and she got by error the letter she was sending my wife into an envelope that was addressed, Carbondale, Illinois, and should have been addressed to her sister, my wife, in Connellsville, Pennsylvania, as she was in the habit of writing to her brother in Carbondale, Illinois.

Reverend James A. Younkins, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Pittsburgh Conference for thirty years, was born in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, and he told me at one time that there were many Younkins in that county.

I notice that the Younkins are dying out in your community. They are a pretty hearty race of people, and have been mostly farmers through the years. One of them, Attorney Garfield Younkin, graduated at Ohio Northern University at Ada, practiced law for a while, lost his health, and is now principal of schools at Phoenix, Arizona, or near there. His cousin, Ira D. Younkin, is a prominent wholesale man of this city, and is now on the Council of the city.

Blair and Ralph Younkin have executive positions with the Caplan Glass Company of South Connellsville. They are the sons of Milton R. Younkin, who came here from Draketown, Lower Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania.

Over Somerset County there are a good many Stoners, also in Westmoreland County, as that is a common name there.

Frank Younkin never lived in Connellsville, but in Pennsville, aforesaid, although there are several persons by that name. Frank Younkin, Sr., whose brother, Elmer, was killed the fall of 1929, just outside of Connellsville, and they tried Captain R. C. Blodsoe of the B. & O. police for murdering him. Also, J. Frank Younkin, a brother of Ira David Younkin, comes to my office frequently as we have had business with him through the years. John F. Younkin lived and died at Paddytown, below Kingwood, and he was the son of Herman Younkin, who was the brother of my maternal grandmother, Mary Younkin, as you have noticed. I am related to one branch of the Younkins on my father's side, and another branch on my mother's side. There are Younkins in the Jersey Settlement, near Draketown aforesaid, there being several of them there.

When you are in Carbondale, see

Edgar Scott, who lived on Maple Street, and talk to his son, Stanley, who is a druggist, and perhaps, his wife, who comes from Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, and maybe the two daughters, who were born in Pennsylvania, and I am sure they can give you much information about the Younkins here.

Ross Younkin worked for years for my father-in-law, Noah Scott, and one of his daughters lives in Connellsville.

I hope I have answered your questions, at least some of them, and I forgot to say that my grandfather, Frederick F. Younkin, was married twice, and had six or eight children by the second wife. One of them is Uncle Henry Younkin, who had a bunch of boys, and they are around Somerset County.

Yours truly,

F. E. YOUNKIN.

AN APPRECIATION

681 By F. E. YOUNKIN

I am glad to say a few words in appreciation of the work that has been done by the officers of this Younkin Association other than myself.

They have worked tirelessly since the last Reunion to make the present Reunion a positive success, bigger and better. No one not in immediate touch with the situation can know what the secretary, president, and others, have done to please others to whom this annual gathering means so much.

Here we meet, deaths within the year are noted, new greetings are registered, hopes are renewed, and old friends clasp hands.

And then we hear of our pioneer ancestors; of their hopes and fears; their hardships, sacrifices, toils; their breaking ground in the New World, felling forest, fighting Indians, facing wild animals, and their struggles to make a living. Verily these were the stuff of which heroes are made!

And out of all this a sturdy race, perhaps more Hollandish to begin with, but later they intermingled their blood with Scotch, Irish, English, German and Scandinavian.

The children of these old worthies have taken their places with the best of the country, and reflect the strength, character, sturdiness, integrity, industry, hopes, and ambitions of their worthy forebears.

My dear Friend:—

In reply to yours of the 20th that statement of yours that unless some miracle happens the present issue of the News Bulletin will be the last ever to be published strikes me with some pain and much concern.

I hate to see the little paper write its valedictory as soon, and would be willing to have it go on its way for a long time to come,—giving news of the Younklin people, bits of interest, history of its branches, personnel of its migrations, wanderings of its families, chronology, family trees, its nonagenarians and centenarians, its hopes and fears, trends and professions, settlements and abodes, plowings and wanderings, births and deaths, successes and failures, joys and sorrows, of the ancient family generally, and the different members of the family of Younklin blood in particular.

The Bulletin has been the means of holding together the parts of the whole, and cementing the individuals of the tribe called Younklin into one entity. In union there is strength. I have for some time had a vision that sometime along the way a talented Younklin would rise up and with journalistic instinct, and true writer skill write a history of the whole Family since coming to America, or in other words—make a substantial contribution to genealogy by emphasizing our Younklin people, their common and particular gifts to the building of these United States from their earliest landing on those shores to the present time.

One way to accretate and interpret would be to classify the individuals as to trades and professions and especially name the several contributions, material, mental, spiritual, social, made by them to the erection of our common country.

You personally are to be commended for the part you have played as secretary of the Association in this Editorship of the Bulletin, as well as other favorable and worthy things you have done and accomplished for the Association in the pursuance of your several duties.

Any one who does this work must do it for the love of the game, and not to profit financially,—but must give himself unreservedly to the toll and spirit.

Herewith find my check account of expenses getting out the next issue of the paper, and for the general fund of the society.

With kindest personal regards,

I am,

Very truly yours,

Fred E. Younklin.

FREDERICK ELIJAH YOUNKIN—Following his earlier career in education, Frederick Elijah Younkin was admitted to the Pennsylvania bar in 1909 and has since been engaged in the practice of law at Connellsville. He is a well-known figure in his profession and in the civic life of this community.

Mr. Younkin was born in Upper Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania, on October 28, 1874. He is a son of Michael and Ann Maria (McClintock) Younkin and a member of the old Pennsylvania family founded in America by Johann Herman Junkin, who came from Holland. Mr. Younkin's great-great-grandfather was Jacob Younkin; his great-grandfather, Frederick G. Younkin; and his grandfather, Frederick F. Younkin. All were residents of Western Pennsylvania. His father, Michael Younkin, was born in Upper Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, on December 25, 1825, and died on December 31, 1898. He was a stage driver in early life, and later a farmer. Ann Maria (McClintock) Younkin, the mother, was born in Upper Turkeyfoot Township in 1834, and died on April 6, 1904.

Frederick Elijah Younkin received his preliminary education in the public schools of Upper Turkeyfoot Township, and later attended normal school at New Lexington, Somerset County, and West Virginia Conference Seminary, now West Virginia Wesleyan College, at Buckhannon, West Virginia. In 1890 he was graduated from Northern Indiana Normal School, at Valparaiso, Indiana, with the degree of Bachelor of Science, and in the following year pursued the classical course at Valparaiso College, taking the degree of Bachelor of Arts from that institution in 1900. From 1903 to 1909 he served as principal of the Third Ward Schools, of Connellsville, meanwhile reading law in the offices of Sterling, Higbee, Dunbould and Brown. Following his admission to the Pennsylvania bar in 1909, he opened his own office in Connellsville at Nos. 409-10 Title and Trust Building, which he has since occupied. He carries on a general practice which has grown steadily with passing years, and in meeting its varied duties he has firmly established his professional reputation. He has appeared in many local cases of importance and has represented leading interests in the several courts.

Mr. Younkin is a member of the Fayette County Bar Association, the Pennsylvania State Bar Association and the American Bar Association. He is also a member of the Commercial Law League of America. He has been very active fraternally in the Free and Accepted Masons, and is a member of this order of King Solomon Lodge, No. 286, at Connellsville; the Chapter, Royal Arch Masons; the Commandery of the Knights Templar; Syria Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, in Pittsburgh; and of the higher Scottish Rite bodies, including Uniontown Lodge of Perfection, the Knights of the Rose Croix and Pennsylvania Consistory. Mr. Younkin is affiliated, in addition, with General Worth Lodge, No. 326, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at Connellsville. While lending substantial support to all worthy civic causes, he has been especially interested in education and from 1912 to 1916 served as a school director at Connellsville. For three years of that time he was president of the board. Mr. Younkin is a Republican in politics and is a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Connellsville. He is active in church work and for many years past has served as a member of the board of trustees and as teacher of the Men's Bible Class. His favorite diversions are reading and hiking.

On July 26, 1911, Mr. Younkin married Maud Elizabeth Scott, of Lower Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County. She is a daughter of Noah and Margaret (Ferguson) Scott.

Charles A. Younkin,
Box 170, Charleroi, Pa.
My dear Charlie:

You have asked me for an article. I am writing you a letter to print, and this is it:

In pursuance of your request I have re-read parts of the Younkin file in my office, No. 920, and when, particularly I came to the statement of yours that my great-grandfather, Frederick Younkin, came from Bucks County, Pennsylvania, and settled on the spot in the wilderness where he hewed out a farm for himself, where my father's brother, Uncle Jacob Younkin, lived and died, and where Ross Younkin, son of Wesley Younkin, both were born, and where that great-grandfather of mine now rests his bones, and where my grandfather, Frederick F. Younkin, was born, later on acquiring the next farm where my own father, Michael Younkin, first saw the light, I said to myself the spirit of adventure and pioneering is not dead in our America.

And then my father, starting out early with the wanderlust in his veins, and his Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Indian Territory, Texas and Arkansas wanderings and the far-off Washington Territory dream, and the return of the prodigal to his native Somerset County, Pennsylvania, here to lay his bones, again confirms my idea that the pioneer and adventuring spirit is not dead, and the "sublimation," as the psychologist calls it, of these impulses and urges in the settled interests, industry, and fixed and stable homes, factories and farms of the wanderer in the United States.

We are all a part and parcel of this heterogeneous humanity we call our country, and respond to the love of liberty and free competition we have here between the two great oceans in the "land of the free and the home of the brave."

And the Younkin pioneers all over this broad land have contributed their fair share to the pioneering.

We have a polyglot of peoples that forms the population of America—Scandinavians in the North; French in the South; Germans in Pennsylvania and the Middle-West; Greeks in the Middle-West; Italians in the East; and our Pennsylvania-Dutch in Pennsylvania—has spread over the West as our reunions from year to year show.

Don't tell me that "rugged individualism" is dead in this country; there was, and is, a plenty of such in these hardy Pennsylvania-Dutch to carry on for years to come. They have leavened the whole lump of their descendants everywhere they have gone.

The great segment of Scandinavians—who are Dutch—in Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and other states adjoining, are a set of people whose steadiness and industry are in wonderful contrast to the nervousness and irresponsibility of great masses of population east of Pittsburgh.

These solid peoples in Kansas and Missouri are the same pioneer stock which built the foundations of this country so firm. They are still suspicious, such as the Younkin stock—of pomp and ceremony—fancy and flubdub—display and strut. Lincoln as a politician was and is their ideal.

Our people want the budget balanced, because they have always favored balancing their own individual budgets. We are for our young people having an opportunity for individual initiative. We want the Younkin boys and girls to develop independent, strong, self-reliant spirits, help to get rid of the philosophy that business and industry are the enemies of the working men, and that the government will compensate for lack of jobs and wage with made-work and handouts; to be willing to start at the bottom and work to the top, to despise guaranteed salaries, wages, security, but to accept the challenge, make the fight on their own, to despise selling their votes for a mess of pottage, and to curse to the blackest hell the "something-for-nothing" philosophy which, at last, is a disease that has destroyed all nations where it prevailed, and will destroy our fair America.

Our Younkins must up and dust themselves. We cannot maintain America great if this odious selling of our self-respect goes on. We must shun it like we shun the plague—it is the plague.

The will to work for the sake of accomplishment and achievement is drooping, bogging—helped along by this vicious poppa-Santa-Claus doctrine of U. S. A.

Let us keep fresh the principle of free competition and individual liberty, the two characteristics that are inherent and hereditary in the American people, just as, in contrast, feudalism, autocracy, authoritarianism are fundamental and elemental largely in continental Europe, and the rest of the world.

Younkin-ism and Americanism are synonymous. Let us keep it so. People look ahead here. In Europe they look back. In the future there is hope. The past is dead. America is just another word for Hope. Let us have faith—it shall always be so for our Pennsylvania and America.

Very faithfully yours,
FREDERICK ELIJAH YOUNKIN.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

CONNELLVILLE, PA.

LEND-LEASE BILL

Editor, The Courier:

As a student of law and government, I am anxious about the Lend-Lease Bill written by the United States Treasurer and now before Congress for the reason that it would give the President, or any successor, power to wage economic as well as military war against any nation he may select, anywhere on the face of the globe, without limitation as to time, money or the materials disposed of. He could attack any nation. He could arm Russia, or any nation. He could give the entire Navy, or any part of it, to any foreign power, as he has already done in the case of the 50 destroyers.

The number of the bill is 177. Ironical to say the least in suggesting the year of 1776, one man would have the power to commit the American people to any war anywhere, secretly and without action by Congress. This is certainly one man rule carried to the highest degree.

All who have not read it should behold the editorial in the Saturday Evening Post of February 15, 1941, "Behold! The Brass Serpent."

The power given to the President in this bill is far greater than that given Winston Churchill, the premier of England, which country is now at war, and our country is not. England is a besieged fortress, fighting for her life. Mr. Churchill can be stripped of his powers over night, by a lack of confidence vote in the House of Commons. The premier is checked on, by being frequently called in person before the House of Commons, questioned, and held accountable for what he is doing with the grant of powers, and certainly our President should be held to the same degree of accountability.

Of course, we all want to give aid to Britain, and there is no debate on that point, but in order to help Britain we must transform this country into a personal totalitarian dictatorship, such as England at war would not stand for one moment. That price is too high to pay.

As a student of constitutional government, we must beware, or we will destroy constitutional government in this country, and we are wholly unprepared for a foreign war.

Congress should not shirk its constitutional duty to make a choice between war and peace, by placing that decision in the hands of one man. Look out or we are swapping American free government for dictatorship, as we know that England will not tolerate exchanging British free government for dictatorship.

Under the lend-lease bill, that is precisely what Congress is asked to do, and once this power is placed in the hands of the Chief Executive, it will be practically impossible of taking it away from that office.

We want fullest possible aid to Great Britain in tools, equipment, financial and moral support, but we must not be required to destroy our own Constitution and set up a dictatorship here.

We earnestly urge you to tell your readers to demand of your representatives in Congress, J. Isell Snyder, congressman, James J. Davis and Joseph F. Guffey, senators, that this bill should be killed or amended, and if it the latter, then the Connally amendment and the Dirksen amendment should be made a part of the lend-lease bill. It should be in line with common sense that the President should be required, personally or by a member of his Cabinet, to explain to Congress at any time at the request of 25 per cent of the members of either House, the use he is making of his powers.

This is our fight, for ourselves, our families and associates, and we are now in a hot spot in deciding whether or not these vast powers should be delegated to our President.

Should Mr. Roosevelt be entrusted with greater powers than Washington or Lincoln ever had? Why should he be entrusted with powers denied to Winston Churchill, premier of England?

Jacob C. Henry Called by Death

W.D.W.

Connellsville, Pa., Jan. 18, 1941
Jacob C. Henry, 70 years old, of 359 East Crawford avenue, died at 2:30 o'clock this morning at Somerset County Home and Hospital where he had been a patient since Monday. He had previously been a patient for one week at Shady Side Hospital, Pittsburgh. Mr. Henry became ill last July and since that time had been failing rapidly.

Born and reared near Scullton, Somerset county, he was a son of the late Marlon and Mary Henry. He learned the carpentry trade while in his teens and spent the early part of his life constructing schoolhouses in Upper and Lower Turkeyfoot townships and working on his father's farm. He was married September 22, 1900 to Miss Mary S. Younklin of near Scullton and 38 years ago came to Connellsville where he had since resided.

Shortly after moving here he became a building contractor and was in charge of the work during the construction of the First Methodist Church in South Pittsburgh street. Later he entered the coal business with J. L. Stader, having a mine near Indian Head, and upon giving this up took a position as manager of the former Elcher Lumber Mill of Scottdale. When the firm went out of business five years ago Mr. Henry retired. He was a member of the First Methodist Church and was active in church affairs, serving for many years on the official board as a trustee.

Surviving are his wife and three children, Ray Younklin Henry, principal of Duquesne High School; Glenn Henry, head of the manual training department of Parsons, W. Va., High School, and Leona, wife of Floyd Schofield of Mount Lebanon. He also leaves six grandchildren and three brothers and a sister; Josh H. Henry of near Dawson, and Hiram Henry, James Henry and Mrs. Mary Mognet, all of Scullton.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of Funeral Director Charles A. McCormick, will be announced later.

HENRY FUNERAL

CONNELLSVILLE, PA. Jan. 21, 1940
The funeral for Jacob C. Henry will be held Tuesday afternoon. The body will be removed from the residence, 359 East Crawford avenue, at noon Tuesday and taken to the First Methodist Church where it will lie in state until 2 o'clock, the time of the service. Dr. N. F. Richards, pastor, will officiate, assisted by Rev. Bennett W. Hutchinson, former pastor who is now retired and living in Pittsburgh, and Rev. Baker of Duquesne. Burial will be made in Hill Grove Cemetery.

Captain McClure purchased what was then known as the Jerry Falk farm, at the village of St. Paul, in Elk Lick Township, where Captain and Mrs. McClure and their family for about 10 or 12 years only spent their summers.

Some time later the McClure family located in Salisbury, where the parents resided during the remainder of their lives, and it can be truly said that all mem-

Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. McClure rented their furnished home at Chevy Chase, for six months. Just what their plans will be at the end of that time, they have not definitely decided; but when interviewed, Mr. McClure intimated that they would likely spend their summers in Salisbury, and somewhere in the Southern States during the winters.

Phillip Merrbach Made Happy

Phillip Merrbach, who was seriously injured while employed in a coal mine operated by C. H. Bowman, near Springs, sometime last fall or winter, by a fall of rock, has not been able to walk since, and probably never will be.

He had a narrow escape from death, and on account of injury to his back, and spinal cord, is almost lifeless in the lower part of his body. However, to look at his face and talk with him, and see how cheerful he is, one would hardly suspect that he is afflicted in any way. For a long time he could not even sit up, but can do so now, and was made very happy last Saturday evening when a comfortable wheel chair was delivered to him.

The chair was donated to Mr. Merrbach, and was paid for out of contributions solicited by John Schramm and Charley Wagner. It was a fine thing to do for a badly afflicted, but very worthy citizen of Salisbury, one who has long been noted for his own kindness of heart and for his thrift as long as he was able to work, and his ever readiness to do any one a kindness.

Kindness begets kindness, and Mr. Merrbach is deeply grateful to all who contributed to the purchase of his chair, and to those who solicited the contributions. The wheel chair makes his affliction easier to bear, a great deal easier.

A Good Time to Commune With Nature

This is a good time to commune with nature, if one has the time, especially in such a scenic locality as Salisbury is located. The deciduous trees of the woodlands are again putting forth their leaves in many shades of green, making a great variety of beautiful contrasts with the darker green shades of the evergreen, hemlock and pine trees.

The beautiful white flowers of the dogwood trees are now showing their most beautiful stage, and that means that the beautiful pink and red wild azaleas (commonly called honeysuckles by most of the natives of this locality) will also soon be at their best, and mingle their delightful odor with the scenes of beauty all around them.

Folks who are conserving their automobile tires and gasoline during these days of rationing, still have feet, and in many cases the feet need exercise. A leisurely stroll out into the woods to commune with nature, at this time of year, on a pleasant day breathing deep into the lungs the pure, clean air of the wooded hills and dells, viewing the beauties of nature, listening to the woodland notes of song birds and the murmur of woodland brooks, has a tendency to make one feel close to the Creator of all things that nature is caused to bring forth for us to enjoy and conserve to the best of our ability.

Trout Catches.

With most of our local anglers reporting an apparent scarcity of trout since the opening of the trout season, April 15, it is refreshing to note that Frank Engle very recently landed a 16½-inch rainbow trout while fishing Little Piney Run. Frank is better known by the nickname "Alex" to most of his friends, and he almost invariably lands some nice trout each recurring season.

CPA Committee Gives Tips On Income Tax Filing

Deductions

(The following article is the third in a series of nine articles on income tax filing prepared for distribution to this newspaper by the Committee on Taxation of the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants.)

Again this year you will have three choices in taking deductions on your individual income tax return. You may itemize them, take the ten per cent standard deduction, or take the minimum standard deduction, whichever provides the greatest advantage. Regardless of the method used, you may take a full $600 personal exemption for yourself, your wife (on a joint return), and each of your dependents.

Itemized Deductions

If you itemize your deductions, all deductible items must be noted on page two of Form 1040. Generally, it will be to your advantage to itemize deductions if you are a homeowner paying interest and taxes, have made large contributions to qualified charities, have unusually large medical expenses during the year, or have incurred a major uninsured casualty loss.

Standard Deduction

If deductions are not itemized the ten per cent standard deduction or the minimum standard deduction is available. You may deduct from your income either ten per cent of your total income (line nine, Form 1040) or the minimum standard deduction, whichever produces the larger figure. In either case the deduction may not exceed $1,000 ($500 for a married taxpayer filing a separate return).

The minimum standard deduction permits you to deduct $200 ($100 for a married person filing a separate return) plus $100 for each personal exemption. For example, a single person would be allowed a minimum standard deduction of $300, and a married couple with no children filing a joint return would be allowed $400; that is, $200 plus $100 for the husband's exemption and $100 for the wife's exemption. Similarly, a married couple with two children would be allowed a minimum standard deduction of $600.

Here is an illustration of how the rules work. Mr. Smith is married and has a total income of $6,500. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are both under 65 years of age and have three young children (that is, five exemptions for the family). Mr. Smith has determined that his deductions for interest, taxes, contributions, medical expenses, etc., able for taking deductions on tax returns, Mr. Smith should compare each method in order to determine which one produces the greatest benefit—to him. His itemized deductions amount to $600. The amount of deduction that would be allowed by the ten per cent standard deduction would be $650 (ten percent of $6,500) and by the minimum standard deduction, $700 ($200 plus $100 for each exemption). Since the minimum standard deduction produces the greatest benefit, Mr. Smith would compute his tax taking the minimum standard deduction of $700.

The following schedule compares the differences in tax under the choices available for taking deductions and shows the amount of tax that Mr. Smith would have to pay when he files his return, had the normal amount of tax been withheld by his employer during the year.

Illustration of Tax Computation comparing three methods for taking deductions:

(Itemized deductions, ten per cent standard deduction, minimum standard deduction in order.)

Total income (line 9, Form 1040)	$6,500	$6,500	$6,500
Less: Itemized deductions	600	650	700
Less: Standard deduction
Income before tax	$5,900	$5,850	$5,800
Less: Exemptions	3,000	3,000	3,000
Income subject to tax	$2,900	$2,850	$2,800
Tax	424	416	416
Tax withheld or paid	424	424	424
Amount of tax to be refunded	29	27	45

If the total income (line 9, Form 1040) is less than $5,000, the tax table automatically takes into account the greater of the 10% standard deduction or the minimum standard deduction.

Assembly Roundup

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI

HARRISBURG (AP) — An amended version of the Shafer Administration's constitutional convention bill was released to the Senate floor Tuesday.

The amendments, which the Administration said were acceptable, were agreed to at another three-hour caucus of the 27-man Republican Senate majority.

Within an hour of caucus accord, the bill was voted out of the Senate Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Only 10 of the 16 members were present with seven Republicans voting to release the measure and the three Democrats opposed.

The minority—Democrats—meanwhile, came up with a convention bill of their own which, they said, represented the best features of the Shafer proposal for a restricted convention and their own without a limitation on subject matter.

The new bill would be introduced Monday when the Senate reconvenes, they said.

The chamber, which met alone Tuesday, adjourned for the week after the Shafer bill was sent to the floor.

The Republican amendments to the Shafer bill would change the timetable considerably.

Under the revised version, the convention question would be submitted on the May primary, but election of delegates would be deferred until the November general election. Shafer's orig-

Good News

Visitor comes to Somerset County

Just down the road from our home in southern Somerset County, the Albert Knobloch family operate a cheerful restaurant, Shepherd's Farm, situated on Rt. 281 with a stunning view of the mountainous countryside.

Their farm sits across from the restaurant. Their barn painted the familiar red, but their fields grazed by flocks of sheep rather than the dairy cows common in the county. Lamb sandwiches distinguish the restaurant's menu.

A few miles up the frequently traveled highway, drivers pass a dairy farm typical of the county with one exception. The tidy lawn, flowers and shrubs and carefully maintained buildings indicate pride in home and business. The barn, however, attests to a streak of independence, for it is painted an unusual color, forest green. This is the home of dairy farmer Gerald Yonkin and his wife, Iris, who is an active partner in their enterprise, assisting daily in the milking parlor.

On a warm sunny afternoon last year a car pulled into the Shepherd's Farm parking lot and a well-dressed lady marched inside. She'd seen the farm across the road from the restaurant and wanted to know if she could get a glass of real milk, straight from the cow. (Apparently she had not noticed the sheep in the fields.)

Always courteous, the restaurant staff told her while she couldn't get real milk there, they'd see if a local dairy farmer could help her. "We thought of you right away," Shirley Knobloch told Iris when she telephoned her. "If she looks like she won't mind going to the milking parlor, tell her she can stop by." Iris responded.

The lady marched out of the restaurant without further ado, drove to the Yonkin's farm where she hopped out of her car and walked up to Iris' daughter, Kay, who had stopped mowing to greet the stranger. The stranger announced, "I've come for my glass of real milk." Not knowing about the telephone call but never ruffled by the unexpected, Kay said, "You must want my Mom."

By that time, Iris, glass in hand, appeared and escorted the visitor to their milking parlor where she filled the glass with fresh whole milk from the tank. As the lady drank it greedily, a look of satisfaction crossed her face. She asked to see the milk in the tank. "I'd have taken her straight to a cow for the milk if they'd been in the barn, she seemed so happy," Iris said later.

Iris and her visitor talked awhile. The lady had lived on a chicken farm in Texas years ago where they traded eggs for fresh milk with a nearby dairy farm. She and her husband were in Pennsylvania for the funeral of a family member and had taken a drive in the country to console themselves. Seeing all the farms, she suddenly just had to have a glass of fresh milk. Satisfied, the lady turned to go.

"Come again if you're in the area", Iris exclaimed.

The moral of this story is: That old state tourism slogan was right, visitors do find friends in Pennsylvania, or at least here in Somerset County.

SOMERSET FAMILY REUNION Descendants of William 'Henry' and Rachel (McClintock) Younkin

This summer, I was privileged to attend the annual reunion of the descendants of William "Henry" Younkin and his wife, Rachel McClintock. In charge of the day's events was Hazel Miller. I was to meet Hazel at her home in Somerset, PA. I must tell you I was a tad apprehensive about meeting all these strangers. But as I walked up to Hazel's door and she came out to greet me with a warm "bear hug", I immediately felt like we had been friends for years. It was soon apparent that this same gift for warmth is a family trait. I don't think I have ever been in a social situation where I felt more at home than I did that day!

The reunion was held at a park just outside the city of Somerset. Though a drizzle of rain was in the air the entire day — it put no damper on anyone's spirits. It was complete with all the usual homebaked goodies and talk of everyone's year long activities.

I, of course, had brought quite a bit of my collection of materials (old Younkin Family Newsletters, notebooks of family group sheets, photographs, etc.) and was quite surprised when it became apparent that these cousins were not aware that our family was so extensive. Donna (Younkin) FOSS and her sister-in-law, Juanita YOUNKIN, after hearing that I now have over 5000 YOUNKIN cousins listed in my database and that all of the YOUNKIN families of Somerset are related, spent the rest of the day telling everyone else. (I think I'll hire them in our PR dept.)

I was, also, surprised when I learned that most of the attendees had never heard of our family newsletter. Then I realized that most of them didn't carry the YOUNKIN surname. It was a good thing I had brought lots of copies of our first newsletter so that each could have one. I can't possibly tell you how good it made me feel to have all these people tell me how much they liked our Newsletter.

One of the highlights of the day, for me, was a listing of all of the known descendants of William "Henry" and Rachel which Hazel had prepared in anticipation of my coming. I was thrilled to be able, in return, to help Hazel carry their lineage back to our immigrant father Johann Henrich/Henry JUNGHEN.

If you are a member of a Genealogical or Historical Society anywhere in the U.S. that offers free queries to members, please consider sending in a General YOUNKIN family query along with a notice about our Family Newsletter. This would benefit all of us in our research efforts.

We are now listed in these largely distributed publications:
Genealogical Helper magazine
Heritage Quest magazine

Mormon Church - Family Surname Directory

In an effort to coordinate research efforts, and in the hopes of finding more of our cousins, I have been writing to other surname Family Associations that are known to connect to our YOUNKIN families. Some of the ones I have written to are the: HAUPT FAMILY ASSOC., RICKEY FAMILY ASSOC., WEIMER FAMILY ASSOC. and the SKINNER FAMILY ASSOC. If you can suggest others, please let me know. The Assoc. listed below has agreed to place a similar notice in their family newsletter regarding our YOUNKIN families.

SKINNER FAMILY ASSOCIATION. Established in 1984, the Assoc. has been collecting SKINNER descendants and places all families in a data bank to disseminate to SKINNER researchers. They offer a quarterly newsletter at $15.00 yr. You may write to them at: SKINNER FAMILY ASSOC. c/o Gregg Legutki; 1936 East Fifth St.; Ontario, CA. 91764. Phone: (714) 941-3877.

Our Military Men

WALTER S. YOUNKIN was born 10 Jun 1833 in Turkeyfoot Twp., Somerset Co., PA. Walter's parents, Dr. Jonas and Martha (PRINGEY) YOUNKIN, were among the many YOUNKIN families that moved, with their families, during the 1850s to the western frontier. Walter was married on 5 May 1856 to Eva M. TROYER by Stephen Palmer Judge of Henry County, IL. Walter and Eva were blessed with 2 sons, Warren E. b. 25 Mar 1858 and Howard V. b. 30 May 1862. As fate would have it, these were the only children Walter would ever father.

It was in Annawan, Henry Co., IL, that Walter enlisted in the Union Army on 12 Aug 1862. He was mustered into service on 20 Sep 1862 as a Corporal in the 112th Illinois Vol. for a term of 3 years. His physical description, as noted by the enlistment officer was: 5'8" tall, light complexion, black hair and blue eyes. He served almost three full years and was mustered out on 20 Jun 1865 with the remaining men in his company. Little did Walter know, as he rejoined his family, that, in fact, the biggest battle he was to ever fight had barely begun. His general debility on returning home, was, no doubt, thought to be simple exhaustion from the years of the war. His weakness became worse and after numerous visits to doctors, Walter found that, sometime during his years of military service, he had developed diabetes. The fact that Walter's name does not appear on the lists of men attended by military physicians during the war attests to his bravery - he had suffered in silence.

On November 19th 1868 Walter died. Two letters contained in Walter's pension file tell his story. The first being a letter from Walter's brother, Dr. Edwin YOUNKIN, of St. Louis, Missouri who stated that he had treated his brother and that he had died from Gangrene Senilis a complication resulting from Diabetes. The other letter was from Walter's mother. Martha wrote, "I was called in to help take care of him during his last illness and was with him constantly during the seven weeks immediately preceding his death and was with him at the time of his death, which was on the 19th day of November A.D. 1868. During the time I helped to take care of him, he suffered greatly with pains and swelling ... that he was confined to his bed all the time I was with him." Walter was buried in Fairview Cemetery in Sheffield, Henry Co., IL.

Eva (TROYER) YOUNKIN married again on 7 Dec 1871 to William H. GILLESPIE by whom she had 2 daughters, Hattie b. 1872 and Kittie b. 1874. This was not to be a happy marriage for Eva as in 1875 she and William were separated and later divorced. The ultimate whereabouts of Eva and her 2 daughters is unknown.

Of Walter and Eva's two sons, Warren Eugene and Howard Vensely YOUNKIN we do know. Several of our readers are descendants of these sons. Warren m. Maggie M. STEPHENS and settled in Dorchester, NE. Howard m. Clara B. EARL and lived for many years in IL, but later moved to the Omaha, NE. area. [Walter⁴ Dr. Jonas³ Jacob² Henry¹]

Schweike For Phil

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., has been accused of trying to "steal" the historic USS Constitution.

The assertion was made by U.S. Rep. Gary Studds of Massachusetts.

Actually what Schweiker wants to do is bring the historic frigate, "Old Ironsides," to Philadelphia for the 1976 Bicentennial Celebration. And to do this he would have to change a federal law.

The law passed by Congress in 1954, keeps the ship securely moored in Boston Harbor.

N. York Snow Ap And Trou

NEW YORK, March 16.—Furious winds and snow from the Northeast today, dealing and distress on land and ships at sea.

Two ships, battered by a 50-mile-an-hour gale, perished off the East coast, grounded and breaking. The other was being less toward the rocky shore.

At least 20 deaths stem from the storm, whose edges reached the midwest and south. In. Even farther south, temperatures dropped and heavy snow fell.

At Norfolk, Va., the seven-foot tides heaved the freighter Laura Lauro, a naval pier. Two naval vessels brushed in the collision.

Over the storm-gripped east transportation was paralyzed. Accidents were counted by the score. Hundreds abandoned cars on roadways to seek shelter in nearby homes.

Northeast Hard Hit

The late-winter blizzard, with unseasonable violence, bore the start of spring. A wind-lashed tempest of snow swept over the whole Northeast.

Up to 14 inches of snow fell in parts of New York, as much as 10 inches in many sections of England, and 10 inches in Pennsylvania, accompanied by driving winds.

Air traffic was seriously hampered, and trains limped along on snow-heaped tracks. Several bus lines suspended operation. Stranded automobiles lined up on a jammed highway.

Off Scituate, Mass., the 1,000-ton Italian freighter Etruria, bound for port as the wind howled, multuous seas pounded it. The ship began breaking up in shallow water. About 30 men were on board as the ship began breaking up.

Coast Guard rescue crews were sent against the storm to try to save her, while townspeople gathered on the shore to watch the drama. Only a few people were visible in the snow-laced night.

Another Ship Periled

Off Long Island's south shore, the wild Atlantic drove a ship, a rudderless tanker, but relentlessly toward a rocky wreck on the beach. Ten men were aboard.

Help for it, too, was delayed. The critical hours by the winds and heavy seas, which held back the Guard craft trying to reach the gasoline-laden, 700-ton tank.

Over Wrecked Tanker

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — A legal wrangle was developing Sunday over claims and compensation for rescue operations in the collision of two supertankers off the South African coast and it appeared two companies might join in making a claim on one of the vessels.

The two sister supertankers — one loaded, the other empty — collided in fog Friday morning in the Indian Ocean 20 miles off South Africa's southeastern coast. Both Liberianflag vessels are owned and operated by Venore, Inc., a Bethlehem Steel subsidiary, and were chartered by the Gulf Oil Corp.

The tankers burst into flame after the collision, but fires on the Venoll — which was carrying more than 75 million gallons of crude oil — and the unlabeled Venpet were extinguished overnight and the vessels were taken under tow.

Two seamen were reported missing and presumed dead, and 82 others, most of them Chinese, were rescued.

The American owners said both ships were overhauled recently and each was equipped with two radar systems. But a company spokesman refused to speculate on the cause of the crash.

Venore vice-president J.D. Kerr, who arrived here from New York Saturday with two Venore engineers, said it had not been decided whether the Venoll's cargo would have to be transhipped at sea.

A spokesman for the Lloyds of London insurance group said each of the four-year-old,

Charlert Carl Dies In Arms of Partner At School Dance

Charlert, Pa., Feb. 28—Miss Mary Scott, 15, only child of Dr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Scott, of 437 Washington avenue, Charlert, collapsed and died on the dance floor last night while attending a dance in the gymnasium of Charlert High School.

A dance had just been finished and Miss Scott and her partner, Robert Hays, 17, of Chest avenue, Charlert, were sitting talking when she said, "I feel dizzy." Then she collapsed in his arms.

Hays and another young man carried her to the school medicine room, and Dr. D. D. Himes, who was attending a meeting of the school board, was called. He pronounced her dead.

The dance was stopped at once. It was being given by the school chorus, under supervision of Miss Thera Anderson, music instructor in the school.

Miss Scott formerly resided at Wayneburg, where her parents lived for a few years. Dr. Scott at that time was in poor health and did not practice in Wayneburg.

Dr. Scott was in Philadelphia when the girl's death occurred, and funeral arrangements were left incomplete until he could arrive home and complete plans. An evening service will be held in charge of the Rev. H. P. Andrews of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Charlert, of which Mrs. Scott was a member. Burial will be at Bucoville the next day, and will be private.

CHARLES SANNER FAMILY

Jacob Sanner immigrated to Philadelphia from Germany in 1771. He was a doctor in the Revolutionary War. His son, Abraham, traveled west to Somerset County in the early 1800's. The Sanner family has been in this area ever since.

My grandfather, Elias, was a shoemaker by trade. My father, Peter, was a farmer. I was born in Middlecreek Township in 1901. My family moved to Upper Turkeyfoot Township when I was a boy of thirteen; and have been here ever since.

Over the years I have come to realize the many reasons why my family probably settled in this area. The beauty of the mountains and the green timberlands and the fresh clean air must have been the three main reasons. These same reasons, I'm sure, are what influenced my lifestyle. I know one only has to look around and see the greatest natural resource in this area to realize why it was easy for me to open my own sawmill when I was a young man. This was a hard, but honest way to make a living; but as I grow old and look about me and see the many buildings and homes still standing that I helped put there, it gives me a deep sense of contentment. I believe that this contentment can only be acquired by honest, hard work and deep family ties. This is why I believe the Sanner family will be in this area for many generations to come. The roots run as deep as the oldest Maple tree in the Laurel Highlands. Charles R. Sanner and Zella M. Sanner (Youngkin) as told to Vickie Olwin (granddaughter)

Humbert Man Killed by Lightning.

While standing underneath a maple tree during a thunderstorm Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock, Wesley W. Younkins, aged thirty-five years, was struck and killed by a bolt of lightning.

Younkins, with several other men was engaged in moving the Macassee sawmill near Humbert when the storm came up. The workmen were driven to shelter by the heavy rain, and Younkins, with several fellow workmen, made for the tree. The lightning was extremely sharp. The maple tree was splintered by the bolt and Younkins at the same instant fell to the grass. The body was removed to a nearby shed and later turned over to Undertaker David Schultz of Rockwood. Younkins leaves a wife and several children. He was a son of John Younkins of Turkeyfoot township. His companions were uninjured.

He was a son of Harry Younkin of Rockwood, to whose home the body has been taken for interment Friday. The deceased is survived by a wife, whose maiden name was Kimmell, and five children. LIGHTNING KILLS Naomi's dad HUMBERT CITIZEN

W. W. Younkin Meets Doom While Standing Under a Tree

ELECTRICAL STORM WAS RAGING

William Wesley Younkin was instantly killed on the 14th inst., near his home at Humbert, when a bolt of lightning crashed down a tree under which he sought shelter from rain and a violent electrical storm that visited the Humbert community shortly after 5 o'clock that evening.

Mr. Younkin and seven other men were removing a sawmill, when they were overtaken by a furious storm. Rain descended in torrents and the men hurriedly collected under a wagon, but they were soon drenched and Mr. Younkin left his comrades and went under a tree. The storm broke with great violence, accompanied by loud peals of thunder and vivid flashes of lightning, and Mr. Younkin soon afterward met his doom. The bolt struck him on the left shoulder and described a diagonal course across his body, paralyzing the action of his heart. The men saw him suddenly fall to the ground and hastened to his side, but found his body limp and lifeless.

The remains were brought to Rockwood and prepared for burial by Undertaker Ira Heebler and later taken to the home of the unfortunate man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Younkin, near Rockwood in Milford township. The funeral was held from the Kingwood Church of God last Friday forenoon, conducted by the Rev. W. J. Umstead, pastor of that congregation. Interment was made at Kingwood.

Mr. Younkin is survived by his widow (a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kimmel, of near Trent) and five children, as follows: Naomi, Lloyd, Kenneth, Earl and an infant child—all at home. He is also survived by his parents and three brothers and sisters: Charles E., of Rockwood; John, of Milford township, and Ross and Clark, at home; Mrs. Walter Snyder, of Upper Turkeyfoot township; Mrs. Fred Ream and Mrs. Frank Barkman, both of Milford township; Mrs. James Friedline, of Somerset; and Miss Mattie Younkin, at home.

The deceased had formerly resided at Rockwood, when he was an engine watchman in the local B. & O. yards for more than a year. He was aged 28 years, 2 months and 7 days, and was a good citizen and an industrious man.

KIMMEL FAMILY

Records tell us that Johann Michael Kimmel (1622-1734), Neuchirchen, Germany was listed as a student at Erfurt and later called "Father of the American Family." His son, Johann Philip, and his six sons landed at Alexandria, Virginia 1755. On April 18 of that year, they followed an army wagon supply-train toward Fort Duquesne as far as Frederick, Maryland. On May 1 of the same year they travelled north to Valentine Kimmel's farm in York County, Pennsylvania.

Son Philip, (tallest son, 6' 2") and his wife, Christina Henn, moved to a large tract of land north of Berlin, now the William Ringler farm. Besides farming, Philip made whiskey with two stills for easier marketing of his grain, as did many other farmers.

Four generations later in 1850, my great grandfather, John M. Kimmel, moved to a Jefferson Township farm which was part of a 316 acre tract named "Cabbins" when warranted in August, 1774. In 1808 Jacob Rench heirs paid the Commonwealth $18.97 to patent the tract "Dromore". Here my grandfather, Harvey, grew up with ten siblings. He said bread was baked in an outdoor oven and white sugar was served only when company came. Maple sugar was too ordinary. Maple syrup was made by melting bricks of maple sugar.

When he brought his wife, Nora Will, to the farm she insisted upon a new house. My father, John, recalls living in half of the old house in the summer of 1901, while the new house was built. He describes riding horse-back to Lavansville to get mail and make phone calls. With a spring wagon he hauled ten gallon cans of milk to the Lavansville creamery where the cream was separated and made into butter. He hauled the skim milk back to the farm for the pigs.

In 1914, my mother, Estella Kuhs, came to non-electric Dromore. Our family produced most of our food and marketed butter, milk, poultry, meat, grain, hay and potatoes.

My grandfather, father and I taught in one room schools before owning and operating Dromore. School terms progressed from five-month terms at $20.00 monthly salary to eight-month terms at $100.00. My father recalls being one of two students in school when attendance was not compulsory.

In 1944 my husband, Anthony Schmidt, and I farmed Dromore as partners with my parents. Two years later we owned and operated the dairy-poultry-maple farm. Except for one six-day vacation with our two sons, Richard and Dale, we worked and participated in church, farm-related organizations, youth activities and community socials. Vicarious vacations were experienced as we hosted families from American cities, Cuba and Jamaica.

Now our son Richard and wife, Linda, live at Dromore with sons Richie, Robbie, Ryan and Joel. No longer will you find sheep, chickens, horses, buckwheat, wheat, barley, potatoes or maple syrup at the farm. Instead there are free-stall dairy barns, silos, and a milk-parlor where two persons feed and milk one hundred cows as quickly as my grandmother formerly milked several cows where the grandchildren now swim. A large machine shed replaces blacksmith shop and buggy shed. Only hay, corn and oats are grown.

The rest of our family, Dale, project engineer, Andrea (Lapp), Renee and Darren make maple products on an adjoining farm. The sixth generation of Kimmel's spend more time dancing, swimming, wrestling, at ball games and travelling and less on farm chores than preceding generations. Environment changes. Behavior changes. What will be next? Submitted by Lucille Kimmel Schmidt, Mrs. Tony Schmidt

PHILIP KIMMEL FAMILY

The original Kimmels were always represented as being tall and stately, large formed, elegantly proportioned men. Kimmel — an ancient family of Frankfort on the Main, — Member of the Guild, — One member sat in Parliament in 1701. It is said Dilmanus Kimmel (1408) and Michael Kimmel (1425) were students at Erfurt and lived at Neukirchen.

Valentine and Jacob Kimmel came to America in 1751 and landed in Philadelphia. They settled in eastern Pa. Their father, Philip, sent son Michael to check on his brothers and upon receiving a report he and his remaining sons landed at Alexandria, Virginia in 1755. For safety they followed Col. John Dunbar to Frederick, Maryland and then north to Valentine's farm. The early Kimmels in Somerset County settled north of Berlin and much of the property is still in the Kimmel family.

The following is our family line: Philip Kimmel (1724-1796) died in Stonycreek Township, second son, Jacob (1757-1824); Jacob's tenth son, Jonathan (about 1796-1878); Jonathan's third son, Josiah (1824-1903); Josiah's eighth and youngest son, Edmund (1870-1949) was my grandfather. Edmund married Melissa Schrock and their children were: Blanch, Gideon, Pius, Daniel, Harry, Ernest and Bernice. Several children with no homes lived with the Kimmels. Grandmother raised turkeys and other poultry. One fall she sold her turkeys and hid the money under the rug. One of these children saw her hide the money and left with it. When they discovered it, he had taken a bus at Reels Corner and was not seen again.

Cows were kept and at one time many sheep were raised in this area. However, packs of dogs killed many and the sheep industry died out. Several dogs lost their lives for their deeds. Horses were bred and the boys rode colts to train them for useful purposes around the farm.

People told ghost stories about chains rattling along the Stonycreek at night so the boys lost no time walking home from Shanksville after visiting there. Young men in the area would race their horses as they race cars today — everyone wanted to have the fastest horse. The old South Penn Railroad, which never materialized, crossed this property. Three of my uncles were farmers as was my father and our ancestors. The boys learned the skills of blacksmithing, coopering, and many other occupations needed in the early 1900's.

I have one brother, Jay, and two sisters, Ruby and Linda.

We have the following deeds to our farm: Josiah Kimmel to Edmund Kimmel 1896 and 1900; Peter Boyer to Edmund Kimmel 1917; Edmund Kimmel to Daniel Kimmel 1923; Edmund Kimmel to Ernest Kimmel 1931; Ernest Kimmel to Elwood Kimmel 1966

We are in the dairy business and have built an addition to the barn. In 1970 we remodeled the house and found interesting old papers that were placed in the walls when it was built. We have three sons: Lynn, Daniel and Ronald. Elwood and Carol Kimmel

WILLIAM J. KIMMEL

Allen Scott Will of German descent was our great grandfather. He was the father of our grandmother San Francisco Will, born in 1854. Allen Scott had been to California in the gold rush days of 1850, then returned to Somerset County and married Ann R. Walter (descendant of Harman Husband). Their eldest child was San Francisco, better known as Frances. She married William J. Kimmel November 2, 1876. William was the son of John M. and Elizabeth M. Kimmel. They went to housekeeping on a farm in the vicinity of the Metzler Covered Bridge near Kingwood, Upper Turkeyfoot Township. The farm was owned by Mrs. Kimmel's mother. Kimmels then bought the farm owned by Mrs. Kimmel's uncle, Daniel Will in Milford Township. When they moved to their new home by wagon, they brought among the animals, a pet lamb. Next morning the lamb could not be found. William J. went for another load that day and the lamb was at its original home. During the night it had travelled those miles. Needless to state, it was penned on its return to the new home.

They were the parents of ten children: Lloyd (died in infancy); Mayme Ann married Norman Maust, parents of eight. Nellie married Allen Bruner, four children; Luna married twice, first to Wesley Younkin, parents of five, (Wesley was killed by lightning in 1912), married the second time to Jonas Butler in 1914, parents of four children; Allen Roy (died in infancy); Carrie married William Enfield, parents of three; Vida married Norman Gross, parents of six; Ruth married John Sleasman, four children; Allie married William Knepper, one child; Paul married Madge Putman, two sons.

Grandpa Kimmel was a prosperous farmer, and was a member of and active in, the affairs of the Church of the Brethren at Middlecreek, helping to build the church there and was seldom absent from services. He was also tax collector of Milford Township. Grandma Kimmel was a member of the First Christian Church of Somerset. She was known to keep a diary for many years and her scrapbook was a favorite hobby. The children referred to their parents as "Paa and Maa." They made several trips west to visit relatives in Iowa and Nebraska.

Their golden wedding anniversary celebration in November 1926 was a highlight of their lives, attended by many relatives at their home. A grandson recalls getting stuck in the mud on the way to the celebration.

Grandpa Kimmel died at the age of 78 and Grandma died in 1938 (age 84). They are buried in Middlecreek cemetery. Submitted by children of Nell, Carrie, Vida and Mayme Orrie was buried with his first wife in the Husband Cemetery in Somerset. Verna was also buried in the Husband Cemetery but on a different plot.

Beulah Celeste (04-12-1907) was married to Lloyd William Younkin (07-17-1906 to 07-18-1974). To this union was born Lloyd Briskey Younkin (09-06-1934 to 09-27-1977) who married Elizabeth Ann Werner (01-03-1940), daughter of Paul Henry Werner and Elizabeth (Crowe) Werner of Meyersdale. Lloyd B. Younkin worked for Rhodamer Concrete and was accidentally killed while at work. His wife, Elizabeth, is presently residing in the Springs area near the Roy Wissemans. Lloyd W. was divorced from Beulah and later married Mary P. Kimmel (1911-1974). Lloyd W. is buried in Somerset County Memorial Park with Mary and Charles W. Kimmel. Beulah presently resides with Roy and Lucille Wissemann.

Norbert Eugene Briskey (10-25-1909) was married to Leora Grace Shoemaker (04-21-1916), daughter of Ray and Susie (Maust) Shoemaker of Springs, on June 2, 1934. To this union was born Jo Ann (12-22-1934) who was married to Max Zimmerman, son of Norman and Mary (Whisler) Zimmerman. Jo Ann and Max have one son, Eric Lynn (02-13-1964), and reside in Salisbury. Norbert worked in the limestone quarry and later for Harbison and Walker, Inc. of Grantsville, a company that makes fire-bricks. He was employed as a mechanic most of the 28 years of employment. He is now retired and resides with his wife and mother-in-law near Springs.

John W. Briskey purchased the old William Briskey homestead, situated on the head waters of Cranberry Run in Summit Township, from the heirs of Savannah Briskey, his mother, on March 11, 1888. (Deed Book 74, page 329). John later sold 20 acres of the 120 acre tract to his brother, Samuel, on December 5, 1891. (Deed Book 131, page 279). John and Clara raised their family on the farm and brought them up in the Lutheran faith. John is buried in the Center Lutheran Church Cemetery in Summit Township with his first wife, Susan, and his mother, Susanna.

John's widow, Clara, married Jeremiah J.

Stevanus (1856-1937). Jeremiah's first wife was Elizabeth (1847-1914). These three people are buried in the Upper Springs Cemetery.

John W. Briskey earned his livelihood by raising fruit and harvesting timber. He was a master of the broad axe having built a log barn which remained on the premises until 1963 when it was razed and replaced with a modern dwelling. John was known among Amish people of the community for his honesty and religious convictions. His grandson, John Lohr, is now in possession of his family Bible. Mr. Lohr contributed greatly to the writing of this history. Submitted by Mabel (Vought) Miller

ROMESBURG FAMILY

After serving thirteen years with the Air Force, we were delighted to be reassigned to Germany in October 1973. With the many derivatives of the family name in America today, this assignment provided opportunity to locate the origin of our ancestors in their homeland. After several years of corresponding with friends, searching through books, microfilm, microfiche, plus visits to state and church archives in two countries, the European lineage was formed. The family history begins with:

First Generation: Hans Rymensperger, born around 1615, and his wife (Anna) Emmali Keller, lived in the small farming community of Buch, located in the Canton of Thurgau, Switzerland, about two miles from the Rymensberg and approximately ten miles from the Bodensee (Lake Constance). They had six children.

Second Generation: Jacob Rymensperger was baptized 1644 at Buch. He went to Walldorf (near Heidelberg) Germany where he married Anna Bischoff 1669. They had four children.

Third Generation: Jacob Wolfgang Rymensperger was born 1670 at Walldorf Germany. Jacob and his wife Helena Elizabeth had three children. Jacob Wolfgang died in 1712 at Walldorf.

Fourth Generation: (Johann) Stephen Rymensperger was born 1711, was the first American of record. Several anglicized family name derivatives are borne by descendants in America. Stephen married Anna Catherine Bruner. Seven children were born of this marriage. Stephen died 1789 at Frederick, Maryland.

Fifth Generation: Elias was born 1748 at Frederick, Maryland. He began the line of Rymesburgs of Somerset County. He and his wife Catherine had nine children. Elias died in 1803 at Elk Lick, Somerset County.

Sixth Generation: John Jacob was born 1779. He and his wife lived in Lower Turkeyfoot Township and had eight children.

Seventh Generation: Jonas was born 1828 in Lower Turkeyfoot Township. After the demise of his first wife Rachel Nicklow (Nicola) in 1873, he married Elizabeth Vought. Eleven children were born of the first marriage and two children of the second. Jonas died 1925.

Eighth Generation: Hiram was born 1858, Somerset County. He and his wife Phoebe Fletcher had seven or eight children. Hiram died about 1948 and Phoebe two years later.

Ninth Generation: Silas Austin was born 1895 in Lower Turkeyfoot Township. He was married to Grace Virginia Walls 1917. They had seven children. Silas Austin died 1976 at York, Pennsylvania.

Tenth Generation: Austin S. Jr was born 1922 at Youngwood, Pa. He married May Luanne Hixson of Fayette County in 1941 and resided in Uniontown. Six children. The family moved to California in 1960.

Eleventh Generation: I, Austin S. III, was born at Uniontown on 31 Oct 1942. Of my first marriage, two daughters, Mary Luanne and Diana Jean, were born. On 23 Oct 1970, I married Christiana Reuscher at her hometown, Worms, Germany. A son was born of this marriage.

Twelfth Generation: My son, Austin S. IV, was born on 27 Aug 1973 at Vandenberg AFB, California. From the age of eight weeks to his present age of six years, he has lived in Germany and attended both German and American kindergartens. Submitted by Austin S. Rymesburg III

ALBERT A. ROMESBURG

Stephen Rymesburg, the first of the family in this country, was born in Germany, October 11, 1711. He came to Lancaster County, Pa., when only a boy, in 1718. He moved into the vicinity of Frederick, Md. around 1732.

Stephen's fifth descendant was Elias, born March 20, 1748. He was a great hunter and migrated to the Allegheny Mountains and finally settled in Turkeyfoot Township, Somerset County, Pa. His second descendant was John Jacob, born July 18, 1779.

Through the years the name was spelled various ways; but by this time our clan was spelling it: Rymesburg or Rymesberg.

John Jacob's eighth descendant was my grandfather, Jonas, born July 15, 1828. He married Rachael Nicklow. They were the parents of 11 children. At her decease, he married Elizabeth Vought, my grandmother. There were two more children, William, and John, my father, born July 15, 1877.

Jonas was a farmer. He lived on a farm in the Hexeberg section of Upper Turkeyfoot Twp., and later in Paddytown, where he and his wife resided until their deaths. He died September 6, 1925 at the age of 97.

John Harrison, my father, married Ella Younkun, a native of Upper Turkeyfoot Twp. They owned and operated a farm in Paddytown adjacent to the home farm. They reared three children: Pauline, born July 31, 1907; Albert, born June 27, 1909; and Melvin, born March 13, 1911.

My father died March 28, 1961 at the age of 83. The farm was then owned by Pauline and Charles Ream. At her death in 1977, it passed to her son, Larry Ream, who is the present owner.

I married M. Faye Ream September 6, 1930. We built our home in Kingwood in 1936 and reared our three sons: Ronald, born July 30, 1936; Roger, born April 16, 1939; and R. Neil, born June 10, 1943.

I taught in the one-room schools in Upper Turkeyfoot and Addison Townships for fourteen terms. In 1941 I gave up teaching to pursue carpentry as a fulltime occupation.

Most of my work was with Navarro Corp. in the Pittsburgh area. Several friends and I commuted daily to work. I retired as Job Superintendent from Navarro Corp. in 1973 after completing the new library building at Chatham College.

Since retiring, Faye and I enjoy working around our home, lawn, and garden in the summertime. We are active members of the Kingwood Church of God.

Our children are scattered now, but we get together several times a year. Ronald, with his wife, Shirley, and daughters, Ronda and Beth, live at Mars, Pa. Robert, with his wife, Carol, and Scott and Debbie, live in Rockwood, Pa. Neil lives in Severn, Md. Submitted by Albert Austin Rymesburg

L. ROMESBURG FAMILY

From a little country town in Ricfield, Germany my maternal grandfather, Carl Schafer, came to America in 1873. After landing in New York, he married Catherine Neeb, also a native of Germany. After their marriage they moved to South Bethlehem, Pa. where Grandpa was employed in the steel mills. Four years later they moved to a farm in Summit Township, near what is known as the Center Church. Grandpa and Grandma Schafer were the parents of seven children — the youngest being Elsie, my mother.

Grandpa Schafer was school director in Summit Township for many years and Elder of the Church Council at the Center Church. Mother was church organist at the same church. While teaching school in various townships in Somerset County she met and married my father, Albert Fair, who was the son of John and Henrietta Mankamyer Fair of Larimer Township. Dad was a member of local hands for many years. One of the first was the Meyersdale Community Band under the direction of Charles Baldwin in the late 1900's and early 1920's.

After mother passed away, Dad was remarried — to Naomi Andrews. They were the parents of four children — Janet, Thomas, Patricia, and Rosalie.

My parents weren't in the farming business but as a child I spent many happy hours at the homes of my aunts and uncles enjoying the old time farm life — gathering eggs, running through the fields of hay and making play houses of moss and evergreen branches. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barkman 55th Anniversary — Sept. 1962

FRANK BARKMAN HISTORY

My father Frank J. Barkman of Somerset County was the son of Jacob S. and Elizabeth Stahl of Somerset County.

Jacob and Elizabeth resided on the old family homestead in Milford Township, it being in the family for several generations. In 1901 Jacob Barkman sold the homestead and moved to a farm nearby owned by Peter and Susan Putman. It was on this farm that Jacob farmed with his family and spent the later years with his son, Frank.

Jacob Barkman impressed one as being in love with life, especially the life of out doors, in the fields and the woods. They had a history of being tillers of the soil, typical of their ancestors.

Barkman, according to records, means living in the hills and not of the valleys. Records relate they originated in the mountains of Germany and Switzerland where the two countries meet. They had a strong conviction of their Christian faith and the love of Church which was their chief guide in living.

Jacob and Elizabeth were the parents of five children: Mary, Anne, Laura, Frank, Sadie.

→ Frank married a young lady by the name of Minnie B. Younkin, daughter of Wm. Henry and Rachel McClintock Younkin of Upper Turkeyfoot Twp., Somerset County. RIN 2426

They were married Sept. 5, 1907 by the Rev. D.S. Weimer in the Glade Parsonage of Messiah Lutheran Church, Glade is now named New Centerville.

The Barkmans were active members of the Messiah Church, Grange and other community activities.

After their marriage Frank farmed with his father and there he and his wife raised their family consisting of four children: Orlo J. Barkman, Hazel M. Miller, Alverda M. Whipkey, and Arlene E. Thomas. All are living in Somerset County.

They also reared a niece Naomi Younkin Knepper, who resides in Bedford, Pa.

Naomi's father, Westly Younkin, a brother of Mrs. Minnie Younkin Barkman was killed by lightning at a very early age. Naomi came to live with us at the age of six years.

The Barkmans also have 10 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

Frank Barkman was a farmer until his later years, after which he became semi-retired as a day laborer.

After retirement they both shared the enjoyment of travel to the West Coast and spent several winters in Florida.

They enjoyed living among friends and relatives and relating the good times they had together.

They lived to enjoy their golden wedding anniversary in 1957 and also their sixtieth anniversary in 1967.

On Dec. 5, 1969 Mrs. Barkman passed away breaking a union of sixty-three years of marriage.

Nov. 17, 1974 Mr. Barkman passed away.

These treasures, memories, and good times had in this life time can never be erased.

Boiling sugar, fun for the children but hard work for his parents, father taking us to school in winter, in a straw filled bob sled, pulled by two beautiful black horses, returning in the evening to the aroma of fresh baked bread and cookies ... All these and many more are treasured memories of all their children. Submitted by Dau. Mrs. Alverda Whipkey

Church News

Northeastern Kansas

Cherokee Hills Community — Kenneth Morse, editor of the Gospel Messenger, gave the address on the Sunday our church was officially chartered. Many of the Brethren churches in Kansas as well as several out-of-state churches were represented. All ages and groups have worked diligently toward the spiritual and physical growth of the church. The services have been enriched by the formation in October of a choir of young people directed by Mrs. James Nordstrom. The junior youth group continues to grow in numbers and enthusiasm. The CBYF group is developing leaders for the church and community. Several of their members have represented the church at conferences and rallies. A clinic on family life was conducted in the fall. It consisted of six sessions led by a professional service counselor, an obstetrician, a pediatrician, a registered nurse, and our minister. On Feb. 5, the prologue of the play I.B. was read by Mr. Leonard Belove and Bill Yearout. This was followed by a review of the rest of the play by James Shepherd. — Mrs. Joyce C. Baxter, Overland Park, Kansas.

North Dakota and Eastern Montana

Milk River Valley — Leon Neher served as our summer pastor. While he was with us he organized a youth group. In the summer, Brother and Sister Chalmers Shull gave some inspiring messages and an account of their activities in India. A group of ten attended the fall youth rally at Camp Mon-Dak. Bro. Byard Snyder is serving as moderator of our congregation; he is also conducting services once a month. We had a harvest program in November and a Christmas program in December. The church school during the winter months is meeting in the homes. Once a month we have a family night. — Mrs. C. E. Williams, Kremlin, Mont.

Southern Ohio

Flat Creek, Ky. — Dwayne Yost became our new pastor, Oct. 1, succeeding Ira Myer, who had been here three years. At the beginning of the new church year, Flat Creek and Sugar Creek secured jointly a large bus which now transports people to Flat Creek for Sunday school and preaching services on Sunday mornings. This means better facilities, more teachers, and better grading for the different age groups. The Sunday evening services have been replaced by prayer meetings in the homes. Ida Mae Bowling and Ruth Ann Hoff directed the Christmas play. At a recent church council the church elected a board of Christian education to plan Sunday school, vacation church school, and other activities of an educational nature. The fall love feast was held in the Mud Lick congregation and the spring love feast will be at Flat Creek the Saturday night preceding Easter. The young people have organized under the leadership of the pastor. We also have clubs for boys and girls. Margaret Langdon and Rebecca Sizemore were delegates to district meeting, and Ruth Ann Hoff will represent the congregation at Annual Conference. Glenn and Martha Rummell are directing the work in the Mud Lick congregation. — Georgia Ledford, Creekville, Ky.

Eastern Pennsylvania

Mechanic Grove — Under the leadership of Roy McAuley of Elizabethtown, the CBYF had a Galilean service. The church was host to the Eastern District men's fellowship. We observed the first anniversary of the church dedication on Oct. 16. We have had two panel discussions recently, one on Christian responsibility for freedom and one on unfair advertising. The oldest son of Charles and Mary Bieber, missionaries to Nigeria, is living with a family in the congregation while attending high school. — Mrs. Dorothy M. Eller, Holtwood, Pa.

Schuylkill — Clarence Showalter will conduct our evangelistic meeting, April 9 to 23. The love feast will be May 20 and 21. Bro. Mary Keeney brought a missionary message on Jan. 15. Students from Elizabethtown College conducted the church service on Dec. 11. Richard Frantz brought the message. The primary department gave the Christmas program. One Sunday evening the Heidelberg chorus gave a program of music. Our homecoming is scheduled for July 9 and another all-day meeting for June 8. — Mrs. Ray Stump, Pine Grove, Pa.

Middle Pennsylvania

Everett — The church was represented in the district leadership training school at the Woodbury church. A number of men and women went to New Windsor to process relief clothing. Stewart Kauffman, the pastor of the Huntingdon church, was speaker for the district men's and women's fellowship banquet. In October, we had evangelistic meetings with John Long, pastor of the Lancas-
